REVEALS HITLER OFFER TO JOIN BRITAIN AS ALLY

Pre-War Diplomacy Bared by London.

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP).—An historic behind the scenes account of the 1939 peace negotiations that failed was published tonight by the British government.

Documenting exchanges between Great Britain and Germany in the final effort to preserve the peace of Europe, a 195 page blue book disclosed:

1. Adolf Hitler at one time during the discussions asked if Great Britain would be willing to accept an alliance with Germany.

2. Sir Nevile Henderson, then British ambassador to Berlin, said Hitler did not seem "overenthusiastic" about Germany's nonaggression pact with soviet Russia. He quoted the Fuehrer as declaring Britain had forced him into the pact.

3. Henderson on his own responsibility suggested to Hitler that Poland's foreign minister, Josef Beck, and Germany's foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, "meet somewhere and discuss the way out which alone might save Europe from war." Herr Hitler's reply was that he had invited M. Beck to come and talk the matter over last March, only to have his invitation flatly refused.

4. Henderson in an interview with Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering was shown Goering's collection of nude drawings "mostly representing naked ladies."

Says Hitler Predicted Failure.

The blue book quoted Hitler as pledging he would "settle down" once the Polish question was settled and as warning that Japan would be "the only winner in another European war." Henderson said Hitler told him that after he settled the Polish question he intended to "end his life as an artist and not as a war monger."

The Blue Book also contained Henderson's reports that Hitler repeatedly refused to guarantee that he would negotiate a settlement of the Polish question.

Henderson, in telling how Britain sought to arrange direct Polish-German negotiations over their difficulties, said that Hitler repeatedly reiterated that negotiations would be bound to fail.

Hitler Blames England.

The envoy said he then sought to impress upon the fuehrer "that an attempt to impose his will on Poland by force would inevitably bring him into direct conflict with us."

The Blue Book also said the German reply to the British ultimatum of Sept. 3—20 minutes after Britain had declared war—stated a refusal "to receive, accept, let alone fulfill, demands in the nature of ultimata made by the British government." The book quoted Hitler as saying "his army was ready and eager for battle."

The German reply also said: "We shall answer any aggressive action on the part of England with the same weapons and in the same form." It declared Britain had rejected proposals from Premier Mussolini which might have saved peace and added: "The British government therefore bear responsibility for all the unhappiness and misery which have now overtaken and are about to overtake many peoples."

Excerpts from Report.

The documentation of the prewar crisis contained the report of Henderson of his interview with Hitler on Aug. 25, when Hitler asked him to fly to London and put his case before the British government.

Excerpts from the report follow:

"He [Hitler] was absolutely calm and normal and spoke with great earnestness and apparent sincerity.

"Herr Hitler began by saying that he had always and still desired good relations with Great Britain and his conscience compelled him to make this final effort to secure them. It was his last attempt. . . .

"The conversation lasted an hour, my attitude being that the Russian pact in no way altered the standpoint of his majesty's government and that I must tell him quite honestly that Britain could not go back on her word to Poland and that I knew his offer would not be considered unless it

AVENGE SLAYING OF PREMIER BY MASS SHOOTING

Government Taken Over by Army.

Oxen to Pull Body

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 21 (AP).—The testament of the assassinated premier, Armand Calinescu, read by King Carol at the crown council meeting tonight, asked that he be carried to his grave in a peasant cart drawn by six oxen.

"I wish to be buried at Arges by the side of my father," the testament said. "I ask to be taken to the tomb in a peasant cart drawn by six oxen."

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 21 (AP).—King Carol of Rumania took swift and extreme measures tonight to fight the threat of a coup by the pro-Nazi Iron Guard, which he blamed for the assassination earlier in the day of his anti-Nazi premier, Armand Calinescu.

Eight Iron Guardists alleged to have participated in the slaying were executed publicly in one of Bucharest's main streets on the spot where the crime was committed.

King Carol called up troops, declared a state of emergency throughout the nation, and within a few hours after the assassination installed a new government headed by army leaders noted for stern discipline.

Raids on Nation-Wide Basis.

Nation-wide raids were made against suspected members of the illegal Hitlerite organization. Calinescu, a foe of the Iron Guardists and a proponent of closer economic coöperation with Britain and France, was shot down in an automobile about noon by masked men.

At this same spot tonight, the eight alleged slayers were executed by firing squads in the presence of a huge crowd. Their bodies were left lying on the pavement in pools of blood while thousands of onlookers were permitted to file past.

An official announcement said the execution was thus arranged as a "public example" to all "who would follow the Iron Guard."

Topple to Pavement.

A loud cry went up from thousands of men, women and children as the shots rang out and the men toppled one by one to the pavement. Throughout the late evening long lines of rich and poor alike filed past the sprawled bodies in the flicker of huge arc lights set up by military squads.

A poster erected nearby said: "This is what happened to those who murdered."

Bucharest itself was quiet, but under the shining bayonets of thousands of soldiers. King Carol acted swiftly, mindful of the massed armies of Russia, Bulgaria, and Hungary at his frontiers and of the army of Germany not so far away in southern Poland.

Germany Seeks Oil.

The first three countries turned territory over to Rumania after the world war, and demands have been made for the return of some of it. Germany seeks more Rumanian oil now that her war equipment is using it faster, but these efforts have failed, it was said tonight. A German mission here to acquire greater oil rights has been told the oil already is pledged to British, French, and American companies.

Experts here have said that Germany has only enough petroleum for four months of war. At Cernauti, on the Polish-Rumanian frontier, foreign military observers said many German planes and tanks had been immobilized in Poland because of rationing of fuel by high army authorities.

Ex-War Chief Is Premier.

King Carol named the new government within eight hours after the assassination. Gen. George Argesanu, 56 years old, a former war minister and now commander of the 2d army corps, was named premier. He is one of Rumania's outstanding soldiers and known as a "tough disciplinarian."

Gen. Ion Ilcus, a close personal

Poles and Jews Slain by Gangs of Ukrainians

BEREZKI, Poland [On the Hungarian Frontier], Sept. 21 (AP).—Ukrainian bands enforced a wild rule over a small section of Poland at the base of the Carpathian mountains today as German and soviet Russian troops drew closer to the Hungarian frontier.

Accounts received here told of day-long battles between the Ukrainians and Polish police; of Poles and Jews alike being slaughtered. Destruction started by German air raiders was said to have been completed with entire villages looted and burned.

Young Ukrainian terrorists roaming the countryside were said apparently to have obtained guns and cartridges in plentiful supply from mysterious sources.

Escape Into New Terror.

"We fled small villages east of Lwow only two hours before the Russians arrived," he said. "Between Lwow and Stryj, to the south, we found the entrance to the village of Mikolajow barred by an enormous sign reading: 'Heil Hitler! Hail Ukrainian Republic!'

"In this village we found savage butchery of racial Poles and Jews—men, women, and children alike. We found the proprietor of the hotel with his throat cut.

Set Up Ukrainian Régime.

"We restored order as best we could, shooting all terrorists we could find before continuing on. It was a terrible scene of death and destruction. During that night as we rode south we passed several flaming villages, obviously fired by the terrorists."

The Ukrainians took possession of Lwow, Stryj, and Stanislawow, reports reaching the frontier said, and for a time set up their own government. One Polish officer said the terror outbreaks apparently were arranged to begin the moment Russian troops set foot on Polish soil last Sunday.

SUMMER IS RIDING FOR A FALL; THE END COMES TOMORROW

Autumn will arrive in Chicago at exactly 12:53 p. m. tomorrow, according to C. A. Donnel, chief meteorologist at the government weather bureau. That is when the sun is scheduled to cross the equator on its annual trek into the southern hemisphere for the winter months.

This is known officially as the autumnal equinox, the harbinger of football games, Indian summer, and Thanksgiving. It is also the time when day and night are most nearly equal throughout the earth. The spring equinox will occur next March when the sun swings back into the northern hemisphere.

GDYNIA RENAMED GOTENHAFEN AS HITLER ARRIVES

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP).—Gdynia, Polish-built Baltic seaport captured by German forces in the invasion of Poland, was disclosed today to have been renamed Gotenhafen by the Nazis.

[Gotenhafen, translated literally, means "harbor of the Goths." The Goths were an ancient Teutonic race who originally lived between the Vistula and Elbe rivers.]

D. N. B., German official news agency, used the name of Gotenhafen in an account of Hitler's journey there today during which he also visited the Danzig area, seeing troops, the former Polish munitions dump at Westerplatte, and Gotenhafen.

At Gotenhafen, it said, Hitler met Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, who also was inspecting the coastal district and its harbor facilities.

British Flyers Save 34 After U-Boat Attack

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Sept. 22, Friday (AP).—Owners of the British steamer Arkleside, 1,567 tons, said today they had been advised she was "lost at sea" and that the crew had been brought ashore.

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP).—The British government announced today that two Royal Air force flying patrol boats had rescued the crew of 34 of the steamship Kensington Court, which sent out an SOS after having been attacked by a submarine.

A ministry of information announcement said that the rescue somewhere in the Atlantic ocean was the first case in which an entire ship's crew had been picked up at sea by flying boats.

Rescue Is Described.

The Kensington Court was a 4,863 ton vessel owned by the Court line. London was her port of registry.

The ministry's announcement said the flying boats, in response to the ship's SOS, arrived alongside a lifeboat from the Kensington Court 10 minutes before the steamer sank. The announcement added:

"The pilots saw a tiny boat crowded with men while others were in the sea clinging to the sides.

U-Boat Escapes.

"While one flying boat kept watch from the air the other came down on the water alongside the overloaded lifeboat. Fourteen of the men, some in a desperate condition, were pulled into the aircraft. When it had taken off with the heavy load, the other aircraft descended and picked up 20 more men.

"The two aircraft made a quick search for the attacking submarine but it was not located. The steamer crew said one of their two lifeboats had capsized and the other was in danger of sinking."

WARN SALE OF GUNS LEADS NATION INTO FOREIGN WAR

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—Some of the shrewdest observers in congress predicted today that President Roosevelt's proposal to repeal the arms embargo provision of the neutrality act will be defeated. The prediction came as twenty-four senators met to plan the strategy of the battle to defeat the President's demands.

Vice President John N. Garner was reported on high authority to have told administration leaders that the President will have to win his battle within a month if he wins it at all. There is little doubt that debate on the momentous issue will require more than a month in the senate alone.

Immediately after Mr. Roosevelt had delivered his speech to the joint session of the two houses, the 24 senators of the opposition forces held a strategy meeting and vowed to fight the President's program "from hell to breakfast."

Send Munitions or Troops.

The senate noninterventionists said there could be only one interpretation of the President's statement that the United States more probably would remain at peace with repeal of the arms embargo than with its retention. This is the theory, they declared, that unless the United States assists Great Britain and France by sending munitions to them it will have to assist them later by sending troops.

The noninterventionists reject this theory and have taken the position that repeal of the arms embargo for the purpose of assisting the Anglo-French alliance is much more likely to involve the United States in the European war.

The 24 opposition leaders held their first strategy council in the subterranean Capitol office of Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.]. Only 19 senators were present in this same office 20 years ago when the foes of Woodrow Wilson's league of nations proposal first determined upon a "no compromise" stand. Eventually a majority of the senate voted against the Versailles treaty, with its league of nations covenant, while its ratification would have required a two-thirds vote.

Johnson Sees No Compromise.

"I am confident that the country is behind our position," said Senator Johnson. "There can be no compromise on this issue. There will be no filibuster, but there will be debate and it will be thorough."

Senator Robert M. La Follette [Radical, Wis.], who delivered a keynote speech to the opposition forces, said they were determined to fight the President's proposal "from hell to breakfast."

Roosevelt Appeals for Amendments to Neutrality Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt told the special session of congress which convened today that the United States more probably would remain at peace with repeal of the arms embargo provision of the neutrality law than with its retention. He asked that the arms embargo be repealed and that the country's foreign relations be returned to what he called the historic processes of international law.

A 6 point program recommended by the President includes:

1. Repeal the arms embargo of the present neutrality act.

2. Prohibit American ships from entering war zones.

3. Prohibit American citizens from traveling on belligerent ships. Existing law contains this prohibition.

4. Require belligerent purchasers of American commodities of all kinds, including raw materials as well as munitions, to acquire title to them before they leave this country.

5. Prohibit loans and credits to belligerent nations. This prohibition is contained in existing law.

6. Continue the existing munitions control board and the system of regulating by licenses the manufacture and export of arms. This is another provision of existing law.

Speaks at Joint Session.

Mr. Roosevelt appeared before both branches of congress gathered in the house chamber. The galleries were filled with spectators. Diplomats of most foreign countries were there, but not the representatives of Germany, Italy, or Russia. There was an air of gravity in keeping with the importance of the issue he discussed. The President put aside the air of joviality with which he usually greets an applauding assemblage.

Having been advised by congressional leaders at a White House conference yesterday that congress would not repeal the neutrality act outright, the President today asked only that it repeal the provision prohibiting shipments of arms, ammunition, and implements of war to all nations engaged in war. He urged as a substitute for this provision the so-called cash and carry plan.

But the President said that the cash and carry plan, as well as the other provisions of the administration's original six point program, could be effected either by congressional enactment or by executive proclamation.

Proposes 6 Point Program.

Thus he took the position that congress could repeal the existing neutrality law outright and leave everything to him, but he said that congress should make its own choice.

The President's second point, preventing American ships from entering war zones, and the fourth and fifth, requiring transfer of title to the foreign purchaser and prohibiting loans and credits to belligerents, constitute the so-called cash and carry plan. Belligerent purchasers of all American goods would have to pay cash and transport them in their own ships.

The President conceded by implication that this plan would benefit Great Britain and France, the belligerents which control the seas.

Also by unmistakable implication the President maintained that the present law favors Germany by denying to Great Britain and France their advantage of controling the seas.

'BOMBS' FROM SKY URGE RETENTION OF EMBARGO ON ARMS

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special].—This town was "bombed" today from an airplane with thousands of leaflets which urged retention of the arms embargo. The leaflets and the method of distribution were the idea of a group of young Bloomington business men as a means of arousing public interest in the neutrality issue.

The leaflets read in part:

"This could have been a bomb.

"The United States will not become involved in another European war if you, Mr. and Mrs. America, will write or wire your senators and congressmen at once. Tell them——

"1. Do not repeal, but extend the neutrality act.

"2. Keep out of all entanglements and alliances outside our hemisphere.

"By writing or wiring you will be combating foreign propaganda that is trying to effect a repeal of the neutrality law and you will encourage our senators and congressmen to vote to save American democracy with peace. Do this today!"

ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH

Text of President Roosevelt's message to the special session of congress follows:

"I have asked the congress to reassemble in extraordinary session in order that it may consider and act on the amendment of certain legislation, which, in my best judgment, so alters the historic foreign policy of the United States that it impairs the peaceful relations of the United States with foreign nations.

"At the outset I proceed on the assumption that every member of the senate and of the house of representatives, and every member of the executive branch of the government, including the President and his associates, personally and officially, are equally and without reservation in favor of such measures as will protect the neutrality, the safety, and the integrity of our country and at the same time keep us out of war.

"Because I am wholly willing to ascribe an honorable desire for peace to those who hold different views from my own as to what those measures should be, I trust that these gentlemen will be sufficiently generous to ascribe equally lofty purposes to those with whom they disagree.

"Let no man or group in any walk of life assume exclusive protectorate over the future well-being of America—because I conceive that regardless of party or section the mantle of peace and of patriotism is wide enough to cover us all.

"Let no group assume the exclusive label of the peace 'bloc.' We all belong to it.

"I have at all times kept the congress and the American people informed of events and trends in foreign affairs. I now review them in a spirit of understatement.

Use of Force Grows.

"Since 1931 the use of force instead of the council table has constantly increased in the settlement of disputes between nations—except in the western hemisphere where there has been only one war, now happily terminated.

"During these years also the building up of vast armies, navies and storehouses of war has proceeded abroad with growing speed and intensity. But, during these years, and extending back even to the days of the Kellogg-Briand pact, the United States has constantly, consistently, and conscientiously done all in its power to encourage peaceful settlements, to bring about reduction of armaments and to avert threatened wars.

"We have done this not only because any war anywhere necessarily hurts American security and American prosperity, but because of the more important fact that any war anywhere retards the progress of morality and religion and impairs the security of civilization itself.

Strive to Avoid War.

"For many years the primary purpose of our foreign policy has been that this nation and this government should strive to the utmost to aid in avoiding war among other nations. But if and when war unhappily comes, the government and the nation must exert every possible effort to avoid being drawn into the war.

"The executive branch of the government did its utmost, within our traditional policy of noninvolvement, to aid in averting the present appalling war. Having thus striven and failed, this government must lose no time or effort to keep the nation from being drawn into the war.

"In my candid judgment we shall succeed in these efforts.

"We are proud of the historical record of the United States and of all the Americans during all these years because we have thrown every ounce of our influence for peace into the scale of peace.

"I note in passing what you all will remember—the long debates on the subject of what constitutes aggression, on the methods of determining who the aggressor might be, and, on who the aggressor in past wars had been. Academically this may have been instructive as it may have been of interest to historians to discuss the pros and cons and the rights and wrongs of the world war during the decade that followed it.

Task for Historians.

"But in the light of problems of today and tomorrow responsibility for acts of aggression is not concealed, and the writing of the record can safely be left to future historians.

"There has been sufficient realism in the United States to see how close to our own shores came dangerous paths which were being followed on other continents.

"Last January I told the congress that 'a war which threatened to envelop the world in flames has been averted, but it has become increasingly clear that peace is not assured.' By April new tensions had developed; a new crisis was in the making. Several nations with whom we had friendly, diplomatic, and commercial relations had lost, or were in the process of losing, their independent identity and sovereignty.

"During the spring and summer the trend was definitly toward further acts of military conquest and away from peace. As late as the end of July I spoke to members of the congress about the definite possibility of war. I should have called it the probability of war.

"Last January also I spoke to this congress of the need for further warning of new threats of conquest, military and economic; of challenge to religion, to democracy, and to international good faith. I said: 'An ordering of society which relegates religion, democracy, and good faith among nations to the background can find no place within it for the ideals of The Prince of Peace. The United States rejects such an ordering and retains its ancient faith.'

"'We know what might happen to us of the United States if the new philosophies of force were to encompass the other continents and invade our own. We, no more than other nations, can afford to be surrounded by the enemies of our faith and our humanity. Fortunate it is, therefore, that in this western hemisphere we have, under a common ideal of democratic government, a rich diversity of resources and of peoples functioning together in mutual respect and peace.'

Laws May Work Unfairly.

"Last January, in the same message, I also said: 'We have learned that when we deliberately try to legislate neutrality, our neutrality laws may operate unevenly and unfairly—may actually give aid to an aggressor and deny it to the victim. The instinct of self-preservation should warn us that we ought not to let that happen any more.'

"It was because of what I foresaw last January from watching the trend of foreign affairs and their probable effect upon us that I recommended to the congress in July of this year that changes be enacted in our neutrality law.

"The essentials for American peace in the world have not changed since January. That is why I ask you again to reëxamine our own legislation.

"Beginning with the foundation of our constitutional government in the year 1789, the American policy in respect to belligerent nations, with one notable exception, has been based on international law. Be it remembered that what we call international law has had as its primary objectives the the avoidance of causes of war and the prevention of the extension of war.

Points to One Exception.

"The single exception was the policy adopted by this nation during the Napoleonic wars, when, seeking to avoid involvement, we acted for some years under the so-called embargo and nonintercourse acts. That policy turned out to be a disastrous failure —first, because it brought our own nation close to ruin, and, second, because it was the major cause of bringing us into active participation in European wars in our own war of 1812. It is merely reciting history to recall to you that one of the results of the policy of embargo and nonintercourse was the burning in 1814 of part of this capitol in which we are assembled.

"Our next deviation by statute from the sound principles of neutrality and peace through international law did not come for 130 years. It was the so-called neutrality act of 1935—only four years ago—an act continued in force by the joint resolution of May 1, 1937, despite grave doubts expressed as to its wisdom by many senators and representatives and by officials charged with the conduct of our foreign relations, including myself. I regret that the congress passed that act. I regret equally that I signed that act.

"On July 14th of this year, I asked the congress in the cause of peace and in the interest of real American neutrality and security to take action to change that act.

"I now ask again that such action be taken in respect to that part of the act which is wholly inconsistent with ancient precepts of the law of nations—the embargo provisions. I ask it because they are, in my opinion, most vitally dangerous to American neutrality, American security and American peace.

"These embargo provisions, as they exist today, prevent the sale to a belligerent by an American factory of any completed implements of war, but they allow the sale of many types of uncompleted implements of war, as well as all kinds of general material and supplies. They, furthermore, allow such products of industry and agriculture to be taken in American flag ships to belligerent nations. There in itself—under the present law—lies definite danger to our neutrality and our peace.

Discusses Material Points.

"From a purely material point of view what is the advantage to us in sending all manner of articles across the ocean for final processing there when we could give employment to thousands by doing it here? Incidentally, and again from the material point of view, by such employment we automatically aid our own national defense. And if abnormal profits appear in our midst even in time of peace, as a result of this increase of industry, I feel certain that the subject will be adequately dealt with at the coming regular session of the congress.

"Let me set forth the present paradox of the existing legislation in its simplest terms: If, prior to 1935, a general war had broken out in Europe, the United States would have sold to and bought from belligerent nations such goods and products of all kinds as the belligerent nations, with their existing facilities and geographical situations, were able to buy from us or sell to us. This would have been the normal practice under the age-old doctrines of international law.

Sees Differences Now.

"Our prior position accepted the facts of geography and of conditions of land power and sea power alike as they existed in all parts of the world. If a war in Europe had broken out prior to 1935, there would have been no difference, for example, between our exports of sheets of aluminum and airplane wings; today there is an artificial legal difference.

"Before 1935 there would have been no difference between the export of cotton and the export of gun cotton. Today there is. Before 1935 there would have been no difference between the shipment of brass tubing in pipe form and brass tubing in shell form. Today there is. Before 1935 there would have been no difference between the export of a motor truck and an armored motor truck. Today there is.

"Let us be factual and recognize that a belligerent nation often needs wheat and lard and cotton for the survival of its population just as much as it needs antiaircraft guns and antisubmarine depth charges. Let those who seek to retain the present embargo position be wholly consistent and seek new legislation to cut off cloth and copper and meat and wheat and a thousand other articles from all of the nations at war.

"I seek a greater consistency through the repeal of the embargo provisions and a return to international law. I seek reënactment of the historic and traditional American policy which, except for the disastrous interlude of the embargo and nonintercourse acts, has served us well for nearly a century and a half.

"It has been erroneously said that return to that policy might bring us nearer to war. I give to you my deep and unalterable conviction, based on years of experience as a worker in the field of international peace, that by the repeal of the embargo the United States will more probably remain at peace than if the law remains as it stands today. I say this because with the repeal of the embargo this government clearly and definitly will insist that American citizens and American ships keep away from the immediate perils of the actual zones of conflict.

"Repeal of the embargo and a return to international law are the crux of this issue.

Contends Policy Reversed.

"The enactment of the embargo provisions did more than merely reverse our traditional policy. It had the effect of putting land powers on the same footing as naval powers, so far as sea-borne commerce was concerned. A land power which threatened war could thus feel assured in advance that any prospective sea power antagonist would be weakened through denial of its ancient right to buy anything anywhere. This, four years ago, gave a definite advantage to one belligerent as against another, not through his own strength or geographic position, but through an affirmative act of ours.

"Removal of the embargo is merely reverting to the sounder international practice, and pursuing in time of war as in time of peace our ordinary trade policies. This will be liked by some and disliked by others, depending on the view they take of the present war, but that is not the issue. The step I recommend is to put this country back on the solid footing of real and traditional neutrality.

"When and if repeal of the embargo is accomplished, certain other phases of policy reinforcing American safety should be considered. While nearly all of us are in agreement on their objectives, the only question relates to methods.

War Zones May Change.

"I believe that American merchant vessels should, so far as possible, be restricted from entering danger zones. War zones may change so swiftly and so frequently in the days to come that it is impossible to fix them permanently by act of congress; specific legislation may prevent adjustment to constant and quick change.

"It seems, therefore, more practical to delimit them through action of the state department and administrative agencies. The objective of restricting American ships from entering such zones may be attained by prohibiting such entry by the congress; or the result can be substantially achieved by executive proclamation that all such voyages are solely at the risk of the American owners themselves.

"The second objective is to prevent American citizens from traveling on belligerent vessels or in danger areas. This can also be accomplished either by legislation, through continuance in force of certain provisions of existing law, or by proclamation making it clear to all Americans that any such travel is at their own risk.

Favors Transfer of Title.

"The third objective, requiring the foreign buyer to take transfer of title in this country to commodities purchased by belligerents, is also a result which can be attained by legislation or substantially achieved through due notice by proclamation.

"The fourth objective is the preventing of war credits to belligerents. This can be accomplished by maintaining in force existing provisions of law, or by proclamation making it clear that if credits are granted by American citizens to belligerents our government will take no steps in the future to relieve them of risk or loss. The result of these last two will be to require all purchases to be made in cash and cargoes to be carried in the purchasers' own ships, at the purchasers' own risk.

"Two other objectives have been amply attained by existing law—namely, regulating collection of funds in this country for belligerents, and the maintenance of a license system covering import and export of arms, ammunition and implements of war. Under present enactments, such arms cannot be carried to belligerent countries on American vessels, and this provision should not be disturbed.

Method Up to Congress.

"The congress, of course, should make its own choice of the method by which these safeguards are to be attained, so long as the method chosen will meet the needs of new and changing day to day situations and dangers.

"To those who say that this program would involve a step toward war on our part, I reply that it offers far greater safeguards than we now possess or have ever possessed to protect American lives and property from danger. It is a positive program for giving safety. This means less likelihood of incidents and controversies which tend to draw us into conflict, as they did in the last world war. There lies the road to peace!

"The position of the executive branch of the government is that the age-old and time-honored doctrine of international law, coupled with these positive safeguards, is better calculated than any other means to keep us out of this war.

Cites His Proclamation.

"In respect to our own defense you are aware that I have issued a proclamation setting forth 'a national emergency in connection with the observance, safeguarding, and enforcement of neutrality and the strengthening of the national defense within the limits of peacetime authorizations.' This was done solely to make wholly constitutional and legal certain obviously necessary measures. I have authorized increases in the personnel of the army, navy, marine corps, and coast guard, which will bring all four to a total still below peacetime strength as authorized by the congress.

"I have authorized the state department to use, for the repatriation of Americans caught in the war zone, $500,000 already authorized by the congress.

"I have authorized the addition of 150 persons to the department of justice to be used in the protection of the United States against subversive foreign activities within our borders.

"At this time I ask for no other authority from the congress. At this time I see no need for further executive action under the proclamation of limited national emergency.

Neutrality Only Issue.

"Therefore I see no valid reason for the consideration of other legislation at this extraordinary session of the congress.

"It is, of course, possible that in the months to come unforeseen needs for further legislation may develop, but they are not imperative today.

"These perilous days demand cooperation between us without trace of partisanship. Our acts must be guided by one single, hard-headed thought—keeping America out of this war. In that spirit I am asking the leaders of the two major parties in the senate and in the house of representatives to remain in Washington between the close of this extraordinary session and the beginning of the regular session on Jan. 3.

"They have assured me that they will do so and I expect to consult with them at frequent intervals on the course of events in foreign affairs and on the need for future action in this field, whether it be executive or legislative action.

Ready for Extra Sessions.

"Further, in the event of any future danger to the security of the United States, or in the event of need for any new legislation of importance, I will immediately reconvene the congress in another extraordinary session.

"I should like to be able to offer the hope that the shadow over the world might swiftly pass. I cannot. The facts compel my stating, with candor, that darker periods may lie ahead. The disaster is not of our making; no act of ours engendered the forces which assault the foundations of civilization. Yet we find ourselves affected to the core; our currents of commerce are changing; our minds are filled with new problems; our position in world affairs has already been altered.

"In such circumstances our policy must be to appreciate in the deepest sense the true American interest. Rightly considered, this interest is not selfish. Destiny first made us, with our sister nations on this hemisphere, joint heirs of European culture. Fate seems now to compel us to assume the task of helping to maintain in the western world a citadel wherein that civilization may be kept alive.

Points to Unified Nation.

"The peace, the integrity, and the safety of the Americas—these must be kept firm and serene. In a period when it is sometimes said that free discussion is no longer compatible with national safety may you, by your deeds, show the world that we of the United States are one people, of one mind, one spirit, one clear resolution, walking before God in the light of the living."

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

FRENCH GIVE UP LIBERTIES UNDER PRESSURE OF WAR

Fear Dictator Methods May Become Chronic.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Civil rights have almost disappeared in France—another contribution to the cost of war. A survey today showed that the loss of liberties has been rapid since the Munich crisis, and now is nearly complete.

French individualists fear that dictatorial methods may become chronic when the present supreme government becomes used to its unchecked power. The nation has neither a formal bill of rights in its constitution nor an agency like the United States Supreme court. In practice the senate fulfills the function of the Supreme court, but it is a political body.

When Premier Edouard Daladier was given dictatorship powers last March 18 he gave assurances that there would be no restrictions on individual liberty. His authority was the broadest ever placed in the hands of a peacetime premier in the Third Republic.

The march of events after that occasion shows the people at war and deprived of most of their civil freedom.

Parliament's Life Prolonged.

The life of the present parliament has been prolonged for two more years; ordinarily an election would have been held in 1940. Political life is being reorganized on the basis of one party, the National Union party.

The council of ministers is authorized to issue decrees with the force of law "necessary to maintain and increase France's strength." Jurists said this wording is so general that any decree could be justified under it.

The defense and foreign affairs ministries are now consolidated and the duties assumed by Daladier.

Absolute press censorship is invoked, with the government having power to suppress publications considered dangerous for the nation's morale. Penalties for offending publishers range up to 10 years' imprisonment and 10,000 francs fine.

Strict Censorship On.

Outgoing news dispatches are made subject to censorship.

Incoming and outgoing cable messages and telephone calls to and from other countries are placed under censorship.

A tax of 15 per cent is imposed on all salaries, pensions, and annuities of men between the ages of 18 and 49 who are not in military service.

Another new tax law permits the government to take all of the profits of any business if it so desires.

Former taxes on production are increased from 8 to 9 per cent.

Travel out of the country now requires identity cards; if travel is by automobile, at least five photographs are needed.

The government has full control of factories making materials used in war; employés on vacations were ordered back to work, and managements were informed they are under government orders.

All refugees from other countries are required to present themselves at police stations.

The government is empowered to commandeer all vehicles, and announced it would requisition trucks, buses, private passenger cars, and gasoline in filling stations.

All importation of goods is licensed and made subject to restriction.

Part of the overtime pay of workers will be turned over to the National Solidarity fund, created to assist soldiers' families.

Citizens and companies are compelled to register all foreign holdings with the government; it is estimated $2,200,000,000 worth of foreign stocks and bonds are held in France.

All persons are forbidden to deal with or on behalf of any German company, society, or association, under penalty of up to five years' imprisonment and 5,000 francs fine.

There are innumerable defense regulations concerning lights in private premises and on automobiles at night, and the evacuation of metropolitan areas. Under pressure of emergency warnings, the senate and chamber of deputies have elected for a second seven year term as president Albert Lebrun, despite protests that this was contrary to the spirit of the constitution.

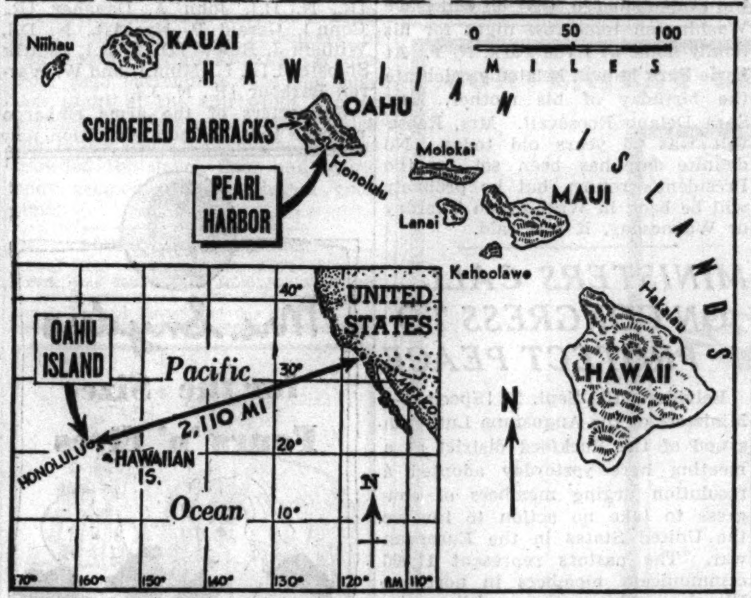
Hawaiian Bases Strengthened



The United States army and navy are increasing naval and air forces at Pearl Harbor and Schofield barracks on Oahu Island. Fourteen naval patrol bombers last week made a mass flight from San Diego to the island (indicated by heavy line in inset map).

STRENGTHEN U. S. PACIFIC BASES IN STRICT SECRECY

Hawaiian Zone Getting Strongest Posts.

BY JAN JABULKA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Sept. 21.—Strictest secrecy, with censorship in force, surrounds military movements on Oahu Island, northwest of Hawaii, where the army and navy steadily are increasing naval and air forces at Pearl Harbor and Schofield barracks, now America's largest army post.

Determination to maintain the strength of this Pacific outpost was indicated by last week's arrival of fourteen navy patrol bombers in a mass flight from San Diego with 104 men to replace 14 similar ships sent to Manila to augment the Philippine "neutrality" patrol.

Sending Six Submarines.

The transferred planes are flying the 6,000 mile route in the wake of the aircraft tender Langley, ordered from Pearl Harbor to Manila a fortnight ago. It is noteworthy that three submarines ordered to the far east from Hawaii, marking the greatest reënforcement of the Asiatic fleet in two decades, will be replaced soon with six newer craft.

A high army officer said today that the war department is not uneasy regarding Hawaii. He said the entire current plan of mobilization here and defense of the islands, particularly Pearl Harbor, is believed perfect and will remain unchanged despite the European crisis. He said the war department chiefly was concerned with plans for defense of the Panama canal and Porto Rico and that the army is rushing a huge airfield project at the Caribbean base.

An indication of the plans for Hawaiian naval and air expansion was the order this week evacuating the army air corps from Pearl Harbor's Luke field to the army's Hickam field where America's greatest air field, costing upwards of $20,000,000, is nearing completion. More than 3,000 members of the air corps will be housed there within a year.

Navy to Speed Bases.

The navy's $3,000,000 construction project at Luke field will start as soon as the army is evacuated. The navy, meanwhile, has started work on the Pearl Harbor dry dock which will be capable of accommodating the biggest warships. This work will entail expenditure of about $10,000,000. The navy also seeks an early start on the $7,000,000 naval air bases at Kaneohe, Windward and Oahu Islands.

Construction of navy bases is under way at Midway and Wake Islands, which are clipper bases. Another air base at Palmyra Island, 1,100 miles due south, is projected.

No one without permits is allowed to visit the Pearl Harbor base or other military reservations. Pleasure and fishing vessels also have been kept out of Pearl Harbor.

CAPITOL IS LIKE A FORTRESS AS SESSION OPENS

Congressmen Startled by Unusual Precautions.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—Capitol hill resembled a fortress under immediate danger of attack as President Roosevelt addressed a joint session of congress today. Veteran employés could not remember a previous occasion when such extraordinary precautions had been taken to protect the President and congress.

Only air raid warnings were lacking as the startled legislators were herded into the house chamber. They found barricades set up in and around the capitol. Some 500 policemen and secret service men closely questioned every one who sought to pass these barriers. Special credentials were necessary to gain entrance to the structure.

Capitol Guards Kept Busy.

The small army of capitol guards received a workout after the President had delivered his speech and returned to the White House. Several hundred persons representing the "committee for defense of constitutional rights" staged a demonstration on the capitol plaza. Numerous women attempted to storm the entrance to the house wing and became angered when they were barred by police.

"We're mothers!" they shouted, waving flags in the faces of the red faced policemen. "We don't want our boys to go to war!"

The policemen stood firm, however, and the raid was successfully repulsed. Sergeant-at-Arms Kenneth Romney considered issuing a communique reporting the victory.

President in Serious Mood.

In the delivery of his 35-minute address, President Roosevelt did nothing to disturb the impression that the United States was in grave peril. His voice was unusually low and serious. The famous smile did not appear when he was interrupted by applause.

Mr. Roosevelt was a few minutes late in making his appearance on the rostrum before the 388 representatives and 80-odd senators. It was learned that he had not completed drafting his address until 1 p. m., one hour before he was scheduled to deliver it.

While they waited, the statesmen scurried around, renewing acquaintanceships, shaking hands, and slapping backs. The members of the cabinet sat staidly in the front row. The diplomatic gallery was crowded.

British Ambassador Present.

Among those present were Lord Lothian, the new British ambassador; Count de Saint-Quentin, the French ambassador; Count Jerzy Potocki, Polish ambassador; Vladmir Hurban, minister of Czechoslovakia; Constantin Fotitch, Jugo-Slavia's minister; the Siamese minister, and the Portuguese minister.

Representative Ralph E. Church [R., Ill.], recuperating from an operation, was wheeled into the chamber on a stretcher. He thus kept intact a five year record of never having missed a daily session of congress.

Both houses had previously met at noon and adopted resolutions notifying the President that they were ready to receive his message and providing for the joint session.

When the President finally appeared and walked slowly up a ramp to the speaker's stand, he was warmly applauded. A few yells arose from the southern contingent. Mr. Roosevelt wore a blue business suit and dark blue tie.

Remarks on Peace Applauded.

His address was interrupted frequently by handclapping. The loudest acclaim came whenever he proclaimed his desire to keep the nation out of war. There was also enthusiastic approval when the President declared he had no desire to ask for legislation other than neutrality act revision, at this time, and saw "no impelling reason" for the consideration of other acts.

House leaders representing both Republican and Democratic parties agreed after the President's speech that no legislation of importance should be pressed until the senate acts on neutrality.

The house adjourned today until Monday, and three day recesses are contemplated while the senate debates neutrality. The constitution prohibits one chamber from adjourning more than three days at a time without the consent of the other.

Justice Pierce Butler Sent Back to Hospital by Doctor

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21 (AP).—Justice Pierce Butler returned to a hospital today after his physician had decided the Supreme court member had "lost considerable ground" in the last few days. Nelson Potter, assistant clerk of the court, said Dr. Fred R. Sanderson believed the condition of the 73 year old jurist was not entirely satisfactory. Suffering from a kidney ailment, Justice Butler entered Garfield hospital about six weeks ago. After showing progress he was discharged two weeks ago and went to his home in southern Maryland.

PAPER BAG BANDIT GETS $60.

Hear Roosevelt Arms Plea

PRESIDENT GOES HOME TODAY TO SEE MOTHER, 85

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21 [Special].—The White House announced, after President Roosevelt had delivered his message to the congress he summoned back to the capital to lift the arms embargo, that he will leave Washington tomorrow night for his family home at Hyde Park, N. Y. At Hyde Park he will belatedly celebrate the birthday of his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt was 85 years old today. No definite date has been set for the President's return, but he probably will be back in Washington Tuesday or Wednesday, it was said.

MINISTERS CALL ON CONGRESS TO PROTECT PEACE

Belvidere, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special].—Ministers of the Augustana Lutheran synod of the Rockford district at a meeting here yesterday adopted a resolution urging members of congress to take no action to involve the United States in the European war. The pastors represent 11,000 communicant members in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. They voted to send the resolution to the congressmen in that area. The meeting marked the close of a three day celebration of the 45th anniversary of the Zion Lutheran church here.

Asks Thanksgiving Law to Upset Roosevelt's Date

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21 (AP).—Thanksgiving Day would be fixed by law on the last Thursday in November under a resolution introduced today by Representative Chauncey W. Reed [R., Ill.]. The holiday traditionally has been observed on the last Thursday of the month, but President Roosevelt has set this year's observance for the third Thursday.

pledged their opposition to repeal of the arms embargo remained away from the conference because they did not wish to commit themselves publicly. Other opposition leaders, such as Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] and Senator Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.], have not returned to Washington. Besides Johnson and La Follette, those present at the strategy council included:

William E. Borah [R., Ida.], Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.], Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.], Lynn J. Frazier [R., N. D.], Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho], Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], Sheridan Downey [D., Cal.], Chan Gurney [R., S. D.], John H. Overton [D., La.], David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.], Ernest Lundeen [F. L., Minn.], Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.], Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.], John A. Danaher [R., Conn.], Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], William J. Bulow [D., S. D.], Henrik Shipstead [F. L., Minn.], and W. Warren Barbour [R., N. J.].

Supporters of the arms embargo concede that the administration now has at least 50 votes, one more than a majority of the senate, for repeal, but they believe the administration's strength is now at its maximum. They are convinced that when the debate begins and the reaction from the country attains its full force, there will be a majority of the senate against repeal.

Committee Meets Tomorrow.

The reaction already is being felt and many senators and representatives who had made commitments by telephone to support the administration's program were astonished by the mail they found in their offices upon reaching Washington. In the interval between Senator Borah's speech a week ago, urging retention of the arms embargo to keep the United States out of war, and the opening of congress today, members of the senate received an average of more than 10,000 letters each. Many of them received more than 25,000 letters. Most of them reported that their mail was running from 10 to 1 to 100 to 1 against revision of the neutrality act.

The senate foreign relations committee will meet Saturday to begin consideration of the administration's program. Since the house has passed a bill—but retaining a modified arms embargo—the senate will act first, and the house, in the meantime, is to take a series of three day recesses.

President Roosevelt discussed administration strategy at the White House this afternoon with Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], and Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.]. Tomorrow he will discuss the outlook with Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the foreign relations committee; Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader, and Senator Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], assistant minority leader.

BABY SAVED FROM CISTERN.

Duquoin, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special].—Erline, 2 year old daughter of Sam E. Clark, rural mail carrier, was rescued last night from a cistern into which she had fallen. Physicians said artificial respiration administered by the Duquoin fire department saved the child's life.

Keep Out of War, Danish Minister Urges America

Eight hundred Americans of Danish birth or descent last night heard an appeal by Henrik de Kauffmann, new Danish minister to the United States, to America to keep out of the European war. The occasion was the 20th national convention and banquet of the Danish Brotherhood in America, in the Hotel Sherman. De Kauffmann urged Americans to stay out of war and said he hoped Denmark could continue to do so.

ARM OUR NATION, NOT EUROPE, SAYS CHIEF OF LEGION

Urges That Neutrality Act Be Kept Alive.

Stephen F. Chadwick, national commander of the American Legion, urged an audience in the Chicago Bar association auditorium last night to help keep alive the present neutrality act, to arm America instead of arming Europe.

"War has raged in China, Ethiopia, and Spain, and a substantially bloodless war swept Austria and Czecho-Slovakia," Chadwick said, "yet we have been following a policy of neutrality and have been able to keep free from involvement. Now we are faced with a most startling thing. When a war is scarcely 20 days old a national emergency is proclaimed and the congress is brought into session to revise a neutrality act that was passed by a vote of 63 to 6 in the United States senate and 376 to 13 in the house only two years ago."

Either In or Out.

Explaining the danger of any kind of participation, Chadwick declared: "A line of supply starts at the factory manufacturing the munitions; it does not start at the wharf or dock where a ship is loading or at a three mile limit. You may be merely a part of the service of supply, the friendly neutral; if so, you are on the way to involvement. You are either in a war or you are out of it."

After mentioning America's own need for all the planes, artillery, and small arms she can produce, he concluded: "Let us proceed with solemn debate, while the time is yet available. Let us act with charity, speak without malice, pick no enemies, engender no hates. And let America and its peace ever motivate our every step—the peace of a strong man well armed for the security of his home and his home land."

Keynote for Convention.

Chadwick's address sounded the keynote for the convention of 250,000 Legionnaires and their families who are streaming into the city for the grand opening ceremonies next Monday. Business leaders expect that 10 million dollars will be spent by the Legionnaires during their week here.

Roy Steffen, president of the Greater Chicago Hotel association, denied yesterday that hotels anticipate trouble because of the celebration accompanying the convention.

"Despite much unfavorable publicity given the Legionnaires during the 1933 convention in Chicago," he said, "the total damage reported by hotels amounted to only $743. Most of the Legionnaires' pranks are harmless and as a whole their conduct is far above that of delegates to many smaller conventions."

Commander Chadwick also predicted that the convention would be a little soberer than in years past—"not because of the war," he explained, "but because of the years that have gone by since 1918." The average age of Legionnaires is now 47.

KILLED FLEEING CRASH SCENE.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 21 [Special].—Failing to heed the warning of watchmen, Homer Blount, 25 years old, of South Bend, drove his small truck into a culvert excavation near here last night and was killed. Police said Blount was fleeing from the scene of a minor crash in which his truck was involved.

CHICAGO LEGION POST HAS FORT DEARBORN REPLICA FOR PARADE

Chicago history will ride on wheels Tuesday morning in the American Legion parade. Fort Dearborn post is to be represented by a Fort Dearborn float Built on an inch-to-foot scale, the replica is 23 feet long, 7 feet wide, and weighs 4,000 pounds. It is historically accurate in every detail, even to the materials from which it is constructed. Three thousand 16 foot saplings were used in the stockade and buildings. Shingles are of hand hewed cedar. The flag staff flies the standard of the thirteen stars.

The float, carrying its own generating plant, is illuminated by 200 electric lights. It is mounted on a trailer platform, decorated with the Legion's blue and gold. In view of the proposal to remove the replica of the old fort from the lake front, the Fort Dearborn Legionnaires planned their exhibit as a permanent educational piece.

RUNAWAY POLISH SUB AT SEA WITH 16 TORPEDOES

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 21 (AP).—The Polish submarine Orzel which escaped from internment at Tallinn, Estonia, is roaming the Baltic with 16 torpedoes, it was reported today by two Estonian seamen. They were carried off by the submarine and set adrift in the open sea.

The Estonians, on board the Orzel as guards when it broke loose from its moorings and dashed out of Tallinn harbor last Monday, were rescued today by the keeper of a lighthouse on a small island off the east coast of Gotland, Swedish island in the Baltic.

For three days the sailors, a seaman and a petty officer of the Estonian navy, reported they were kept prisoner aboard the submarine before they were set adrift in a small dinghy in sight of land. Most of the time the Orzel was said to have remained submerged.

The Russian navy, charging Estonian "abetment" in the escape, has launched a search for the submarine.

HELD ON SLAYING CHARGE.

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that William Hunter, 3008 Cheltenham place, a WPA laborer, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter for the death of Steve Kesich, 49 years old, 9225 Cregier avenue, who was fatally injured in a tavern fight July 23.

COCKTAIL SPOT IS DOING NICELY FOR UNCLE SAM

The Glass Hat, afternoon cocktail spot and evening drinking rendezvous which occupies part of the Congress hotel, is doing well by itself since it and the hotel were purchased by Uncle Sam, to judge from the crowd in the place last night. A week ago the hotel was taken over, at a bankruptcy auction, by a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Four bartenders were kept busy last night at the thirty-foot bar, at which the stools and around which the tables were well filled. Couples crowded the dance floor and everybody seemed to be having a good time.

EXPECT 50,000 WIVES TO JOIN LEGION HI JINKS

Auxiliary Groups Start Activities Sunday.

BY MARCIA WINN.

The vanguard of the American Legion auxiliary already is in Chicago and has been for a week, preparing for the opening Sunday of what they term America's largest women's convention.

Fifty thousand women are expected to attend, this estimate having been made on the assumption that one out of every three Legionnaires brings his wife. They will represent the auxiliary's total membership of 479,279.

The 50,000 will come from every state in the union, from Alaska, Hawaii, the Canal zone, and the District of Columbia. They will come bearing flags and wearing buttons, the white star on a blue field that is the emblem of the auxiliary.

Young and Old Coming.

They will come in all ages, from the Gold Star mothers, who lost their sons on world war battlefields, to the gay young daughters of veterans who, dressed in brave, bright uniforms, will rattle drums, blow bugles, or drill in Tuesday's big parade. Most of the members, however, are middle aged and proud of the 18 year history of the auxiliary.

Unlike the average women's organization, the Legion auxiliary will make no great decisions on its own volition. It follows the word and works of its men. On issues of national importance, it takes the same action as the Legion takes. Its members feel, a spokesman said, that it is an auxiliary to the Legion, that its only purpose is to help the Legion.

By the same unspoken rule, most of the auxiliary women will watch Tuesday's parade from the sidelines. Their duty is to clap. Only women in uniform will participate. This includes drum and bugle corps, girls' drill teams, and members of such organizations within the order as the Eight and Forty [La Société des 8 Chapeaux et 40 Femmes], organized to vie with the Legion's 40 and 8. The 8 and 40's will wear elaborate attire, white capes lined with red and red chapeaux [only the French word is used] and trimmed with enormous white plumes.

Some Wear Overseas Cap.

Many of the 50,000 here for the convention, which will be held separately from that of the Legion, will wear overseas caps of gay colors. There is nothing official in the caps, though.

The auxiliary's headquarters is the Stevens hotel. Those who know Legion emblems can tell this from the pennants—bearing the white star on a blue field—strung on the light poles in front of the building. It's the only block on Michigan avenue that doesn't have the American Legion emblem on every other pole.

The auxiliary convention opens officially Monday in the Coliseum, but various events will be held in the Stevens Sunday. The first is the annual Aloha breakfast, restricted to women who served as state presidents in the auxiliary's first year, 1921. The Aloha breakfast first was held in San Francisco in 1923, and named Aloha because the Hawaiian delegation organized it.

Committee Meets Sunday.

The national executive committee also will meet Sunday morning, with Mrs. James Morris of Bismarck, N. D., national president, presiding. The largest event, however, will be the Fidac [Federation Interalliee des Anciens Combattants] breakfast. The motif this year will be Rumanian, as Rumania was the subject of the 1939 Fidac study.

A Gold Star mothers' tea committee meetings and a pages' tea will occupy the remainder of the afternoon. Monday is to be a big day, full of pageantry and processionals. Everything will halt Tuesday for the parade. Wednesday will be a heavy business session, followed by the states' dinner, the convention's outstanding social event, and Thursday will be election of officers. In this they frankly expect a fight.

The whole town's talking!
What about?
A certain luncheon.
It's come out—
That it's THE value—
for its zest.
So look no further.
Here's the best!

FOREIGN CONSULS FLEE WARSAW AS CITY BATTLES ON

Charge of Armored Cars Turned Back.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 21 (AP).—The Warsaw radio announced tonight that foreign consular officials left the besieged Polish capital at 2 p. m. [8 a. m., Chicago] today under an agreement reached with the Germans.

The announcement failed to name the officials but it was believed they included a half dozen Americans headed by Consul-General John K. Davis, a veteran of 30 years in the foreign service.

Other American consular attachés who had remained in Warsaw with Davis were George J. Haering of New York, William M. Cramp of Pennsylvania, Douglas Jenkins Jr., of South Carolina, M. William Blake of Ohio, and E. Tomlin Bailey of New Jersey.

Says "Spirit Unbroken."

In an earlier broadcast Warsaw's Mayor Stefan Starzinski declared that the city was withstanding the siege "with unbroken spirit."

"Warsaw was bombed all last night and part of today," he said. "Many women and children were killed. Many buildings were wrecked. The royal palace, the national museum, schools, hospitals and workers' tenements were targets of the German planes. By mistake, the German air force bombed the soviet legation, demolishing the building."

The mayor said volunteer fire brigades were doing heroic work in checking scores of fires started by incendiary bombs.

Repulse Armored Cars.

A communique broadcast from the besieged city said the western sector of the city was quiet "as the enemy was pushed back there several days ago."

In the northern section of the city, the communique said, Nazi armored cars attacked Polish lines but were repulsed by an infantry and cavalry charge. In the Praga district, a Polish bayonet charge was reported to have driven back a German advance.

The Warsaw radio announcer said 70 German planes took part in the day's raids, seven of which he asserted were shot down.

Col. Vaclava Lipinski in tonight's broadcast said up until yesterday 87 German planes had been downed by Warsaw's defenders.

Interned in Rumania.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 21 (AP).—Polish government officials who fled here, a total of 150 to 200, are to be provided with "restricted residence" in a location yet to be designated, Rumania announced today.

The highest officials are to be interned, including President Ignace Moscicki, now at Bicaz, where he is living in King Carol's hunting lodge; Foreign Minister Col. Josef Beck, at Slanio, a resort, and Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, in Craiova.

Polish officers and soldiers who fled into Rumania have been disarmed and interned. Thousands of Polish civilians who fled into Rumania have been asked to migrate elsewhere as soon as possible so they will not be a burden to maintain or police.

Rumanians have been warned not to buy any arms or other possessions from Poles who have come into the country.

Stefan Osusky.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The process of creating a Czecho-Slovakian national army which will fight beside the French and British against Germany will officially begin tomorrow when the Czecho-Slovak recruiting office opens here, THE TRIBUNE was informed today by Stefan Osusky, former Chicago lawyer and former Czecho-Slovakian minister to Paris, who is directing his country's fight for resurrection from the Czech legation.

Service in the new army will be compulsory for all Czechs and Slovaks in France—Osusky estimates there are between forty and fifty thousand of them—and will be voluntary for the hundreds of thousands of persons of Czech and Slovak blood expected to volunteer from other countries.

Officers Among Refugees.

Among the refugees in France from the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia, as the former Slav republic is called by its German overlords, there are more than enough officers to form the nucleus of a fighting force and whip it into shape. Among them are several generals, Gen. Viest, inspector-general of the Slovak forces, arrived in Paris two days ago and offered to help the new force.

Even more important perhaps is the fact that the leaders of the Czecho-Slovak movement here claim to have 600 military pilots ready for action. This air corps is expected to prove a particularly precious aid in the air war which it is believed may soon open on the western front.

The first camp on French soil to fly the Czecho-Slovak flag was opened Wednesday by Czecho-Slovak officers and troops who had served as volunteers during the Spanish civil war. Parisian recruits will be sent there.

Revolt Called Beginning.

Osusky received THE TRIBUNE correspondent in the former Czech legation early today just after the first Paris newspapers had appeared headlining news of an alleged revolt in Bohemia and Moravia [which was denied in Berlin].

The French government, with cooperation of local Czech patriots, has been broadcasting in the Czech and Slovak languages since before the war began and Osusky attributed the reported uprisings largely to the effect of these broadcasts.

SLAYING HELD TO BE MURDER.

Felix Blucher, 39 years old, 425 North Kedzie avenue, was murdered Aug. 29 by an unknown person, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. Blucher was shot to death as he sat in a tavern at 438 North Western avenue.

FOREIGN ENVOYS ONCE IN POLAND GOING TO HOMES

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 21 (AP).—Foreign envoys who had been accredited to Poland and who had followed the Polish government from Warsaw made plans today to return to their native countries. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., American ambassador to Warsaw, arranged to leave tomorrow for Paris.

American authorities were expected to take diplomatic action probably in Moscow to obtain the release of William Morton, American vice consul in Warsaw, who was caught on the Polish side of the Dniestr river during the soviet Russian occupation.

Morton was unable to leave Zaleszczyki, Polish frontier town, because of restrictions imposed by Russian army officials.

Paul Super, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Warsaw, arrived safely with his wife from Poland, but Rumanian officials at Pascana detained them because they lacked proper identification papers. The American legation in Bucharest today arranged to forward the necessary documents.

Hongkong Bars Disclosure of Data on Ship Movements

HONGKONG, Sept. 21 (AP).—Wartime regulations prohibiting public disclosure of data on movements of all ships, including those of neutrals, were invoked today. Travel offices, however, may give approximate sailing information to prospective passengers.

AFRICAN TROOPS GIVE FRENCH A FOOD PROBLEM

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The ministry of colonies announced today that the embarkation of native troops from Senegal and other Central African colonies is proceeding satisfactorily.

Their arrival will introduce another problem for the commissariat. The rations for native troops vary according to their race and religion. There must be mutton for those who will not touch beef or pork. Others will not touch wine. The difficulties are manifold, but all are being overcome with complete success, it was said.

The Fun Begins an Hour From Now

Down on the streets right now is the bright and beaming face of a 1940 Nash. And just looking at it will make you feel good all over!

One sweet sweep of glittering line, it looks gay as a Mardi Gras—and twice as exciting.

But don't waste time staring. You belong in the driver's seat. For that's where the fun begins.

Before you start, turn on the Weather Eye to the comfort you want. (It offers new conditioned air wonders this year.)

Just a nudge of your toe, and in one split-second you'll get a good idea of what a hundred-odd stampeding horses can do. Three finger flicks—and the gears are shifted. Then—a lift, a rush, a click—and a new Fourth Speed Forward lends soft wings to your ride.

Don't worry about that Sunday driver ahead. There's something new in the throttle—the Nash Automatic Overtake. Just press your toe—and leave him dawdling in your dust, wondering where you came from—or where you went.

Then head for a backwoods road where the others dare not follow . . . and feel what happens.

Ruts and bumps rush up to meet your spinning wheels, but—they never seem to reach you. Your hands stay idle on the wheel.

It's riding magic, pure and simple. A ride so smooth, so level, so silent that you might be in your easy chair at home, or sleeping in the Nash convertible bed.

It's the new Arrow-Flight Ride : : : result of an entirely new springing combination : : : and we dare you to say you've ever experienced anything like it, or known steering that was so precisely sure and effortless.

With singing heart, you give the throttle another nudge.

It is—and always will be, in your Nash : : : long after other cars are parked for good.

• • •

We're asking you, with nothing but your own preferences, experiences, and instincts, to get behind the wheel of a 1940 Nash. For ten glorious minutes —that's all.

Then decide if any other car today . . . of any power, weight, or wheelbase : : : can give you as much downright fun as this new, lower-priced Nash!

Get your hands on it now—for you'll regret every minute you don't own one! Your Nash dealer is waiting. Come on—it's getting late—let's go!

RUSSIA CONVERTS CONQUERED AREA TO COMMUNISM

Splits Up Large Estates; Peasants in Charge.

MOSCOW, Sept. 21 (AP).—Soviet Russia today proceeded with the task of converting to soviet ideology the 11,000,000 new citizens acquired in Poland's western Ukraine and White Russia.

Moscow newspapers said the population of the territories occupied by soviet forces were turning over to soviet authorities straggling Polish troops found wandering in forests. The accounts said peasants were tying the soldiers together and taking them to the nearest Red army detachments.

Division of large estates also was said to be under way with various peasant committees or soviets in charge.

Actors Sent to Areas.

Soviet actors have been sent into the occupied areas to entertain both the population and the army.

Tass, official soviet news agency, declared life was beginning to run normally in the towns and villages of western Ukraine and White Russia under the Red army's occupation.

The agency told of the reopening of postal, telegraph and telephone communications and the organization of provisional city administrations.

Exhibit Soviet Films.

"Publication of newspapers in the Ukrainian and Byelo-Russian [White Russia] languages started in a number of towns," it said. "Everywhere cinemas have reopened and exhibit the best soviet films.

Operations of the Red army of occupation were described as consolidation of positions already occupied. Occupation of the town of Pinsk, some 110 miles east of Brest-Litovsk, was mentioned in a Red army communique.

The communique also told of occupation of Kobrin [Kobryn] 40 miles east of Brest-Litvosk and on the northern border of the vast Pripet marshes. The Russians were reported to have occupied Lwow, 90 miles from the Polish-Rumanian border.

'A MILLION UNITS OF SERUM SAVE BOY FROM DEATH

Teddy Baginski, 13 years old, was recovering from a lockjaw infection in the Mercy hospital at Gary yesterday, after he had received one million units of tetanus anti-toxin serum, said to be one of the heaviest such treatments ever administered.

Teddy began receiving the serum injections a month ago after he stepped on a rusty nail. When he failed to respond to the usual treatment of 3,500 to 5,000 units, the injections were continued. After one million units were administered his recovery, physicians said, became assured.

Dr. Joseph Sponder, attending physician, said that ordinarily after 200,000 units are administered, the patient fails to respond to further treatment. The serum was provided by the city of Gary at the direction of Dr. Phillip J. Rosenbloom, health commissioner. Teddy is the son of Mrs. Eleanor Baginski, 3521 Carolina street, Gary.

Our Goal Is Complete Victory, Daladier Says; Charges Plots

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Premier Daladier.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—"We are not haunted as our enemies are by the fear of a long war. We are thinking of only one thing — complete victory."

With these words Premier Edouard Daladier, the former poilu of 1914 who is guiding France through the current war, assured his fellow citizens—and other listeners in embattled Europe—that France is unshakeable in its determination to stand with Britain in a showdown fight against Adolf Hitler's Germany.

During these last few days German troops released from the east by the crushing of Poland have been moving up to the Siegfried line, presumably to challenge the mastery of operations which the French have held on the western front. This fact must have been in Daladier's mind tonight when he reported by radio to French citizens the developments of the war.

In discussing Hitler's relations with France, for the first time he launched the official charge that Hitler had subsidized autonomist movements here to demoralize the French.

"Germany disguised Germans as Alsatians to parade them at congresses and festivals," he declared. "She sought to find for gold a handful of traitors in Brittany and Alsace. But she will not renew these methods. She is looking everywhere for Seyss-Inquarts [the Austrian Nazi statesman who, disguised as a supporter of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, opened the way for Hitler's legions into Vienna] to betray their country. She hopes to find Hachas [last president of Czecho-Slovakia] to sign the documents which spell defeat and slavery."

Taking up the Nazi tactic of trying to drive a wedge between France and Britain, Daladier pledged that France never would be separated from her ally. He said that if France for the moment is bearing the brunt on the Maginot line it is Britain's mastery of the seas which constitutes, according to Hitler, the main threat to his régime.

FRANCE MASSES GIGANTIC FORCE ON WEST FRONT

Huge Army Being Hidden, Says Eyewitness.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, Sept 22, Friday (AP).—The war ministry's communique, issued at 10:03 a. m. [4:03 a. m., Chicago time] said:

" Activity by our advance guards in the regions south of Saarbruecken and east of the Blies river.

"Artillery action of both sides along the entire front."

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE SAAR FRONT, Sept. 21.—The real war has not yet started on the western front, but all along that front and behind it to an almost incredible depth France has organized one of the most powerful field armies the modern world has seen.

When the moment comes to seek a decision this army will swing into action with all its weight to achieve the purpose for which it was formed—to smash the German army.

This is the dominant impression of this correspondent after visiting, with three other American correspondents, the principal army bases in eastern France, the zone immediately behind the Maginot line, a large sector of the front and one position in front of the Maginot line touching German soil. There, from a hilltop, we looked out over the German front lines some four miles away.

Shortly after we had made our tour of inspection of the lines, tonight's official French communique [No. 36] told of a "calm day along the front. Activity of the enemy's artillery south of Saarbruecken. Our reconnaissance missions were carried out despite bad weather and enemy fire."

Indomitable Spirit Displayed.

No official guide shepherded us on a personally conducted tour. There was nothing to influence our judgment beyond what we actually saw unless it was the courtesy, the cordiality and above all the indomitable fighting spirit displayed by every French soldier and officer with whom we talked.

We left Paris in a very puzzled state of mind, almost wondering whether there really was a war at all. If we had been whisked by plane to the battle zone and then been whisked back without seeing anything else we might have been more dubious about the war than ever.

Imagine this for instance: When we arrived at Sarreguemines, which is right against the German frontier and within easy range of the German artillery, we found not one house destroyed, not one window pane broken. We did not see a single shell hole along the road. Yet the German lines were not more than five miles away. Looking across the valley of the Saar we could see the toylike village of Hitlerdorf, then a little northeast, easily within our range of vision but partly screened by a wooded crest, the Saar village of Bubingen.

Passed Near German Guns.

Directly across from us, German artillery positions on a high, bald hill appeared to dominate the whole region. I am no artilleryman, but I imagine that at several points along the road leading down into Sarreguemines our car must have been clearly visible to enemy observers, and I have an idea that under world war conditions I never would have gotten into Saareguemines in one piece.

Altogether we stayed in Saareguemines several hours, enjoying an excellent lunch at the officers' mess. During this period only one thing indicated a war was going on. Three German reconnaissance planes came over our lines and the French antiaircraft artillery opened fire, driving them back after a few seconds. The white bursts of shrapnel and the black puffs from high explosive shells made an interesting fireworks display, but it is not usually necessary to go to the front to see such things in war.

A Captured German Officer.

This little affair and the distant rumble of cannon on another part of the front near sundown were the only direct evidence of war that we had during the entire trip—unless you count in the captured German officer that we saw being driven up to army headquarters.

But this impression of the front would have been misleading if it had not been corrected by the impressions we got back of the front.

Covering a wide area of eastern France as we did, it seemed to us that all the mighty scattered energies of France had been funneled into this area.

The front seemed to be over a hundred miles deep. Two villages out of every three were filled with soldiers. One correspondent in our party who had been through the world war on the western front said he had never seen anything like this.

Here were several million men concentrated in a relatively small area without any clumsy, vast concentrations of men in one spot as an easy target to enemy aircraft.

The French mobilization appeared to be complete. We noticed no important troop movements on the roads, although these were thronged with every kind of supply transport and at many front points breathtaking quantities of heavy artillery were cleverly camouflaged.

Order? It's Everywhere.

Everywhere was perfect order and discipline and the kind of methodical preparation which the French usually are considered incapable of making. In every village where troops were billeted shelters were being dug and anti-aircraft guns were set up.

Military police handled heavy road trafic faultlessly.

It was reassuring to note in the smaller villages back of the lines a picturesque confusion of uniforms, the old horizon blue filling gaps where the new khaki could not stretch. The men appeared fit, vigorous, determined and in good spirits.

In the course of several hundred miles of travel we saw more British and French planes than we thought existed. Very few of them were on regular airdromes. Most of them were in fields or groves of trees so artfully concealed that you would not notice them more than a few yards away.

Nearly every car or truck that we met was camouflaged and all the parked vehicles were carefully hidden. As we neared the front even the infantry seemed to disappear until at last we were looking over an empty landscape in which the untrained eye could not distinguish the advance French and German positions. Thousands of men were there on both sides, but they were all hidden in the bushes or underground.

One of the most impressive things was the number of hospital trains and ambulances. But there were no wounded coming back.

Even at the front we discovered that the war is more real than it seems despite the light fighting where we were. The Germans insist they did not want to fight the French but that had not prevented a German aviator from machine gunning a French pilot who had bailed out of his plane and was floating to earth with his parachute. This incident, we were told, had occurred on our front only a few hours before our arrival.

However, we established definitly that for several days after the war had started many of the German front line troops did not know what was going on. At first the French mowed them down with machine gun fire, then realizing what the situation was they succeeded in surrounding and taking them prisoners.

Some of the first German prisoners protested against capture and demanded to be sent back to Germany, not knowing war had been declared. This seemingly incredible anecdote was confirmed by high officers.

One thing that had made war seem a little unreal to us was seeing children playing in villages only a few miles back of the Maginot line. When we got in front of the line, however, we entered a zone of dead silence from which all civilian life seemed banished. Sarreguemines itself, except for an occasional soldier, was deserted, every house closed and every window shuttered.

Civilians Won't Leave.

At Nancy, well back of the lines but in easy range of enemy aviation, we discovered the secret of the villages on the fringe of the battle zone taken over by the troops, but still inhabited by women and children. Despite repeated warnings, the inhabitants of Nancy refuse to leave. Business life is at a standstill, many shops are boarded up and civilians have difficulty in obtaining food supplies. At night Nancy is plunged into total darkness. I found it a sad and grim, though heroic town, but its citizens will not leave. Maybe they cannot bear to leave the famous Stanislas square, still lovely despite the sandbags protecting its baroque monuments.

We found the same heroic spirit more virilely expressed among the soldiers with whom we talked, ranging from privates to a colonel. They all agree it is a funny war now but in a short time it will not be so funny and they mean to fight on to victory.

BRITAIN DENIES LOSS OF 3 BIG NAVY SHIPS, CAPTURE OF BREMEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 21. — The British admiralty, after calling reports that the navy had captured the German liner Bremen "absurd," also denied tonight rumors that three capital ships of the navy—the Hood, the Renown, and the Repulse—had been lost.

[The denial of the loss of these three ships was the first suggestion received in this country that such a thing might have happened.]

The statement on the Bremen dispelled rumors current since last night that the Bremen had been captured and that it was in British waters. The big Nazi ship has not been heard from officially since it left New York City Aug. 30, although it has variously been reported in widely scattered ports.

Tea Drinkers in England Get Shock of Their Lives

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP).—Britain's many tea connoisseurs got a shock today from the government announcement it was considering introduction of one standard tea blend to do away with individual brands and simplify distribution. Bread also will be higher. Bakers announced an eight pence [16 cent] loaf would cost a half-penny [one cent] more.

BUSINESS IS IN THE BAG NOW; BOY MERCHANTS GET POLICE APPROVAL

Three young business men ran into trouble last night, but it all turned out fairly well and they were making plans to net another $4 or $5 before Saturday.

The three are Louis Young, 13 years old, 2155 Harrison street, and John Mahoney, 14, and Thomas Shields, 13, both of 2122 Flournoy street. Police found them at 314 South State street, a three story vacant building. Louis was inside. John and Tommy were on the roof. All said the police had scared away about $25 worth of potential profits which they were stalking.

And the business? It's catching the loop's wild pigeons. The boys sell them to housewives for $1 a dozen. They were out trying to fill orders for 50 for one Sunday dinner when police moved in. Louis and John said they had bagged about 1,800 each in the last year, a profit of $150 apiece. They catch the birds at night on their roosts, the hunters said.

The police called the parents of the boys and arranged for them to be taken home. The pigeons, they decided, are fair game.

THE HUTCHINSES PRODUCE A THIRD COLLEGE PREXY

Berea, Ky., Sept. 21 (AP).—The Hutchins family put its third member in the chair of a college president today.

Dr. William J. Hutchins, 68 years old, president of the Berea college for 19 years, formally retired and handed the college seal to his son, Dr. Francis S. Hutchins, 37 years old, in a ceremony attended by 2,000 students and townsfolk.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE OVER, SHIPS SET SAIL FOR EUROPE

Agreement Opens Way to Evacuate Americans.

New York, Sept. 21. [Special].—The stalemate caused by a strike of C. I. O. seamen was broken today with the sailing for Europe of the American Export liner Excambion and the American Scantic Line's Scantates. The controversy had tied up eight ships in New York and hampered the evacuation of Americans from the foreign war zones.

The sailors last night and today voted to accept a 25 per cent pay increase and other guaranties to compensate them for sailing in submarine infested waters.

Property Indemnity Pledged.

The agreement between the National Maritime union, an affiliate of the C. I. O., and the shipping companies guarantees continued payment of wages to sailors interned in foreign ports, transportation home for sailors whose ships are sunk, and payment of indemnity up to $150 for personal property lost in the war zone. The agreement was made retroactive to Sept. 5.

The seaman originally had demanded a bonus of $250 for each voyage, individual insurance policies of $25,000, and increases in the personnel of each ship to meet wartime hazards.

In addition to the Excambion and Scantates, the ships tied up by the strike were the United States liner George Washington, largest of the eight; the American Trader, American Traveler, Acadia, St. John, and Iroquois.

More Passengers Arrive.

The United States liner American Merchant today landed 130 passengers at Boston and New York from Avonmouth and Glasgow. During the voyage the ship received ten S O S calls from British vessels attacked by submarines but other vessels were closer to the attacked craft.

The Holland-American liner Volendam arrived shortly after the American Merchant with 845 passengers. The commander said he had a "young war" simmering among his passengers, of twenty-three nationalities, during the trip.

The Cunard White Star liner Lancastria, formerly a West Indies cruise ship, sailed today for an unannounced destination. She had been here a week.

Huntsville, Utah, Sept. 21 (AP).—A battered body found in the Wasatch mountains was identified today by United States Marshal Gilbert Mecham as that of Maj. Howard Stark, department of commerce pilot missing for more than three years. The body was found by a sheepherder about six miles from where Stark's wrecked plane was found in May, 1936. Stark disappeared in a snowstorm Jan. 16, 1936, while on a flight from Rock Springs, Mo., to Salt Lake City.

BRITAIN TO BOOST TAXATION; HINT LEVY ON CAPITAL

Simon to Introduce First War Budget.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 21.—British taxpayers will be told next week by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, what new burdens they will have to bear to help pay the costs of war against Germany. Simon, it was announced in the house of commons today, will submit the first war budget to parliament next Wednesday.

Simon's budget is likely to provide some form of capital levy, it was indicated in political circles tonight. The chancellor dropped a hint along these lines in replying to questions today. When asked if he would ascertain the present value of capital owned by income taxpayers, Simon answered he could not anticipate the contents of the budget statement. Many members of parliament regarded this as a warning that some form of capital levy would be introduced.

Tax Increases Expected.

Substantial tax increases seem to be in store, observers said. An extra shilling on the income tax, making the rate 6 shillings 6 pence [about $1.32] to the pound, was predicted, as well as a higher surtax, death duties, new levies on war profits, increased imposts on luxury articles, and drastic measures to check tax evasion.

Swollen by war spending, Britain's total expenditure for the current financial year is expected to exceed 2,000,000,000 pounds [$8,000,000,000].

The new budget, supplementary to one introduced by Simon in April, will be followed by the usual finance bill giving effect to the budget resolutions, but normal procedure in passing the measure through parliament will be speeded up. The finance bill will get first reading on Friday, it is announced, after general debate on the budget Thursday.

Simon told the house of commons this afternoon that the government was closely watching expenditures of all departments and realized the importance of conserving the country's financial resources.

Promise Plenty of Shells.

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP).—The British parliament heard government assurances today that the nation's world war shell shortage would not be repeated.

Supply Minister Leslie Burgin said 700 firms were making shells for the British forces and that war supplies worth $280,000,000 had been ordered since the fight with Germany started.

He added that 6,500 contractors were working for the ministry of supply.

The supply minister further stated that the country had been divided into 13 districts, each under a trained engineer to "ensure that the whole capacity of the country is utilized."

Arthur Greenwood, acting Labor opposition leader, criticized the latter setup as burocratic and said "The dead hand of officialdom is going to throttle the national effort."

DIES IN HIS BACHELOR HUT.

Benton, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special].—Joseph Saloker, 72 years old, retired coal miner, was found dead today in his bachelor shack near Christopher. Coroner Dave Clayton said he believed death occurred four days ago.

THE MAN ON THE BEAT (2)

By CALEB

WORKINGS of the Chicago Police Department are best approached by the interested layman in a scrutiny of how its total personnel of 6,763 employes (as of Dec. 31, 1938) is distributed.

First of all, there is "The Man On the Beat" himself—first-year, second-year and third-and-successive-year men—of whom there are 5,580. Then there are some thirty-one other classifications, beginning with the Commissioner of Police, at the top, and running through chief of detectives, deputy chief of detectives, chief of the uniformed force, supervisors of police divisions, chief of traffic bureau, captains, lieutenants, sergeants, policewomen, matrons, identification inspectors, photographers and medical division, down to technical, clerical and maintenance employes. These in their entirety comprise 1,183 additions to the patrol force above mentioned.

Of first-year patrolmen, last year, there were 5,161. Second-year men numbered 112; and third-year men or over, 307. Sixty-one policewomen served in the Crime Prevention Division, along with one lieutenant, 36 patrolmen, and 7 motion-picture censors. Twenty-five police matrons were also stationed in five districts—making a total of 86 women enlisted in Chicago's law-and-order program.

For allocative purposes, the city is divided into 39 districts—to which captains, lieutenants, sergeants, patrolmen and matrons are assigned in numbers determined by the size, location and character of the district. To the first, twenty-second, fifth, fifteenth, and twenty-fifth, in the order named, were assigned the five largest totals of officers and men; and the state's attorney's office also was supplied with one captain, one lieutenant, sixteen sergeants, eighty-five patrolmen, and one policewoman; a total of 104 . . .

So much by way of background for the reader. What of the kind and number of trespasses against society and the majesty of the law, with which one active patrolman, roughly, to every 1600 citizens had to cope, during 1938?

These, listed as "Offenses known to the police," fell under seven different divisions: felonious homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft. Highest in number came petty larcenies (under $50), 11,418; with burglaries (11,302 "actual offenses") running a close second. As compared with the year previous, however, felonious homicides decreased 20 per cent, rape 9 per cent, and burglaries and larcenies about 2 per cent.

NAZIS TAKE A TIP FROM HANNIBAL TO CRUSH POLAND

Boast "Flash War," Plus Encirclement, Won.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—With the German and Russian armies having conquered Poland, with the exception of Warsaw and other isolated spots, it is now possible to give a general outline of the planned operations of the German general staff. The Germans claim it was carried through with clocklike precision.

The Polish campaign, the Nazis declare, proved the soundness of German theories of "flash war" which was made possible through Germany's motorized divisions.

They also assert that the general staff succeeded to perfection in repeating the battle of Cannae on a huge scale. This classic battle of encirclement in which Hannibal annihilated the Roman forces by turning in the flanks of his army always has inspired German leading military strategists, including Gneisenau, Moltke, Schlieffen, Hindenburg and Ludendorff.

[The battle of Cannae took place in Southern Italy in 216 B. C. Hannibal, with a force of 50,000, laid his army out in a crescent, with the weaker corps in the center to draw in the army of 86,000 Romans. When they had been completely drawn in, he closed the flanks and slew between 40,000 and 70,000 of the Romans and took 10,000 prisoners. Many historians credit him with having slain at least 70,000 Romans.]

How Encirclement Worked.

From the start, the German plans were aimed at wholesale destruction of the Polish forces by encirclement on a scale hitherto unparalleled in war history.

The main German blow was aimed from Silesia, heading straight for Warsaw. One army coming from Silesia was commanded by Col. Gen. Walter von Reichenau. Simultaneously, strong forces from East Prussia also were directed toward the Polish capital, pressing southward.

Southeast of Warsaw the two army groups met, cutting off the entire western part of Poland, overwhelming part of the Polish army, including her crack divisions, and securing control of the better part of the Polish raw materials.

The second German pincer movement on a smaller scale was accomplished within the first three days of the campaign. Its object was to cut off the Polish corridor from west Poland.

Two Forces Join.

With the German forces from Pomerania pushing to the east and East Prussian forces pressing to the southwest, the two groups joined forces southwest of the Polish fortress of Graudenz, about 60 miles south of Danzig on the Vistula river.

While these two pincer movements were in progress, relatively weak German forces on the Polish-German frontier between Scheidemuhl in the north and north of Breslau in the south remained stationary. The Germans calculated that most of the western part of Poland, with the city of Posen [Poznan] in the center, would fall automatically as soon as the pincer had closed east of Warsaw. Their calculations proved correct, since the Poles hurriedly attempted to evacuate that area.

The third pincer movement developed when the German mechanized forces and mountain divisions, forcing the Jablonka pass on the Slovakian-Polish border, headed for Lwow [Lemberg], southwest of which lie the rich Polish oil fields.

Turn at Right Angle.

Part of these forces turned at a right angle to the north and turned Polish defense lines formed by the Bug river from the south. At the same time the East Prussian forces, after fording the steep bank of the Narew river—this stream considerably delayed the German advance in Russia in the world war—advanced to south of Lomza and the fortress of Brest-Litovsk.

At Wlodawa, some 40 miles south of Brest-Litovsk, the two groups and the third group, coming from Silesia, met 16 days after the campaign began.

As said before, the main German drive at the beginning of the campaign came from Silesia. Advancing at great speed, German motorized divisions were able to seize most of the bridges leading over the Vistula within a week. The remaining bridges were destroyed by the air force. The bulk of the Polish army thus was cut off from all lines of retreat.

The two main pockets in which the Polish army was trapped were at Radom, south of Warsaw, and in the Kutno area.

An Eight Day Battle.

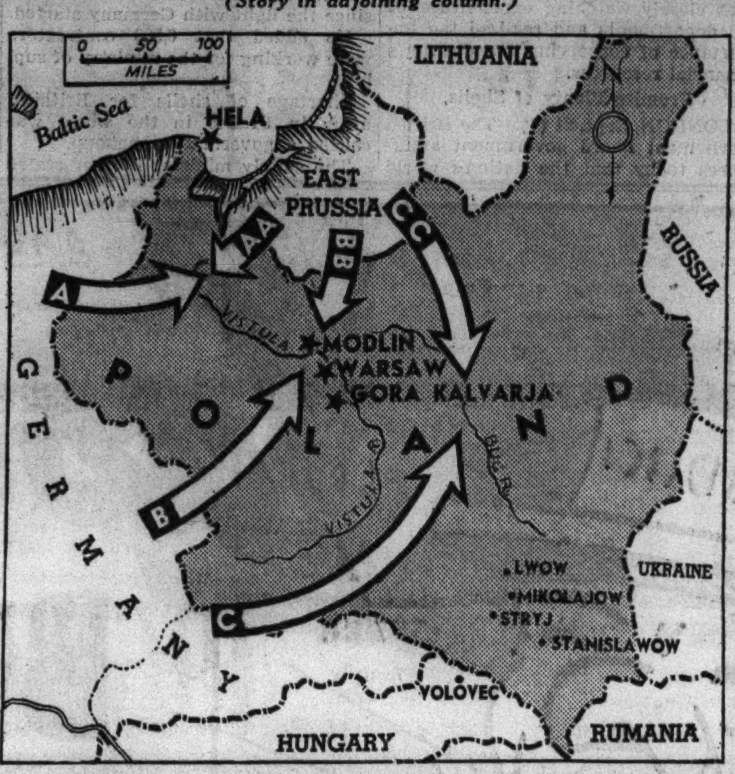
The Kutno battle is described by the Germans as the "greatest battle of annihilation of the times." The battle, which lasted eight days, raged in a triangle formed by the town of Wyszograd, the Bruza river, and the top arch of the Vistula river.

From the strategic viewpoint, encirclement of the crack Polish forces near Kutno is a remarkable feat, the Nazis boast. The ring of iron was forged by three different army groups. The group coming from Pomerania came down over Bromberg and Hohensalza, starting the encirclement from the northwest. Troops which started in East Prussia pressed from the northeast. The remaining pressure came from the south—the northern wing of the Silesian army.

Without the tremendous efforts made to increase the marching ability of the German infantry, the Germans could not have won as easily as they did, experts maintain. In peacetime maneuvers, the German infantry often covered up to 62 miles in 36 hours. Ability to outdistance the fleeing enemy was an important factor in helping the air force turn the retreat of the Poles into a rout.

Germany Strategy in Poland

(Story in adjoining column.)



Nazi military leaders planned the destruction of Poland by encirclement and are now hailing their strategy enthusiastically. Three such pincer movements were planned and carried out as follows: German forces driving from Pomerania (A) pushed eastward and East Prussian forces pressed to the southwest (AA), the two meeting to cut off the corridor; the main German blow was aimed with an army from Silesia (B), heading for Warsaw and another army from East Prussia (BB) also heading for the capital; German forces (C) forced the Jablonka pass on the Slovakian-Polish border and headed for Lwow, while another East Prussian force (CC) descended from the north. The stars indicate where Poles are still resisting; towns named in Ukraine (lower right) mark sites of Ukrainian terrorism.

Chicago Red Cross Gets $2,050 for Aid to Poles

An answer to Poland's appeal to the American Red Cross for medical aid was received at Chicago headquarters yesterday from the United Organizations for the Defense of Democracy. Wencel Hetman, president of the group, presented a check for $2,050 to Roger Holden, acting manager of the Chicago Red Cross chapter. He said the money was collected on Sept. 10 at a demonstration in the Coliseum.

BRITAIN REVEALS OFFER BY HITLER TO BECOME ALLY

Diplomacy to Avert War Is Unfolded.

meant a negotiated settlement of the Polish question. Herr Hitler refused to guarantee this on grounds that Polish provocation might at any moment render German intervention to protect German nationals inevitable. I again and again returned to this point, but always got the same answer. . . .

"I told Herr Hitler we would not abandon Poland to her fate, but I made the entirely personal suggestion that M. Beck [Polish foreign minister] and Herr von Ribbentrop [German foreign minister] should meet somewhere and discuss the way out which alone might save Europe from war.

Says Japan Would Be Winner.

"Herr Hitler's reply was that he had invited M. Beck to come and talk the matter over last March only to have his invitation flatly refused.

"The only intervention by Herr von Ribbentrop in this discussion was to confirm this and to say that M. Lipski [Polish ambassador to Berlin], who had had to convey this message was obliged to put it in other words to soften the abruptness of it.

"When I kept saying that his majesty's government could not in my opinion consider his offer unless it meant at the same time a peaceful settlement with Poland, Herr Hitler said:

"'If you think it useless then do not send my offer at all.'

"Among various points mentioned by Herr Hitler were: That the only winner in another European war would be Japan, that he was by nature an artist, not a politician, and that once the Polish question was settled he would end his life as an artist and not as a warmonger.

"He did not want to turn Germany into nothing but a military barracks and he would only do so if forced to do so; that once the Polish question was settled he himself would settle down; that he had no interest in making Britain break her word to Poland; that he had no wish to be small-minded in any settlement with Poland, and that all he required for an agreement with her was a gesture from Britain to indicate that she would not be unreasonable. . . ."

Henderson then flew to London. The document went on to relate the envoy's receipt of Hitler's answer to a British suggestion for direct discussion between the German and Polish governments.

Recalls "Heated Remarks."

Henderson reported that he had told Hitler that the German demands for a Polish plenipotentiary to visit Hitler the following day sounded like an ultimatum.

"After some heated remarks," he said, both Hitler and Von Ribbentrop assured Henderson they only intended to stress the urgency of the moment.

Henderson in a telegram to Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, said: "The interview was of a stormy character and Herr Hitler was far less reasonable than yesterday.

"He kept saying that he wanted British friendship more than anything in the world, but he could not sacrifice Germany's vital interests for it.

"In reply to his reiterated statements that direct negotiations with Poland even though accepted by him would be bound to fail, I told him that their success or failure depended on his good will or the reverse and that the choice lay with him."

On Aug. 22, when Henderson carried to Hitler Prime Minister Chamberlain's letter suggesting a truce to permit direct discussions between Poland and Germany in regard to minority populations, Henderson reported Hitler was "excitable and uncompromising."

Attacks British Diplomacy.

Later that day, Henderson said, Hitler "was quite calm and never raised his voice once." He added that the Fuehrer was "far more categoric than in written reply as to his determination to attack Poland," "if another German were ill-treated in Poland.'"

In this interview Henderson said he "spoke of the tragedy of war and of his [Hitler's] immense responsibility, but his answer was that it would be all England's fault. I refuted this only to learn from him that England was determined to destroy and exterminate Germany.

Hitler, Henderson continued, said: "It was England who was fighting for lesser races whereas he [Hitler] was fighting only for Germany."

During the interview, the envoy reported, Hitler observed that England had forced him into an agreement with Russia. Henderson said Hitler "did not seem enthusiastic over it, but added that once he made an agreement it would be for a long period."

To Britain's suggestion for discussions in a peaceful atmosphere the ambassador said Hitler announced his intention to mobilize the German forces and concluded: "I have all my life fought for Anglo-German friendship; the attitude adopted by British diplomacy—at any rate up to the present—has, however, convinced me of the futility of such an attempt. Should there by any chance in this respect in the future nobody would be happier than I."

The ambassador and Goering also discussed the outcome of a war between Germany and Britain, Goering saying Germany's history was one of ups and downs, and that this was an up period.

On his fateful interview with Von Ribbentrop on Aug. 30, Henderson reported:

I Saw Quality at Fannie May!

★ Recently Mr. R. R. McKNIGHT, of the Esco Engineering Laboratories, visited the Fannie May Kitchens—and this is what he says . . .

"I am a research engineer, and the minute I saw in the Fannie May Kitchens a flavoring that I knew cost five times as much as ordinary, I said to myself—'These folks make a quality product.' Later in my visit, I tasted the candy into which the flavoring was blended, and my first judgment was right—Fannie May Candy is certainly fine quality."

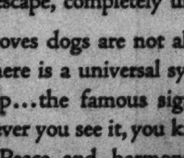
Enjoy "the Scotch with a Story"



Captain Harold A. White, explorer and world traveler, relates his fascinating experiences in this White Horse series. Follow it week by week.

Marooned on an Ant-Hill by 40 Wild Dogs of Ethiopia

A pack of man-killing canines closes in on two men. These wild dogs of Ethiopia can out-wait, out-watch and out-wit almost anything alive. Forced up an ant-hill, Captain White and his gun-bearer seem doomed! They have twelve bullets, but with forty dogs in the pack, they might as well have none. Suddenly one dog jumps so close, his fangs are inches away! Bang . . . a bullet stops his howling. Then hell breaks loose. The whole shrieking pack leaps . . . not at the men . . . but upon the one dead dog. Three more bullets add to the feast. Captain White and his aide escape, completely unnoticed.

That story proves dogs are not always man's best friend. But there is a universal symbol of warmth and friendship . . . the famous sign of the White Horse. Wherever you see it, you know good fellowship abides. Peace and harmony always follow those familiar words, "Let's talk it over a White Horse and soda." Once you try this famous Scotch, you will join the world in saying: "Match it if you can!"

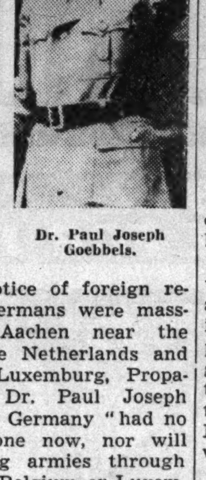
BERLIN ADMITS ENGLISH ARE ON WESTERN FRONT

Will Not Invade Neutral Lands, Nazis Pledge.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—Germany admitted officially today that the English now are joining the battle on the western front. Hitherto the participation of the English had been ignored.



Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels.

The high command's communique reported that "three captive balloons and eight enemy airplanes were shot down" on the western front. It was added that two of the planes were English and had English crews.

Also, taking notice of foreign reports that the Germans were massing troops at Aachen near the frontier with The Netherlands and Belgium, above Luxemburg, Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels declared Germany "had no intention, has none now, nor will have" of sending armies through The Netherlands, Belgium or Luxemburg.

Denies Revolts in Bohemia.

Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, war commissar and commander in chief of soviet Russia's armed forces, is scheduled to visit Berlin on Oct. 1 or 2. At present the German military mission in Moscow is returning the visit of Gen. Maxim Purkajev to Berlin on Sept. 3 and is arranging details of the German and Russian withdrawal from an unrevealed demarkation line in Poland.

It was stated that Germans already are withdrawing westward of a line from Brest-Litovsk to Lwow [Lemberg] and the Russians are occupying positions immediately "without allowing a vacuum to develop."

Germans continued to speak of the battle of the "big bend of the Vistula river" and some officers called it the "greatest of all time." In the pocket formed by a line from Lodz to Kutno and the Bzura and Vistula rivers, prisoners and booty still were being taken. Germans also announced large captures in the southeastern region near Zamosc and Tomaszow.

Seek to Dissuade Poles.

Polish resistance continued at four points: In Warsaw, at the Modlin fortress, 12 miles northwest of Warsaw, on the Hela Peninsula which points at Danzig, and at Gora Kalwarja, southeast of Warsaw.

The German radio still is pouring out broadcasts in Polish telling Poland that resistance is useless because the troops which have not surrendered are completely encircled and there are no other Polish troops left to come to their rescue. The Germans tell the Poles that England is not lifting a finger to aid them.

It was disclosed that the German eastern army is preparing for a final blow against Warsaw. "The exact time of the attack will be announced in a report of the high command," it was said.

Eye American Congress.

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP).—Germany directed her eyes tonight across the Atlantic to the special session of congress which the press called "the most important event since the outbreak of the European conflict."

The German point of view is that the United States of America stood to gain by staying out of the war.

Included in the articles on America was one by Karl Megerle, foreign affairs expert of the Boersenzeitung, the organ of the armed forces, who said the United States had fallen heir to Anglo-Saxon world leadership.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Are you in favor of the government raising the army as quickly as possible to the strength authorized by congress?

Where Asked.

In the loop.

John W. Godfrey, 2026 North Clark street, salesman—I believe it is more desirable to promote the technical and mechanical end of the army, navy, and air defenses. There seems to be little particular rush for increasing the combat forces. Army training should be through the R. O. T. C. and National Guard.

Mrs. Margaret Hartman, 2935 North Mason avenue, housewife—Yes. I believe that we should be fully protected and the only way that we can feel secure is to have an adequate army and navy. One cannot tell what Hitler might do, but we should be prepared for any eventuality.

Frank Waldherr, 5912 North Paulina street, insurance broker—Yes, by all means. We now have insufficient forces to protect our coast and borders against a first class power. I am speaking as a former army officer. The quicker we increase our defenses the better it will be.

James Manning, 4634 Drexel boulevard, supervisor—I favor raising the army to a war footing immediately to be prepared for any contingencies. A good way to keep out of war is to be fully prepared. If war should come we will then be in a better position.

Miss Helen Dzikie, 5020 Gunnison street, saleslady—Yes, I am in favor of increasing the size of the army immediately. There should be no delay in making our defenses adequate to protect this country. We will feel much safer in case of any emergency.

MEMBERS SPLIT IN LABOR BOARD GLASS DECISION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21 [Special].—Dr. W. M. Leiserson, a member of the National Labor Relations board, in a dissenting decision today asserted that Chairman J. Warren Madden and Edwin S. Smith had denied employés of the Crystal City, Mo., plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company the right freely to choose their collective bargaining representative. He charged that the majority of the labor board had imposed a C. I. O. affiliate as representative of these employés.

The majority opinion held that the company had violated the Wagner act by refusing to bargain with the Federation of Flat Glass Workers as agent for its six plants. The C. I. O. admittedly represented a majority of the employés in five plants, but not in the Crystal City plant, the largest one. The company had not refused to bargain with the C. I. O. as representing the men in the five plants, but had refused to bargain with the union for the sixth plant.

The other plants are at Mount Vernon, O.; Clarksburg, W. Va.; Henryetta, Okla.; Creighton, Pa., and Ford City, Pa.

In his dissenting opinion Dr. Leiserson compared the ruling to that of employers who "impose labor organizations on their employés."

JUTLAND BLAMES ACOUSTICS FOR SEA WAR SCARE

FREDERIKSHAVN, Denmark, Sept. 21 (AP).—Inhabitants along the east coast of Jutland, strategic point for belligerent navies, settled down to their tranquil existence today after a scare over reports of heavy cannonading at sea.

There was no report of a naval battle in the Baltic and some of the fishermen who reported hearing heavy gunfire yesterday decided the acoustics around the islands were playing them tricks.

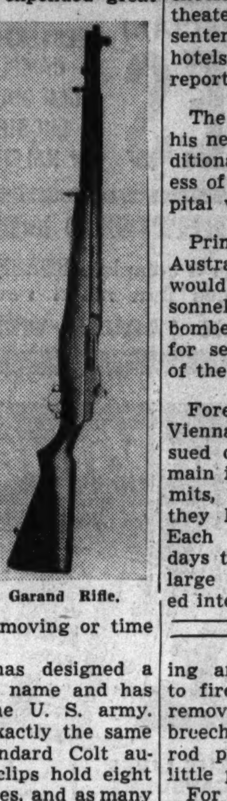
Some interpreted the sounds as coming from Swedish artillery practice, while others reported they saw warships at the time the gunfire ceased. Fishermen at Saeby said they observed searchlights playing over the water three hours later.

NEW ARMY RIFLE HELD EQUAL OF 3 SPRINGFIELDS

Semiautomatic Is Nearly Perfect for Combat.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

For many years the United States army ordinance has expended great effort in searching for a satisfactory semiautomatic rifle. While the old bolt action single shot Springfield is famed for its accuracy and dependability, modern warfare demands greater fire volume than it is possible to attain with single shot weapons. It also has long been known that a greater percentage of hits is realized from a group of shots fired automatically than from an equal number of shots from a bolt action gun. Especially is this true where target is moving or time element limited.



Garand Rifle.

John C. Garand has designed a gun which bears his name and has been accepted by the U. S. army. The gun works on exactly the same principle as the standard Colt automatic pistol. The clips hold eight calibre thirty cartridges, and as many as twelve clips per minute can be fired by an expert. Automatic loading and ejection enables a soldier to fire an entire clip without once removing gun from shoulder. The breech mechanism is worked by a rod propelled by gas controled by little ports.

For short periods of fire the Garand gun is said to be the equal of three Springfields. That is, by equipping our army with the new gun we immediately increase the fire power of a given unit three-fold. Antiaircraft work is particularly suited to the weapon, because the kick or recoil, being largely taken up by bolt mechanism, is slight, therefore, the soldier can keep his aim constantly on the attacking ship while firing an entire clip.

The clips are inserted by hand. There is a small lever in place of the old bolt which is used for the initial cocking and opening slot for insertion of clips. The gun weighs slightly over nine pounds, has seventy-four parts and costs at present $102. When quantity production takes place the cost will be reduced about 20 per cent.

Only 15,000 Available.

Despite the great advantage of this new weapon, the government has only 15,000 of them. In mass production, spokesmen say, 2,345 gages, 1,766 fixtures, 1,386 special tools and 79 punches and dies would be needed before the gun could be turned out in volume. Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, chief of ordnance, appearing before a subcommittee of the house appropriations committee in support of further appropriations, said:

"We are making these rifles at the rate of 40 per day, and we dare not make them any faster because if we do we will run out of production before we get money for additional rifles and that would mean disruption of the organization."

At that time congress had appropriated for only 12,500 of the rifles. Since that time production has been stepped up to 300 a week.

Excellent Combat Weapon.

The Garand rifle is said by experts to be pretty well perfect for a combat weapon. From Fort Sill comes the news that one malfunction was recorded in firing 50,000 rounds of ammunition. At routine endurance test at Springfield armory two malfunctions occurred in 6,000 rounds fired. Instructions have gone out to the infantry that these guns be oiled every 400 rounds and cleaned after every 1,000 rounds. No tools are necessary to take the gun apart for cleaning. The only maintenance it demands is the scraping of carbon from the gas cylinder plug after 1,000 rounds have been fired. A small screw driver is required for this job.

NAZI ARMY CARES FOR 5 AMERICANS FLEEING WARSAW

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP).—The German news agency D. N. B. reported tonight from Brest-Litovsk, Poland, that two American women and three men were recovering from exhaustion in a German military hospital after a "terrifying" flight from Warsaw.

According to D. N. B. the Americans traveled afoot for long stretches and were menaced by "irresponsible bands" several times when their passports were not recognized.

In this group were youthful Miss D. Laurel Hucheson, a New York dancer know in Germany as Delores Laurel; Josef Panck, an interior decorator, and his wife, Sovia, of Santa Barbara, Cal.; a machinist, Waclaw Francuk of Lynn [no state given], and a laborer, Peter Lodzinski of Jamaica, N. Y.

WHAT THE VITALITY BOOST DID FOR HARVEY RINGEL 5200 HARPER AVE. CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

THE VITALITY BOOST offered just what I seemed to need. I was getting enough hours of sleep, was perfectly well . . . yet I didn't have the old pep. So I started my nightly glass of Bowman Milk.

NOW I GET UP in the morning feeling like a million. I sleep like a log and my appetite at meals simply amazes my wife. I can't help but attribute it to the Vitality Boost I've been getting.

LONG DAYS of teaching used to make me irritable and impatient with my pupils. Since I've been taking the Vitality Boost my disposition has improved as well as the way I feel.

THE VITALITY BOOST is one habit I'm sticking to. And there's only one brand of milk to take it with, as far as I'm concerned. That's Bowman's . . . it really is the Milk of Superior Flavor!

Try the Vitality Boost . . . to feel better!

● When you wake up in the morning are you completely refreshed? Do you build up a sufficient reserve during your sleeping hours to sail you into the day's work?

Your sleeping hours, you know, are the one period when you can hope to rebuild your strength and vitality faster than it's being torn down. If you don't, something serious may be wrong and you should see a doctor.

But if you are perfectly well, try the Vitality Boost. It's simply this . . . a glass of Bowman Milk, hot or cold, each night at bedtime.

What the Vitality Boost does for you

Science commends the Vitality Boost for three medically sound reasons:

You take it when your stomach is empty. Preventing hunger pangs, it helps you get more restful sleep.

It reduces the tax on your energy store that even sleeping takes. (Your body's need of fuel each sleeping hour is actually 40% of the average for all your waking, working hours! That's because your heart keeps pumping, breathing continues, "relaxed" muscles are always under tension.)

And, third, it gives your body, in easily digestible form, a greater variety of nutritional essentials than any other food can provide!

Fresh milk is outstanding as a source of calcium and vitamins A and G . . . three of the four food requisites needed in abundance for retaining what scientists call "the characteristics of youth."

So tomorrow night, start getting your Vitality Boost. Drink a full glass of fresh, pure Bowman Milk at bedtime. You'll enjoy it particularly if the milk is Bowman's. More people in Chicago and vicinity drink Bowman Milk than any other kind. Produced with extra care, it has a specially delicious flavor.

Do this not once but night after night for a month. See if you don't get more good from your sleep. See if your Vitality Boost doesn't make you feel a lot better.

THE WAR PARTIES.

If congress were starting from scratch to determine what, in the event of a foreign war not yet begun, would be the best neutral policy for the United States to adopt, there could be an honest difference of opinion. Some people might, and some honestly do, argue that the cash and carry plan of selling goods and materials, including implements of war, would be the best method of dealing impartially with all the belligerents. The one which could control the sea or protect its shipping could reach our markets and we would have no other part in the business except to sell to cash customers who took away the goods in their own ships.

Other people, with an equal show of reason and with an even greater stress on the ethics, might argue for the present embargo on specified implements of war, although these include only a few and probably not the most important articles needed by a country at war. Still other people might think it best that there should be no special legislation whatever and that the government should act under old international usage and law regarding neutral trade and rights.

The circumstances in which such a discussion might be had in congress do not, however, at this time exist. They did when the neutrality act was passed in '37. The purpose in passing the act at that time, before there was a war, was to establish in times of peace the rules which would govern America if other countries went to war. The fairness of this, it was argued, was to be found in the fact that all nations knew what to expect of the United States and none could justly say that America had adopted certain rules after the outbreak of war and that these rules purposely made discriminations contrary to true neutrality to do injury in one direction and give aid in another.

Discrimination, it was said then, would not be neutrality. It was generally conceded that the virtue of the rules lay in their predetermination. Whatever the opinion was as to the precise merits of the law as passed, there was general agreement as to its fairness, and people thought at the time that it would remove some of the danger that in a general conflict Americans could not maintain their neutrality.

Certain elements of the people now want to repeal or modify the embargo and permit the sale of munitions.

Some of these people sincerely believe that modification will give added security to our country—protecting it against war. Other proponents of cash and carry are moved primarily by a desire to help the French and British win the conflict. That element wants to abandon neutrality, while saying they wish to preserve it. This is a hypocritical or a foolish inconsistency. It follows the theory that a nation can pick sides in a conflict, select the nations it will aid, take all steps short of war, and still be regarded as a neutral noncombatant. That, it must seem to many sensible people, is muddled reasoning and a dangerous line of thought.

Some of the people who favor this choosing of sides are guided by sentiment and some of them by more specific intents. There are three war parties in this country and they combine to seek action increasing the probability, if not inviting the inevitability, that a war of a year or more in Europe will find an American army overseas again.

One of these war parties contains persons who think their continuance in public office and authority will be guaranteed by military intervention in Europe. They figure that not only the party in power but the persons in authority when a war begins will be carried over into another term to prosecute it. They think that a successful appeal to the country can be made to continue a war government. People would hear a great deal about adjourning politics and about the dropping of party labels. It may be noted that in the British war dictatorship all by-elections for parliament have been canceled and that it is planned to cancel the full election of November, 1940, if Great Britain is at war at that time. One American war party thinks that the tradition against the third term would disappear if the United States were fighting overseas.

There is another war party which believes that war would bring about a permanent change in American social, political, and economic conditions. The milder minded of this party refer back to the temporary changes in national activity made by the world war and to what they call the unselfish, unified national efforts which for the time changed the national psychology and made possible an approach to the collectivized state. This, they think, would be repeated with permanent results if the nation were thrown again into a tremendous war. The tougher minded gentry go beyond this hopeful idea and believe that if the United States were involved in a general world catastrophe the American form of government would be completely overthrown, capitalism destroyed, and the communist state placed upon the ruins of representative government and private enterprise. That is the hope of all Reds.

The Reds believe that if the capitalist world can be thrown into another conflict more exhausting than the one it barely survived in Europe the last time, it will be forever finished—not, however, if the United States remains out of the wreckage. Our own American Reds are even redder in the face than they are in their doctrine these days. They are giddy with whirling about trying to follow the Moscow line, not knowing from day to day where it is. Wherever Stalin is going they are following, difficult as it is to imagine what he is doing and why. It is hard to be orthodox to another man's shifting heresies but our communists are doing the best they can.

The third war party is composed of our colonials. They believe that it is even more the duty of the United States than of Canada to assist Great Britain, forever the mother country to them, in its wars. When Mr. Chamberlain decided that Poland should not be asked to consider the return of Danzig, he decided the issue for his American followers. When he decided that this time he would go to war, he decided for them also. There are reservations to their subscription: not all of them intend to offer themselves. Very few of them would be found in the front line. They think of war as something fought by young men they do not know, who appear out of the vast population and agree to sacrifice themselves for causes which the colonials adopt. Somewhere in the hinterland there is a great peasantry which can be conscripted for battle service.

The fact that these three American war parties have backed the repeal of the embargo is a weighty argument against it.

DYING FOR DANZIG.

Some Poles are still fighting courageously, desperately, and forlornly—but not with the support of their government or under the direction of their army commander and his staff. Marshal Smigly-Rydz and the high command skipped to Rumania. President Ignace Moscicki, Foreign Minister Josef Beck, and the other high officers of the government are in the same sanctuary.

The gentlemen who made the war were not bitter enders. Survivors of the shattered troops—peasant boys and young officers—may fight on, but the gentlemen of government whose chests were out toward the enemy in the preliminary test of nerves and the diplomatic exchanges departed while the roads and frontiers were open, and they took plenty of this world's goods with them. They can survive the wreckage of Poland and may hope to make another war.

When Franco suddenly smashed all resistance in Catalonia and then turned on Madrid, he did not catch any high government officials of the régime he had overthrown. They had made good their departure to France with plenty of gold. Soldiers were in the surrender, but not statesmen who would fight as long as they were safe. King Zog was the first fugitive out of Albania. He did not even wait for his wife and new born child.

The emperor of Ethiopia need not be regarded as a timid person, but he did not fall with his capital or make a last stand as the Lion of Judah with his troops. He was too important, as the symbol of the state, to grace a Roman triumph. It comported more with his dignity to grace an English country house and draw on a substantial bank account.

But why mention minor characters when greater figures provide history with notable escapes from the downfall of their own great war adventures? The old gentleman at Doorn did not die in a suicidal charge of the Death Head Hussars. They looked very formidable in their mortuary uniforms, but the kaiser rode hard to Holland. It is better for an all highest to saw wood than to face a victor, whatever happens to the people. And Napoleon's coattails were straightened out in the wind every time he thought some other place than the place he happened to be was the place he ought to be.

He deserted his army in Egypt and beat it for France—for reasons of state. No good advice could keep him out of Russia, and no consideration for his troops could keep him in it. The fastest horses and the best sleigh split the freezing Russian winds—for reasons of state—on the way to safety while his army died in the snow. The Old Guard perished at Waterloo, but not Napoleon. He was on his way again on a charger riding fast for Fontainebleau.

The gentlemen who make wars do not fight them. They take the glory of victory and skip from the miseries of defeat. Many a Polish boy who probably did not care a damn about traverses in the corridor and who might not have been able to find Danzig on the map has died since his great marshal and his high officials decided to accept the hospitality of Rumania.

THE R. O. T. C.

The people whom THE TRIBUNE's inquiring reporter asked recently about the Reserve Officers' Training corps were all in favor of it. Their comment stressed the beneficial effect of the training on the boys who receive it, rather than the value of that training to national defense.

The R. O. T. C. units in Chicago high schools may claim fair credit for the community state of mind which these replies reflected. They were the samples who evoked the comment on the value of physical training, of square shoulders, of neat appearance, and poise.

The R. O. T. C., whose senior college graduates are eligible for commissions as reserve officers of the army, is also a great asset to national defense, justifying the pains to which the army has gone to furnish instruction. But aside from military value, it justifies itself fully on the grounds of training good citizens.

GOLD MINES.

[Topeka Capital.]

The average person does not associate gold mining with the Appalachian mountains. But ten of the eastern states produced some gold in 1938. Four mines—two in South Carolina and one each in North Carolina and Virginia—added considerably to the total gold produced in America. Some gold was produced also in Alabama, Georgia, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and Tennessee.

Of course the amount of gold from these states is small compared to what is taken from the great mines in the Rockies and subsidiary mountain ranges of the west. The Homestake mine in the Black Hills produces more gold in one year than has been taken from the eastern states since the country was settled.

It might be pointed out that the greatest store of gold on earth is located along the western escarpments of the Blue Ridge in Kentucky. Seventy-five per cent of all the world's monetary gold is buried at Fort Knox, near Louisville.

Nobody knows what we are going to do with so much gold, but it is there and more is added every time some European potentate stirs up trouble causing the wealthy citizens to send their fortunes here for safekeeping.

MR. PEPYS IN AGONY.

Sept. 21—Did hardly recover from the great heat of last week when another blow fell upon me, and I did become almost distracted. For a crew of journeymen did enter my house and move everything about to put paint on the boards and plaster on the ceilings and paper on the walls, and for three days I could not find my razor, and what became of the bottle of Borneo oil that was curing my baldness, Lord only knows. Even my poor little dog did become low of spirit during this grievous time, and shed most of her hair from worry, and wandered about the rooms looking for her water bowl, which was never in the same place.

Now all this is over and done with, and everything has been set to rights, so they say; but the radio is unhitched and my chest of medicines is helter-skelter, and somebody put a wet sponge on the bright cover of my newest book. So I have been going to my work fuming and fretting, and getting into arguments with my cronies about the war and the way to stop it.

To comfort myself I did go to my hatter's and buy a new beaver, most jaunty, and did wear it with pride; but nobody said, "La, Mr. Pepys, you are much in the fashion." So I did think I might have worn my old soiled hat for the rest of the year, and saved my money, and maybe have gained credit for being a scholar from Harvard university, for at that seat of learning they take a vow to wear ancient hats or none at all.

AUTUMN, 1939.

Enwreathed with asters and bright goldenrod.
And yet my leaden eyes behold a sod
Not yellow in the sun but drenched with red.
The ripened orchard's store, the late mint bed
All have a fetid fragrance as if trod
Upon by feet for martial orders shod;
And sere upon the trees hang leaves long dead.

How sad that I who love the Autumn can
No longer bear its wealth. My grief is that
My door must bar the glitter of the day
While I invent new tasks with dish and pan
Till dusk's slow hours are marked by swaying bat

Things Are Getting Mighty Southern.

Regarding magnolia trees: There is one on the lawn at 5615 Woodlawn avenue and another in Oakwood cemetery, and probably more of them scattered throughout the city. Tulip trees [an allied species] are scarce in the city limits, although they may be found in the dunes and Winnetka and elsewhere in the Chicago region. There are a few Kentucky coffee trees set out in our parks and lawns, but the only one growing spontaneously in the region that I know of is on the Little Calumet river bank near Porter, Ind.

The Poil in the Erster.

The slurring of "r" in the speech of born and bred New Yorkers [Sept. 14] is presumably a heritage of the predominant strain of English blood. As to "goil" and "thoid," certainly no New Yorker of reasonable education and culture uses these corruptions, which are pure Bowery. The popular exponents of this cockney New Yorkese in my youth were Chuck Connors, unofficial mayor of Chinatown, and Steve Brody of bridge jumping fame. Both of these Bowery boys capitalized their clowning in speech and manner by doing turns in vaudeville. I remember Chuck Conners in a dancing sketch with Ada Lewis, dropping his "poils" of speech all over the stage.

"Goil" and its like probably have no distinct racial origin, doubtless having evolved from the polyglot speech of the lower east side, though I imagine the Jewish ingredient in the melting pot was the chief flavoring element. W. G. C.

NERVOUS RESISTANCE TO FOOD.

IT SEEMS almost incredible that, with no organic difficulty in the stomach or the digestive tract, individuals can lose appetite to the point at which they will starve themselves to profound weakness. But every physician recognizes a type of functional abhorrence of food, sometimes accompanied by vomiting. Children, particularly, are ready victims. They all recover, sometimes rapidly, if a change of scene or the rousing of some special interest can be brought about. Occasionally removal from daily contact with father and mother, one of whom has inspired the youngster with fear, is all that is required. A short vacation at grandmother's can work wonders. Now and then the assignment of chores or permitting the body to become physically tired will prove remedial. In other words, the creation of a greater demand for nourishment overcomes the nervous resistance against it.

With adults, however, we may face a ticklish situation and frequently some emotional turmoil may be blamed. The condition may persist long enough to interfere seriously with the functions of certain organs. In consequence, there may arise numerous abdominal symptoms, and many of these persons have had the appendix removed in the hope that, with this focus of infection out of the way, improvement would come. In extreme cases malnutrition may proceed to a dangerous level. It may be necessary, before the tendency is overcome, to give food directly into a vein.

To find the cause, we must hunt for the mental conflict which is directly responsible. Disappointments, defeats, or other upsets may be followed by an antipathy for every item on the menu Even the smell of cooking may induce nausea. At the table the sufferer will go through the motions and nibble at this and that, without taking enough nutriment to keep a canary alive. Sooner or later the blood will be affected, the hemoglobin will drop, and emaciation come on. As a rule, pressure within the arteries is low—and as the digestive secretions fail—vomiting will appear. Some have inaugurated this undesirable chain of events in an effort to avoid obesity. For the most part, however, the patient's attitude is characterized by a sort of childish petulance which is a cover for the real state of affairs. Many know exactly what they want but are not frank enough to express it.

It is not hard to understand why physicians have fed thyroid substance and many other endocrine products on the theory that there must be some glandular deficiency. On the whole, such therapy has been without avail. There is just one way to relieve these unfortunates—namely, by placing them under strict management and then feeding them—forcibly if need be. As soon as they start to gain they will feel better, stop pitying themselves, and begin to use some common sense.

The case of a woman, 26 years old, is cited. This patient, grieving over a love affair, declined every tempting dish. Within a month or two she developed vomiting attacks whenever she sat down to the table. Tablespoonful servings every half hour were given by a pleasant voiced but firm trained nurse. Fluids were soon replaced with solids, and during the intervals her companion did everything possible to reawaken pride, self-respect, and the spirit of independence. Within a month she was gaining at the rate of two pounds per week. Within six she was taking approximately 3,000 calories per day. By the end of the year she was hungry at mealtime and had so far recaptured her poise that she began to go out with young men friends. Her weight, which had gone down to 84 pounds, rose to 132, where it remained.

We may look upon the whole matter as presenting no peptic ulcer, no lack of hydrochloric acid in the secretions, and no anemia that cannot be explained on the basis of too little food. Instead of treating the blood or the vomiting, all we need to do is to restore appetite.

YOUR HEART HASN'T STOPPED!

M. S. writes: When I go to sleep at night my heart stops functioning. I choke for about three minutes and when I get up it starts to function again. Can you advise me what to do to get well?

REPLY.

Your heart keeps ticking right along, otherwise you would not live to tell about it. The chances are that some irregularity is present. This may be due to an overly distended stomach. Do not eat anything after the evening meal and try sleeping in a semireclining posture. If the trouble continues, visit your family physician for a physical check-up.

NOT NEW.

W. writes: What is your opinion of serum for chronic sinus infections? My sister has had various kinds of treatment, but still is bothered, and her physician has suggested a vaccine made from the germs found in her body. Is this something new?

REPLY.

The use of vaccines made from organisms found growing in the discharges is not new. The plan is designed to stimulate body defense against infections. The procedure probably will be helpful.

MUNICIPAL COURT APPEALS.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—In reference to your editorial concerning the investigation of the Municipal court, may I not point out what has always appeared to me to be a fundamental defect in the court.

Originally, the idea was to replace the system of justices of the peace which did not work well in Chicago. Outside Chicago townsfolk know the local justices and at elections can displace the venal ones; justices can be sued on their bond for misconduct, and an appeal can be taken from an unjust judgment to the Circuit court at small cost.

This is not true in Chicago. As shown by the last election the people have no control through elections over judges; the judges here are not under bond, and the right of appeal, in cases involving less than $500 [where the jurisdiction of the justice of the peace ends] is practically denied. Outside Chicago, the appeal would cost but $20 plus a premium for a bond; in Chicago, one must have a stenographer take testimony, and appeal must be taken in all cases to the Appellate court, at an expense of at least $150.

In cases of over $500, a litigant can usually afford to appeal if wronged, but not often is this true when the amount is less. An unjust judgment of $100 might be much more important to a man of small means than one 10 times that size to a more affluent man, yet it is ridiculous to take an appeal at a cost of more than the judgment. The result is that the minority of venal judges can with impunity repay a political favor with an unfair decision. Only too often they do so.

As former Judge Edgar Jonas once said, for a vast number of Chicagoans, the Municipal court is their trial court, their Appellate court and their Supreme court; to all extents and purposes, they are deprived of all right of appeal. Why should the people of Chicago have less rights in such a fundamental matter than the people outside of Chicago?

One thing is certain; so long as the Municipal court act remains unchanged in this particular, unfair judgments, dictated by political influence or other motive, will continue without recourse. The act should be changed, and the right of Chicagoans of small means to appeal be restored. Possibly it would be better to restrict the court's jurisdiction as before, to suits for $500 or less from which appeals could be made to the Circuit court.

E. P. BAELE.

HIS VEIN IS SARCASTIC.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—In eight years as an officer in ocean vessels of the United States merchant marine I have seen many strange things. I squandered a good silver rupee to see the mermaid at Aden, I wandered through the Kali Ghat in Calcutta with my eyes wide and my hand to my nose and I once went ashore in Bandar Shapour with the chief to repair an nondrinking Mohammedan official's American refrigerator, finding to our delight that it was filled with canned Milwaukee beer. But while I was seeing these wondrous things I was missing the strangest sight of all, right under my nose.

How did I happen to miss it? Because there was no TRIBUNE delivery service at sea. Here this morning, a thousand miles from ships and deep water, I read a TRIBUNE editorial titled, "Disloyal Sailors," which filled me with awe and foreboding. It described myself and those men I've sailed with for eight years to me in a most alarming manner. It said those ships I sailed in were infested with crews of rabid, insidious communists. And to think that I lived with them, ate with them, got drunk with them, and never suspected it. I am the wiser for reading the editorial. That noisy, hilarious poker game in the P. O. mess was undoubtedly a cover for dire plotting to kill the captain and take the ship to Odessa. In Kidderpore that time when our gang started a fight with a Limey crew over the usual argument about who won the war, wasn't that just a display of militant communism?

The mellow old bos'n who swears and grumbles at the green hands all week and then spends Sunday afternoon teaching them how to splice, isn't he, underneath his simple kindliness, an insidious Red agent? My amiable messmates, and those happy go lucky American men and boys of the crew taking orders cheerfully from officers and captain, laughing, fighting, joking like any other Americans, underneath plotters all . . . "taking guidance from Moscow." Only a few months ago we left Nagasaki, just a few hundred miles from Russia; there might have been a mutiny then. . . . .

How on earth did I escape alive and untainted? Here I am in Chicago, safe, where I can read newspapers and find out about things.

PREPARATION FOR PEACE.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 18.—World war No. 2 will come to an end some day. Europe will probably then be economically bankrupt. The world's remaining supply of gold will probably have found its way to the United States. The capacity of the United States to produce in excess of its own needs will probably then be greatly in excess of what it now is.

Are we to live in a fool's paradise all during world war No. 2, just as we did during world war No. 1, and enter the period of world peace just as poorly prepared for peace as we were in 1919?

Or are we to profit by our experience during the last twenty years, and, while world war No. 2 is on, make thorough and adequate preparation for the peace to follow it?

Why not vigorously advocate adequate studies now and competent preparation for peace in order that the United States may be in position to capitalize its opportunities later on?

If the United States be really wise, it will then prosper for generations to come.

STATUTE OF DESCENT.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 13 [Legal Friend of the People].—Recently a man I knew passed away. Two days later his wife died. They had no children. Each had separate bank accounts and estates. The wife had inherited her mother's property by will. Both parents are dead.

1. If neither man nor wife left a will, can relatives of the wife claim her share of the husband's estate?

2. Can the wife's mother's sister claim more than the wife's father's brother's heirs?

3. Would you advise letting the one lawyer who had charge of their business settle both estates? The brothers of this man have petitioned for appointment of an administrator. The wife's aunt [her mother's sister] has retained the family attorney.

4. Should heirs of the wife's father's relatives also employ a lawyer? R. M.

1. Yes.

2. Yes. The Illinois statute states that there shall be no representation beyond brother's and sister's children.

3. Yes, as far as the facts stated are concerned.

4. Ordinarily it is not necessary for the parties to be separately represented.

RUMANIA AGAIN PIVOTAL STATE IN EUROPEAN WAR

Doubled in Size by 1918 Acquisitions.

The assassination of Premier Armand Calinescu of Rumania and the fear of a new Russo-German coup has again focused attention on Rumania's importance as a pivotal nation in the European war.

In the last war Rumania, then less than half its present size, had some political elements which favored support of the central powers but the country finally went on the side of the allies in return for land concessions.

Rumania's northwestern frontier on Hungary is cited as an example of a land hungry nation forsaking its natural defensive assets. The Rumanians took Transylvania and the plains of Hungary after the world war and while this enlarged their country the Carpathian mountain range, a natural strategic boundary, is no longer the frontier.

Iron Gate in the Middle.

The mountains and the heavily fortified Iron Gate pass, through which the Danube river flows, are now in the middle of the nation.

The principal minerals of Rumania are oil, natural gas, salt, lignite, iron and copper. Flour milling, brewing and distilling are important industries.

Particularly coveted by the Germans are Rumania's abundant oil resources which the Nazis need for their mechanized equipment. The Russians, too, have a motive for a coup against Rumania for Bessarabia, which comprises nearly one-seventh of the land extent of Rumania, was formerly a province of Russia. In addition, Rumania has been a refuge for Poles since the outbreak of the present war and is an important line of communication to Poland from the south.

The territory of old Rumania [the area before the world war] was inhabited in ancient times by a people called the Dacians. They were conquered early in the second century by the Roman Emperor Trajan and many Roman colonists came there.

Some Sympathy for Germany.

When the world war broke out in 1914 Rumania at first maintained armed neutrality. The Hohenzollern Carol I. was the king and there was some sympathy for the central powers. Carol died a few months after the war began and Ferdinand I. came to the throne. His consort was Queen Marie, a princess of the English royal house. Queen Marie, an astute politician, who died recently, is well known to Americans from her visit here in 1926.

On the promise of territories Rumania entered the world war on the side of the allies in August, 1916. The central powers retaliated and at one time occupied more than half the country. The end of the war in 1918 brought to Rumania the lands of Transylvania from Hungary, Bessarabia from Russia, and Bucovina from Austria. Rumania's area had been 53,489 square miles in 1914; in 1918 it increased to 122,282 square miles.

Carol II. Takes Throne.

In 1926 Crown Prince Carol renounced his right to the Rumanian throne because of his love affair with Magda Lupescu, his Jewish mistress, to whom King Ferdinand objected.

His son, Michael, born of Carol's marriage to Princess Helen of Greece, was designated Ferdinand's successor. Ferdinand died in 1927 and the crown fell to Michael, then 5 years old, with a regency controling the country. Carol returned to Bucharest, the Rumanian capital, in June, 1930, received a hearty welcome, and as King Carol II. ascended the throne he had once spurned.

Carol, who is 46 years old, is divorced from Princess Helen. Mme. Lupescu, although out of the news in the last few years, is reported still to wield strong influence with him. The Iron Guard, the pro-Nazi organization which is accused of inspiring the murder of Premier Calinescu, had had its activities suppressed continually by Carol. There have been anti-Semitic outbreaks in Rumania, many of them directed against Mme. Lupescu's position in the realm.

Language Resembles Latin.

The population of Rumania is about 19,500,000. The official church is the Greek Orthodox, which has about 13,300,000 members. The other creeds include 1,800,000 Greek Catholics, 1,200,000 Roman Catholics, 900,000 Jews, 720,000 Reformists, 400,000 Lutherans, 260,000 Moslems and 75,000 Unitarians.

The pure Rumanian physical type, comprising about 70 per cent of the population, seems more definitly Latin than even the Italians and the language is in many respects closer to Latin than is the Italian tongue. The Magyar type is found in Transylvania and there are many Germans in the Carpathian region. Turks form some of the population in the Dobruja region and the Russian element is strong in Bessarabia.

FEAR RUMANIAN INVASION AFTER ASSASSINATION

Italians Regard It as Peace Barrier.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Sept. 21.—Assassination of Prime Minister Armand Calinescu of Rumania, comes as a shock to the Italian people, who regard it as an ill omen for the peace moves they have been expecting to develop at any moment.

Little was known about the actual assassination here tonight, but the mere fact that he was slain makes the public wonder if Germany and Russia are planning to march into Rumania to "restore order."

Italian Public Uneasy.

Following the Russian invasion of Poland, a source close to the government told THE TRIBUNE that Italy did not expect any interference by the soviet or Germany with Rumania as this country, as well as the remainder of the Balkans, was regarded by Italy as her sphere of influence.

But the Russian and German penchant for doing the unexpected is what makes the man in the street uneasy. It is considered certain here that military action against Rumania by Adolf Hitler or Josef Stalin would be regarded with distinct disfavor by Italy.

Stress Futility of Fighting.

The Italian press has been stressing the futility of further fighting since Hitler has declared his western, eastern, and southern frontiers now are stabilized.

Considerable space was given in the Italian press today to a story from Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia, that asserted Jugo-Slavia intends to remain neutral and reports a neutral bloc may be formed in this sector under Italian guidance. The Balkans, the article says, must stick together.

KEEP AMERICAN SHIPS AT HOME, PRESIDENT URGED

The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, in behalf of its 110,000 members of military age, appealed yesterday to President Roosevelt to keep American ships at home and avoid war. The appeal was sent from Chicago headquarters by Perry Pipkin, of Memphis, Tenn., chamber president. It stated the organization's policy on neutrality issue, and urged a complete embargo on all shipments to warring nations, or a complete cash and carry arrangement, with American vessels barred from carrying contraband.

friend of Carol's who received the king at the Bucharest airport when he flew back to Rumania from exile in 1930, was made minister of the interior in charge of the nation's police.

The vital post of war minister was assigned to Gen. Gaibriel Marinescu known as a bitter opponent of the Iron Guard and as a friend of France and Great Britain. All other cabinet posts will remain as they were under Calinescu, it was announced.

Carol Presides at Meeting.

Gen. Argesanu was appointed at a crown council meeting over which Carol presided. The new premier immediately held a cabinet council session.

The cabinet was expected to issue an appeal to the nation for calm and loyalty and to promise to crush the remnants of the outlawed Iron Guard. Premier Calinescu often had accused the organization of taking money and orders from Berlin.

Military police placed heavy reenforcements around all ministries, the general postoffice, and other public buildings. Police went through the streets halting automobiles and demanding identification of passengers, who often were searched for arms. Many pedestrians were subjected to the same examination.

Public Funeral Decreed.

King Carol decreed a huge public funeral for Calinescu. Meanwhile, his body lay in state.

The press department of the premier's office issued a communique during the evening declaring that "investigation thus far has failed to show any ramifications in the plot which can be traced to a foreign country." It continued:

"Political circles think it is not likely that an international explanation can be given to the plot, the less so as Calinescu was correct and strict in his policy of a neutral international program."

However, a phrase in an early government statement that the leader of Calinescu's assassins had returned to Rumania six weeks ago from the Ukraine caught the eye of foreign diplomats.

Lawyer Called Chief Plotter.

This communique said that the assassination of the premier was organized by a lawyer named George Dumitrescu.

Dumitrescu was said to have succeeded the late Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, Rumania's "Little Hitler" and Iron Guard leader who was killed with a group of his followers in a reported attempt to escape prison Nov. 30. Calinescu, as minister of the interior, directed the government campaign against the Iron Guard at that time.

The communique said Dumitrescu had returned secretly to Bucharest from the Ukraine six weeks ago.

Calinescu was riding in his automobile to the royal palace when the assassins sprang their plot. A pushcart was shoved into the path of the premier's car, blocking it. Police said this was done by a young woman. Other automobiles, bearing the masked slayers, converged on the premier's car.

Officer Also Slain.

One car drew alongside. Masked men jumped out and opened fire. First reports said they had used machine guns, but the government communique told of the shooting in this way:

"At this moment unknown persons fired their automatic pistols. A police officer jumped from Premier Calinescu's car, but was killed immediately with fourteen bullets.

"The premier had two bullets through the heart, while one went through an eye."

Calinescu was rushed to University hospital, but he died on the way. Altogether, police said, six shots were found in his body.

Speed to Radio Station.

After the slaying the assassins were said to have jumped into two automobiles in which they sped to the radio station. There they shot the doorman in the leg, rushed past him into the building, and tossed "explosive rockets"

Waving revolvers, the assassins broke into the announcer's room and one man shouted into the microphone:

Another one screamed:

"The time for revenge has come!"

A third one then broadcast:

"Codreanu has been avenged!"

Some thought that these declarations may have been a rallying cry to Iron Guard members throughout the country to rise.

A woman announcer who was in the station at the time of the raid was said to have fainted and failed to recover consciousness for more than two hours.

While the slayers were inside, the wounded doorman gave the alarm. Police and troops surrounded the building. Seven youths waiting on the first floor were arrested.

Two suspects were arrested at the scene of the shooting, which was near a bridge over Damboulviza river only five minutes' walk from Cotroceni castle, where King Carol is living during repairs to the royal residence in the center of the city.

Two other members of the assassination band, who were not arrested, were said to have barricaded themselves in an unoccupied mansion in Bratianu boulevard, then committed suicide.

Police said one of the assassins was only 19 years old and burst out laughing when they began to question him. Those who were captured in the radio station were taken by an unarmed attendant there, police stated.

Drop Revolvers to Floor.

The attendant walked up behind them and cried:

"Hands up, you are all under arrest."

Rumanian police on several other occasions had reported discovery of Iron Guard plots against the premier as well as against King Carol. Calinescu became head of the government March 7, 1939, succeeding the late Dr. Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Rumanian church, who had created a national government.

On June 17 police announced that Iron Guardists had planned to assassinate Calinescu as well as the king with hand grenades at a race track.

Despite the frequent reported discovery of such plots against him, the premier steadfastly refused to have a bodyguard. It was said that Calinescu told King Carol when the monarch begged him to employ guards:

Mainstay to King.

A small man with a big black monocle over a sightless left eye, Calinescu had been one of King Carol's mainstays in effecting governmental changes under which the king became a virtual dictator. Calinescu was comparatively young for the premiership—46. He was educated in France. His first job was a minor judgeship. Then he was attorney for the Peasant party and later became prominent in parliament. His first government post was minister of education.

He became minister of the interior under the anti-Semitic Octavian Goga Dec. 28, 1937, and kept the position under Cristea, later taking the additional post of war minister and vice-premier. He lost the sight of one eye when he was 4 years old. A nurse mistook acid for eyewash.

Anti-Semitic in Character.

The Iron Guard organization at the outset was largely anti-Semitic. Codreanu, its youthful leader, rallied many university students to its standard. One of his earliest exploits as Iron Guard leader was the shooting of the police prefect of Jassy for severity in suppressing anti-Jewish student riots.

WOMEN TO SERVE ON NEW PANEL OF FEDERAL JURY

For the first time women are to be permitted to serve on federal juries in Chicago beginning next month. Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe issued an order yesterday directing that women's names be included in tomorrow's drawing for the October venires. This is in line with the law passed at the last session of the legislature permitting women to serve on juries in the state courts.

The District court here, serving ten counties making up the federal district of northern Illinois, is the first in the state to accept women for jury service.

The drawing will be held in the office of Hoyt King, clerk of the District court, on the sixth floor of the United States courthouse. For the regular court juries 100 names will be drawn, while for the grand jury there will be 60 names. King said about 1,000 names will be put in the box, evenly divided among men and women.

WOMAN DRIVER IS HELD IN NEUTRAL JAIL BY 2 SUBURBS ON 3 CHARGES

Mrs. Elizabeth Umberger, 43 years old, 321 North Main street, Lombard, was in a "neutral" jail cell in Evanston last night after her automobile had caused injury to two persons in two other north suburbs.

Her first victim was Richard Hanson, 16, of 1714 Thorndale avenue, Chicago, who was riding a bicycle on Skokie road west of Wilmette. The boy was taken to a Wilmette hospital, and the police started a hunt for the car that hit him and drove on.

Then, at Oakton street and Skokie road in Niles Center, Mrs. Umberger's car struck that of Bernard Pietruzka, 2200 North Leavitt street. Mrs. Umberger was arrested by Niles Center police, and Wilmette put in its claim. Evanston finally was decided upon as a central point at which to hold her, so she was there last night on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, drunken driving, and drunk and disorderly conduct.

None of your five senses:—
1. Sight; 2. Smell; 3. Hearing; 4. Taste; 5. Touch . . . can help you judge gasoline in the raw. That puts "shopping for big value" out of the question.

But there is an easy, simple way to discover the money-saving facts about Phillips 66 Poly Gas! Just try a tankful in your car.

Phillips confidently invites such comparison, because we believe Phillips 66 Poly Gas is the most sensational, self-demonstrating gasoline ever offered.

Phillips 66 was the pioneer and is still the pace setter among weather-matched gasolines. Phillips 66 anti-knock rating is unsurpassed at its price. LETTER TELLS OF LIFE IN BRITISH REFUGEE TOWNS

Everybody Is Dissatisfied, Says Woman Writer.

Since the British evacuated thousands of Londoners in fear of air raids three weeks ago, many Americans have wondered how the "evacuees" got on with the folk in whose rural and small town homes they were quartered.

This question and another — how much are the English people being told about the war?—are answered with considerable feeling in a letter received by a Chicago attorney from a young English woman. The names of both as well as the name of the town in which she resides are omitted to save her from possible embarrassment at the hands of British officials.

Life in Reception Areas.

"Now most of the evacuation of women and children is done," she writes. "The actual transportation has gone off satisfactorily. What of the life in the reception areas? We will take my home town as an example. In our household we already have eight people—seven of the family, one maid.

"At the best times it is a full household. We have billeted upon us, through the evacuation scheme, a mother and two children of 7 and 5. We spent a long time clearing out for them a downstairs room, making up the beds, and furnishing it for them.

"They arrived yesterday at lunch time. We welcomed them. I put myself out to be very nice to them. They were a better class than we had expected. The woman's husband came down by car in the afternoon to see how they had fared. We gave him tea and sat and talked. We got the children tea, and as they all went out afterward, washed up for them.

Too Late for Breakfast.

"They did not get in until 9:30 that evening, though Mrs. ——— had said her kids went to bed at 6 o'clock. However, we excused them, shut up their room, pulled their blinds for them, etc. In the morning some of us were up at 6 o'clock. We had all started breakfast before the 'evacuees' got up!

"Mrs. ——— told Mummy she would be willing to help in the house—however, this morning, as she had to meet a friend in town, she could not. Mummy had ordered food for them, but she states she will not be in to lunch! They then arrived back at 2 p. m. to say that they were leaving. They have just been to tell the billeting officer that they are not happy here and have found other accommodation.

"She then telephones the authorities and says she has nothing against Mr. ———, but that it is clear we are not of the same class as they and that it would not work. She complains that my brother did not say good morning to her and she says she feels that we look down on her. We are all flabbergasted and furious. Nothing more could we have done.

Same Story Everywhere.

"The same story is to be told everywhere. Ours is a very minor instance."

The young woman then describes the scenes in her town. The London visitors, she said, are having a hilarious holiday, jamming the shops, clogging the streets, going on picnics and criticizing their billets. The streets and grassy countryside are littered, she continues, adding, "The place is a bedlam."

The writer also remarks on the terrific expense of the defense system, vans rented and reconditioned as ambulances and civilian air raid rescue squads who will sit in readiness, in shifts, until the end of the war, though she implies air raids are unlikely in her section.

"It is a tragic farce," she continues. "Millions of pounds are being spent in this defense business.

"We know nothing of the military activities and, I suppose, never will, as it would not be the policy to publish anything of importance."

Saves Pup's Life

Policeman James Mackie and pup whose life he saved.

A small dog, a puppy with big ears and unsteady legs, fell into the Washington park lagoon yesterday afternoon. Its efforts to swim were pathetic, and it was drowning when Park Policeman James Mackie saw its plight. Mackie got two boys in a boat to help, and the pup was brought ashore unconscious. Artificial respiration methods revived it, and Mackie took it home as a pet for his son Charles. The Mackies live at 8536 South Hermitage avenue.

TWO ARE KILLED IN CRASH AFTER POLICE PURSUIT

3 Hurt; Chase Follows Minor Accident.

Two steel workers were killed early today when their car crashed into another at 81st street and Woodlawn avenue while they were being pursued by a policeman. They were Leslie Bogs, 25 years old, 9819 Avenue M, and William O'Neill, 24, of 8828 Harper avenue.

The chase and the accident followed a trafic incident a few minutes earlier. O'Neill and Bogs were riding with Willard Nicolaisen, 20, of 9218 Jeffery avenue, also a steel worker, when Nicolaisen allegedly forced the automobile of Policeman William King to the curb at 85th street and Stony Island avenue and drove upon the curb himself.

Pursuit Follows Crash.

King, who is attached to the South Chicago station, pursued the three and chased them to Woodlawn avenue and 81st street. There Nicolaisen crashed his car into one containing John Hurlburt, 18, and his mother, Mrs. Helen Hurlburt, 45, of 1206 East 82d street. Nicolaisen's car overturned. He and the two Hurlburts were slightly injured. He was arrested by Policeman King.

Richard Bernard, 37, route 1, Arlington Heights, was fatally injured last night in a collision at Rand and Wolf roads, northwest of Des Plaines. Byron Abbott, a farm manager living near Ivanhoe and Rand roads, the other driver, was cut about the legs. They were driving toward each other in Rand road when a third motorist, traveling in Wolf road, cut between and in front of them. Both swerved to avoid him and the two cars collided. Bernard, service manager for Bernard & Lee, Evanston auto sales company, died in the Northwestern hospital, Des Plaines.

Crushed Between Trucks; Dies.

John Kujawa, 47 years old, 5836 Leland avenue, a truck driver, died yesterday in Swedish Covenant hospital of injuries suffered when he was pinned between two coal trucks in the Polonia Coal company yards at 5492 Northwest highway. William Christman, 4844 Kentucky avenue, driver of the truck which pinned Kujawa against a parked machine, was held for an inquest today.

Patrick Stanton, 69 years old, of Riverdale, died last night in county hospital of a skull fracture suffered Sept. 9 when he was run down by an automobile at 138th and Halsted streets, in the suburb. He was a railroad employé.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 601 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 468 were killed in Chicago, where 15,637 were injured in the same period.

DRIVER ZIG-ZAGS HIS WAY INTO EVANSTON JAIL

Police of three north shore suburbs joined last evening in the pursuit and capture of a weaving motorist who had terrorized his wife, riding with him, and hundreds of motorists in busy Green Bay road. At the Evanston police station the man was charged with driving while intoxicated. He is Henry E. Stringfield, 1816 Dempster street, Evanston.

Stringfield, north bound, disregarded a stop order of Policeman Leo Larkin at Central street and Green Bay road, Evanston. Larkin jumped into a car and pursued. A little later Policeman Fred Rayburn of Kenilworth joined the chase.

Disregarding commands to halt, the driver kept on. Meanwhile motorists had called the Winnetka police and Chief W. M. Peterson halted the car.

CENSURE DOCTOR FOR FAKE AID TO TRAFIC VIOLATOR

Dr. Philmour Fink, 3559 North Halsted street, was censured yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli in Safety court when he apologized for issuing a certificate of illness to a Safety court defendant who later was found able to come to court.

The certificate was issued to Claude S. Hicks, 3530 Reta avenue, who was arrested Sept. 11 on a charge of driving while intoxicated. When Hicks' case was called Sept. 12, he did not appear. His wife presented the certificate.

Judge Borrelli sent a police squad to Hicks' home. They discovered that the defendant was able to come to court. He then ordered Dr. Fink to show cause why he should not be held in contempt.

Physician Tell His Side.

Dr. Fink explained that he had been treating Hicks, and believed him to be in ill health the day the certificate was issued.

"The court must be able to place trust on the statement of a doctor or a lawyer in court," Judge Borrelli said. "A man must be very careful in his professional statements. I will accept your apology and I hope this will be a lesson to you."

Judge Borrelli ordered that Hicks and the complaining witness, Aristell Collias, 615 South Halsted street, be in court Sept. 28.

Ray Simmons, colored, 126 West 37th street, was sentenced to 10 days in the Bridewell for reckless driving and fined $20 for failing to possess a state driver's license.

Truck Drivers Jailed.

Three out-of-state truck drivers, who were involved in an accident in Zion, Aug. 27, were sent to cells yesterday by Judge Perry L. Persons in the Lake County court at Waukegan for driving while intoxicated.

The men, Kenneth Suzor of Detroit, Mich., and Fred Elder and William Montgomery of St. Louis, Mo., were in a truck driven by Suzor which struck a car driven by Mrs. Lucille Clifford, 7711 10th avenue, Kenosha, Wis., injuring her and her small daughter, Joan. Suzor got six months at the Vandalia state prison farm. Elder was sentenced to thirty days, and Montgomery to ten days in the Lake county jail.

BUILDERS HALT FLOW OF BEER FROM JAKE'S TAP

Union Squabble Leaves Him Perplexed Man.

Jake Jacobsen, who runs a tavern at 7338 South Racine avenue, was a perplexed man last night. He couldn't figure out, he said, how the building trades unions became the arbiters of a man's qualifications to tend bar.

Jacobsen has one bartender. He and his wife handle the rest of the business. It had been growing for six years. So last June Jacobsen decided to build a new place, with a home on the second floor. The new tavern was started at 7326 South Racine, a few doors away, on the corner. He says he has spent between $20,000 and $25,000 on it, and it needs only two more days' work, plumbing and decorating, to finish it.

Work Held Up.

Jacobsen had expected to move in about Sept. 1. His lease on the old place expired then, but he's still in it, and last night he told why.

"Three weeks ago," he said, "the tilesetters and the carpenters got into a squabble over who should lay the linoleum. Everybody was pulled off the job for a week to settle it. Finally it was decided the job belonged to the carpenters. The tilesetters already had done it, but I paid the carpenters $39 anyway and work went on."

Then, last Monday, Jacobsen said, a man came in who said he was organizer for the bartenders. Jacobsen said he couldn't talk right then, and walked away to serve other customers.

Leaves Muttering Threats.

Customers said that when Varvares left he muttered, "He won't be too busy to talk when all his workmen are pulled off." Varvares was previously arrested as a labor terrorist, but acquitted.

Wednesday, the contractor on the new tavern-home told Jacobsen that work had stopped because he didn't employ union bartenders in his old tavern, Jacobsen said.

Jacobsen said that today he is going to the United States district attorney's office to tell his story. He said he had heard that there was a federal investigation of monopoly in the building trades and he was going to see if there isn't somebody in it to whom he can talk about his troubles.

Six School Girls Molested; Ask Police to Hunt Moron

CALL ALLMAN BEFORE JURY IN GAMBLING QUIZ

Police Commissioner Allman was ordered yesterday to appear before the Cook county grand jury at 11 a. m. today in connection with its investigation into gambling conditions. A subpoena, obtained by Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Bugan, was served on Commissioner Allman by Edward N. Scholler, an investigator for the state's attorney's office.

Commissioner Allman.

The commissioner, it was reported, will be asked to explain police procedure in the arrests of handbook owners. None of those arrested has been convicted this year.

The grand jury began its investigation last week after the state's attorney's office received a supply of information from the federal grand jury probe into the affairs of William R. [Billy] Skidmore, reputed czar of Chicago gambling.

2-Gun Bandit Takes $335 and $250 Ring in Tavern

DISGRUNTLED WOMAN SHOOTS OFFICIAL OF DANVILLE LOAN FIRM

Danville, Ill., Sept. 21 (AP).—Samuel F. Phillips, 63 years old, wealthy president of the Danville Building association, was shot and critically wounded today, Police Chief Richard Johnson said, by a disgruntled woman customer.

Johnson said Mrs. Lester walked into the association's office, asked to see Phillips and, when he appeared, took a .38 caliber pistol from her purse and fired one shot. The bullet struck Phillips above the left eye.

Johnson said Mrs. Lester told him that she and her husband obtained a $1,500 loan on their property and that the association had notified them foreclosure proceedings would be instituted unless payments were forthcoming.

Mrs. Lester was held without charge, pending the outcome of Phillips' condition.

Loses Grip on Rope Swing; Falls Into Quarry, Drowns

An afternoon of play on a single rope swing ended in death yesterday for Robert Lillowitz, 15 years old, of Orland Park. With two other boys he took turns grasping the end of the rope and swinging out over the edge of a water filled quarry. On one swing Robert lost his grip, fell over the quarry edge into the water and drowned. The quarry is at 143d street and Turnpike road, Orland Park township.

SEND ANNENBERG CHARGES TO WIRE SERVICES TODAY

Printed copies of the two federal grand jury indictments charging M. L. Annenberg, Philadephia publisher and New Deal critic, and some of his associates with conducting a lottery through the mails, will be sent today to the heads of three wire services which have been providing the Annenberg interests with facilities for disseminating racing news.

The copies will be addressed to Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in New York; Roy B. White, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, also in New York; and A. H. Mellinger, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company in Chicago. United States District Attorney William J. Campbell said this action is to notify the companies officially that the grand jury considers illegal the use to which their facilities are being put.

Federal officials declined to indicate what action might be taken on the basis of the warnings if they are ignored.

JURORS TO HEAR M'GARRY'S SIDE OF 'FIX' INCIDENT

Municipal Judge Eugene L. McGarry will appear before the Cook county grand jury next Tuesday, at his own request, to tell his story of an alleged "fix" in a burglary case in the Felony court when he was sitting there.

Judge McGarry requested an opportunity to appear in a letter to Harold P. O'Connell, foreman of the jury. For two weeks the jury has been investigating the "fix" charges and the approval of bail bonds in the Municipal court.

The "fix" case involved Frank Klakowicz, a confessed burglar Judge McGarry, it was charged, freed him at the request of Ald. Joseph Rostenkowski [32d].

LABOR RACKET SUSPECT SLAIN AMID CONFETTI

New York, Sept. 21 [Special].—Two men under indictment in Brooklyn in connection with labor racketeering were attacked on the lower east side early today by half a dozen men armed with revolvers and broken bottles.

Beaten, shot at, their bodies and faces ripped by the jagged bottle ends, the two victims were left lying in a confetti splattered street, on which an Italian street festival had just been held. When the police arrived one was dead, the other in a critical condition. Both were hacked almost beyond recognition.

Detectives said some of the men indicted in Brooklyn had shown a willingness to talk They could not say whether today's victims were among the informers.

The dead man was identified by his fingerprints as Joseph La Cava, 38 years old, known as Little Joe, who, police said, owned a café on the Bowery. The other man is Rocco Fago, 40 years old, known as Chickie and as Salvatore Tomari.

Both men were indicted in May on charges of conspiracy and extortion and have been free in bail of $10,000 each. Paul Seiderman, assistant district attorney in Kings [Brooklyn], charged they were organizers of a fake union.

The president of the union, Charles De Luccia, is out on $25,000 bail, and seven of the other members, including the "officers," have been indicted.

The live columns of today's Tribune want ad section offer scores of new opportunities of many kinds. You will find it worth while to review these offers now.

CITY ACTS TO LAY THE DUST ALONG OUR SOUTH SHORE

But It Can't Silence Noise of Pile Drivers.

The city took steps yesterday to remedy conditions that have brought vigorous complaints from residents along South Shore drive, near the site of the city's $21,000,000 filtration plant at 79th street.

City Engineer Loran D. Gayton ordered that oil be put on the roadways and that the breakwater, now under construction, be sprinkled to settle the fine dust that for three months has been befogging the area along the lake between 75th and 79th streets. In addition, he said, workmen with hoses will wet down the gondola cars of slag that are brought up the beach from the steel mills to be used as fill.

Noise Must Go On.

"The contractors were ordered weeks ago to do all these things," Gayton stated. "In the future this office will keep right after them to make sure these orders are carried out."

Gayton added, however, that nothing can be done about the all night noise that has been disturbing the section and has resulted in one $30,000 damage suit against the Fitzsimons & Connell Dredge and Dock company, the contractors.

"We cannot stop the night pile driving," Gayton said. "The terms under which the Public Works administration granted us funds require that work be completed by next July 1. There is much to be done before that time."

It was explained later by Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, that this does not mean the pile driving will go on until next July. That phase of the work should be completed in about twenty days, he declared. The $30,000 suit was filed by an apartment house owner who charged that tenants are breaking their leases and moving out.

Chemists Analyze Dust.

Meanwhile, chemists completed the first of two analyses of the dust which residents of the area declare has caused eye, nose, and throat irritations. A small amount of free silica was found, but the fragments at this time are a little too large to cause silicosis, the lung condition that usually ends in tuberculosis. It is caused by silica particles that imbed themselves permanently in the lungs.

"The particles are large enough to cause coughing and ejection from the bronchial system," said the report. "However, constant trucking over this material and walking upon it will grind the particles finer. Then there could be danger."

In addition, the chemists found that the dust contains much glass—silica that has been fused by the intense heat of the steel plant furnaces, in which it is used as part of the refining process. The glass in the dust is considered more dangerous at present than the silica.

The report recommended that calcium chloride be sprinkled upon the areas where the slag is dumped.

COURT'S ORDER KEEPS HUSBAND FROM BRIDE, 16

Fred Bowker.

Fred Bowker, 21 years old, Oak Park's picket for love, was told by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday to make no further attempts to see his bride, the former Lorraine Landon, 16, high school pupil, until she appears in court Sept. She is in Oak Park hospital recovering from appendicitis operation.

The court continued Bowker contempt citation against Lee S. Landon, the girl's uncle, and habeas corpus proceedings against Arthur Landon, her father. Bowker, an inventor, of 216 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, picketed the home of his bride's grandparents at 700 South Lombard avenue when she was confined there after a Kentucky elopement.

Charles M. Barnett, Bowker's attorney produced Dr. Milton J. Summerville, who said that an examination convinced him the girl was able to leave the hospital. Harry X. Cole, counsel for the bride's family, asked that she be permitted to rest.

71 PCT. OF TAXES PAID TO COUNTY BEFORE DEADLINE

Collections of 1938 taxes in Cook county by the penalty date, Sept. 1, totaled $147,753,700, or 71.7 per cent of all taxes billed, Treasurer John Toman reported yesterday. This was a small drop from last year's collections on 1937 taxes, which totaled $150,584,358 by the second penalty date, or 72.2 per cent of taxes billed.

The ratio of real estate tax collections to bills extended declined for the first time in three years. The rate of personalty and railroad collections increased slightly. Following is a comparison of collections of 1938 and 1937 taxes:

1938.	Extensions.	Collections.	Pct. collected.
Personalty.	50,013,104	29,337,535	58.7
Total	$206,245,975	$147,753,700	71.7
1937.
Personalty	58,493,387	32,780,490	56.3
Railroad	10,607,127	8,888,590	83.8

The tabulations include all payments made by mail and in person at Toman's office or to country town treasurers before penalty dates.

Atmospheric conditions permitting, it is simple on modern receivers to pick up war news direct from European capitals. Shortwave broadcasting is confined mainly to narrow bands located approximately at 16, 19, 25, 31, and 49 meters. At this season of the year listeners usually find the 16 meter band best for European transmissions in the morning hours; the 19 meter, from noon to early evening, and the 25, 31, and 49 later. This may vary somewhat in various sections of the country.

ILLINOIS A. F. OF L. REFUSES TO BACK THIRD TERM PLEA

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21 (AP)—Two resolutions indorsing President Roosevelt for a third term were rejected late today by the Illinois State Federation of Labor convention.

The action was by a voice vote of delegates after almost an hour of debate. The convention accepted the report of its resolutions committee, which recommended "non-concurrence" in the two resolutions.

"This should, however, not be interpreted as a declaration of opposition to the President," said the resolutions committee report, "but rather as an action in strict adherence to the established policy of the A. F. of L. of acting on such questions when the proper time for such action has arrived.

Soon afterward the convention voted to send the President a telegram approving his neutrality message to congress. This action was asked by Delegate Harry Anderson of Rockford.

'NJURED GETTING OFF BUS, WOMAN SUES FOR $50,000

Mrs. Edna J. Turner, 75 years old, a widow, saved her money to enter an old people's home. Six months ago, in stepping off a bus, she was struck by an automobile. She has been in Presbyterian hospital ever since and all her savings have gone for doctor's bills.

These statements were set forth yesterday by Attorney Harry L. Kinser in a $50,000 suit filed in behalf of Mrs. Turner in Superior court against the Bluebird Coach Lines, Inc. She charged that she bought a bus ticket for 63d street and Central avenue, near where she was staying with friends, but was left off a mile west on a four-lane highway when the bus dirver drove past her stop.

DISMISSES PLEA TO CERTIFY STATE PENSION BILL

Judge Francis B. Allegretti yesterday dismissed proceedings to compel Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, to certify as a law the bill providing disability and retirement pensions for 15,000 state employes. Gov. Horner vetoed the bill on July 20.

Attorney Michael F. Ryan, who drafted the act and appeared as representative of several public employé groups under civil service, argued that the bill should automatically have become a law because the governor had not acted on it within ten days after the legislature adjourned June 30.

Judge Allegretti ruled that the governor was allowed ten days, not including holidays, in which to consider the bill after it was presented him. Th governor received it July 8.

BY MARY MEADE.

Prices of almost all foods seem to have pancaked down as quickly as they zoomed upward two weeks ago. All fruits and vegetables, meats and most of the staples are selling at about the same low levels that they were before the boomlet.

Best meat buys for the week-end are found in lamb and pork cuts. Lamb shoulder and breast should prove to be especially good bargains, and some stores will be featuring legs of lamb. Pork loins and bacon will also be kind to your budget. Beef is comparatively high and veal is almost out of the question.

Poultry, including turkeys, is still being widely featured.

Fresh Fruits Near End.

The fresh fruit season is slowly and surely dragging to an end. Peaches will soon be gone. A few fresh ones are coming from New York while Michigan is sending storage peaches. The price is higher, of course.

Fresh prunes are another fruit wearing a somewhat higher price tag this week-end. The quality is good, however, and the price can still be called quite a reasonable one.

Melon prices for the most part have held steady. Cantaloupes swooped upward during the recent hot spell and have never really come back down, but watermelon and honeydew prices are still reasonable. The watermelons, when you find them, are of fine quality, but Mrs. Nature just isn't supplying them so liberally any more.

Apples, a storable fruit which got its share of scare prices, are almost down to normal again. This is one fruit that has been unusually low priced this year. Prices of citrus fruits tend to rise and fall right along with the thermometer, and the recent hot spell brought no exception. Both oranges and lemons spurted upward and the oranges stayed there. The price of lemons is declining again.

Quinces [jelly-makers, please take note] are here from Michigan and the price is moderate.

Vegetables are back on the budget this week-end. Cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, lettuce, onions, and both sweet and white potatoes are cheaper. White potatoes are not quite back to normal, but are much more nearly so than last week. Lettuce, the western iceberg variety, and celery are very low priced.

Tomatoes Somewhat Higher.

Tomatoes are also low priced, although somewhat higher than a few weeks ago. Cucumbers are still reasonable, but most of them are only fair quality and some are downright poor. It looks as if they've passed their prime for pickling use.

Rutabagas and squash are cheap as usual—probably because nobody wants the poor orphans. And that's too bad. Both of these penny-savers can be as good eating as any aristocratic artichoke or asparagus blade. Here is an excellent recipe for Hubbard squash which is making its debut on the market this week:

BAKED SQUASH WITH PINEAPPLE.
[Serves six.]

1 small Hubbard squash
8 tablespoons brown sugar
½ cup crushed pineapple
3 tablespoons butter

Wash squash and cut in halves, removing seeds and stringy portions. Peel off rind and cut into strips ¼ inch thick. Arrange in a shallow greased baking dish, sprinkling with brown sugar and crushed pineapple and dotting with butter. Bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for about an hour, or until squash is tender.

Navy beans and rice are now back to reasonable price levels. Pretty good bargains in flour can be found, but sugar seems to be holding up on the retail market in spite of a tendency to lower wholesale prices.

They Hunted a Fox

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1939: By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Alison Young and her fiancé, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, are week-end guests at Chenerys, the English country estate of Tom Boldre, to attend a fox hunt and ball. Wynn Marchmont, sister of Tom's wife, Pat, is informally engaged to Tom's brother, Derek, a veterinary. Alison overhears a love scene between Pat and Arthur Kingsclere. At the hunt-ball hilarity reigns. Later Tom Boldre defies death by riding his horse bareback up the slippery ancestral stairs. Chenerys is mortgaged to the hilt. Gregg, Tom's agent, urges him to accept an offer made for the estate, but Tom refuses to sell. At the hunt next morning, from a far off hill, Alison and Colin see Tom thrown and a man bending over him. When they reach the accident they find Derek stooping over Tom's prostrate form. A farmer, Glover, happens along and helps them take Tom to his house. Tom, revived, is surprised that Derek rather than his neighbor, Maj. Fitts, found him. Three weeks later Tom is again thrown in the hunting field and dies soon after. Alison visits Wynn at Chenerys. Riding near the scene of Tom's first accident they find the body of a man who'd been shot through the head.

INSTALMENT XI.

A MURDER MYSTERY.

Cool again, Wynn started to remount, but stopped, her foot in the stirrup. Behind the hedge sounded a patter of light, stumbling steps.

"George!" rose a woman's scream. "George!"

She fell on her knees beside the sodden, lifeless body.

Alison telephoned to Colin as soon as they reached the house.

"Glover," her voice was low. "Glover has been murdered. Don't you hear me? We found him, just now."

"Glover." A phlegmatic pause. "Sorry, I'm chewing a kipper. Well, who's Glover? Some one we met at the ball?"

"George Glover. O, Colin! Surely you remember the farmer man who helped us with Tom? Shot dead in the night. Been lying in slimy mud for hours. O, loathsome!"

"O?"

She could have shaken him. "Gosh, can't you scare up just a little excitement? You damned Britishers! You're all the same, unless it's some one of your own class." She glanced behind guiltily. Yes, she had closed the office door. "Here we've got a real murder mystery right on our doorstep, so to speak, and can I get a rise out of any one?"

"What do you want me to do, turn cartwheels, cough up my tea?"

"O, drink your tea! Drown yourself in it and see if I care!"

Down slammed the instrument. She went back to the lounge.

Arthur Kingsclere was there, his riding boots spattered with mud. He and the two sisters were calmly discussing some matter quite unrelated to the murder. She asked him if there was any more news.

"News?" His manner showed faint surprise.

She felt suddenly embarrassed. "Well," she faltered, "Wynn happened to mention that your father is a magistrate. I thought possibly you might have heard something about that body we found."

"O, the shooting affair! No, not a thing." Kingsclere turned back coolly to the others, but the thread of previous discourse seemed broken. "Stafford's laid up with lumbago," he said carelessly, throwing the remark into air. "Appears he's already made up his mind no local person did this, and swearing the yokels down here couldn't solve a child's crossword puzzle without him to direct them. Here's those papers." He tossed a batch of illustrated weeklies into Pat's lap and strolled out to his horse.

"Who is Stafford?" asked Alison.

No, no real interest. Perhaps it was bad taste to display so much curiosity, but in spite of this Alison pressed on. Who were these Glovers?

"The Glovers?" Wynn forced attention and picked up her knitting. "Tom's tenants. Derek's now. Not been here very long. Border people. I'd call her Welsh."

"So that's her funny accent. What are they like?"

"Not too reliable, I'm told. Rather unpopular, and the wife's a bit fly, so Bessie informs me. Derek didn't finish his breakfast, did he? Back at the stables, I expect."

They were only taking the rational view. Alison, as she went to her bedroom for the proofs she had promised to read, felt ashamed that her own nerves should still be so shaky and that her inquisitiveness should leave her no peace. She thought again of George Glover. Pleasant, but just a bit smarmy? The woman, too, ingratiating, sending coy glances at Colin. No, she hadn't liked either overmuch All the same, the man had been alive only three weeks ago. He had been making tea for them, showing sympathetic concern for his landlord, and now he lay on the cold slab of a mortuary, his face blown to ruin.

The morning was cool. Wynn went to the little coat cupboard just inside the entrance to fetch a tweed cape before joining Derek in the grounds, but to her surprise found him there, just changing out of his muddy boots. Suddenly she realized that since their arrival at Chenerys she and Derek had not once been alone in each other's company. Perhaps on both sides there had been a conscious avoidance of any intimacy, a feeling that there was plenty of time and that just now was premature.

"Back already?"

He finished knotting his laces, straightened up and regarded her, curiously tongue tied and flushed. The confined walls hemmed them close. The small room was stuffy, filled with the smell of peat from the tweed coats and capes hung in a row, dim, too, for the one window was matted with ivy. For the first time in months she was aware of Derek's superior inches. She had been feeling maternal about him for so long. Now she noticed how his eyes, all this past year burnt out, had lit with an eager, hot flame. Absurd, this tremor of the pulses! As though a brand new lover were causing her heart to flutter and throb. It was a new Derek who faced her. Did she quite know him?

"Well?" she fended, and laughed.

Had she struggled? No reason, now. Tom, if he were here to see, would be the first to rejoice. Derek's kisses sank deep into her being. She let herself go. Hungrily they clung, lips, bodies, hearts. They were two vibrant, aching halves, come together to form one, indivisible whole.

Steps outside—clipping purposefully in from the drive. Derek's gaze was on the door. Eyes misted, Wynn put his arms gently away.

"Only Fred Fitts." She grimaced, roughly batting her curls into order. "I thought we'd had the daily visitation."

"Fitts, eh? So he's been along before?"

"Of course, why not? Had coffee with us after you cleared out. Naturally this murder business is just his own cup of tea."

She brushed a last kiss on his rather sullen mouth, and hands in pockets sallied forth to greet the major.

"Well," she called idly, "what's the latest bulletin?"

Major Fitts stood fidgeting by the gatelegged table. He stared densely at Wynn, then at Derek, who emerged with one hand flattening a lock of disarranged hair. Now he cleared his throat portentously, but waited till the group was enlarged by Pat and Alison, at that moment coming downstairs. Evidently he had some weighty communication to make, and would not waste it till he had a full audience.

MOTHERS! VARY YOUR CHILDREN'S SCHOOL LUNCHES

Make Them Tempting and Wholesome.

Packing a daily lunch box for school children presents a problem to many mothers. The school lunch should be planned just as carefully as any other meal to include wholesome foods and to insure variety in taste and appearance.

In selecting the food, a special effort should be made to include fresh fruits and vegetables, since these are among the foods most needed, but most often omitted from the lunch box.

Sandwiches usually are the foundation of the lunch, and they are easily varied by using different breads and fillings. Muffins, cornbread, or even graham crackers may be substituted for sandwiches and the lunch will be complete with a salad, dessert, and beverage.

An All-in-One Dish

Brown little sausage links poked through baked apples and nesting in a ring of spaghetti make this attractive all-in-one dish. Apples are washed and cored and filled with pan-browned sausage before being baked in a moderately hot (375 to 400 degrees) oven until tender. The spaghetti is cooked in a large amount of boiling salted water until tender, drained, then sauteed lightly in plenty of butter. Use an 8 ounce package of spaghetti, 6 apples, and 6 sausage links to serve 6 persons.

BANANA CHIFFON PIE PRIZED FOR ITS RICHNESS

The fluffy richness of chiffon pies is rapidly making them as much a favorite with women as apple and chocolate varieties are with men. Here is a new one made with bananas and citrus fruits.

BANANA CHIFFON PIE.

1 cup mashed bananas
2 tablespoons lemon juice
⅓ cup orange juice
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon grated orange rind
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup granulated sugar
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 egg whites, beaten until stiff
1 baked pie shell

Sprinkle fruit juices over bananas immediately. Add grated rinds, salt, sugar, and egg yolks. Cook in double boiler until hot. Stir in gelatin, which has been softened in the ¼ cup cold water. Continue stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Add stiffly beaten whites and turn into baked pastry shell. Chill until firm and serve with whipped cream.

COMBINE GRAPEFRUIT AND GRAPES TO MAKE DELICIOUS VIOLET ICE

Grape and grapefruit ice is as delicious a meat accompaniment as any one would want. It becomes dessert when served in hollowed orange-flavored cup cakes. The color is a pretty violet.

GRAPE AND GRAPEFRUIT ICE.

⅓ cup sugar
½ cup water
1 cup grape juice
1 grapefruit, pulp and juice, or 1 cup canned fruit and juice
Few grains salt

Soften gelatin in 1 tablespoon of cold water. Add sugar to the ½ cup water and heat to boiling, remove from heat and add softened gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to stiffen, then beat in grape juice and grapefruit pulp and juice. Add salt to taste and freeze in tray of automatic refrigerator, stirring 2 or 3 times during freezing.

CHEAPER MEAT CUTS PROVIDE VARIED DISHES

The nice thing about the less expensive cuts of meat is that they can be prepared in so many interesting ways. Here are two different inexpensive meat dishes.

STUFFED FLANK STEAK

2 pounds flank steak
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
4 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter.

Stuffing:

½ cup chopped salt pork
¼ cup chopped onion
⅓ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green peppers
2 cups bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten

Pound steak lightly on both sides. Sprinkle with seasonings. Spread with stuffing and roll up, rolling with the grain of the meat. Tie in place and put into an uncovered baking pan. Sprinkle with flour and dot with butter. Place in a moderately slow [325 degrees] oven and when lightly browned, add ¼ cup water, cover and continue baking for about 1½ hours. Add more water if necessary. Remove cord to serve.

To make the stuffing, heat salt pork in skillet and add onions, celery and peppers. Cook for 5 minutes, stirring to prevent burning. Add rest of stuffing ingredients, cook for 1 minute, then spread on steak.

CRANBERRY MEAT LOAF

¼ cup sugar, browned in skillet
1 cup canned or cooked cranberry sauce
1 pound ground beef
½ pound ground fresh pork
½ pound ground smoked ham
¼ cup milk
¾ cup cracker crumbs
2 eggs
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons minced onion
Bay leaves.

Sprinkle bottom of buttered loaf pan with sugar which has been browned in a skillet. Mash sauce and spread over sugar. Combine remaining ingredients, except bay leaves, and form into loaf. Place loaf in pan over cranberries, topping with three or four bay leaves. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for one hour, or until done. Garnish with additional cranberry sauce. This loaf is large and that left over may be sliced for sandwiches.

OVERHEARD AT TREASURE ISLAND:

"I never realized the importance of washing green coffee"

Every day coffee-lovers throng Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre at Treasure Island, Golden Gate International Exposition, to see "Behind the Cup," a sound picture in Cinecolor. Visitors cordially invited.

"I NEVER REALIZED THE IMPORTANCE OF WASHING GREEN COFFEE," comment many guests at Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre. Careful washing of green coffee is of vital importance to coffee quality and an ideal way to remove the jelly-like substance that surrounds each bean. Exacting care like this is in evidence throughout the entire production of Hills Bros. Coffee. Those who use it say, "Now that's what I call good coffee!"

"I make perfect coffee with The Correct Grind"

"My experience with The Correct Grind has convinced me it produces perfect coffee in any type of coffee-maker if I follow the directions carefully. And I never regrind The Correct Grind. That's the way to lose flavor, aroma, and freshness."

IMPORTANT: Carefully observe timing for each method. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Vary water slightly for exact strength desired. Keep coffee-maker clean.

DRIP METHOD: 6 to 8 minutes preferred. If less than 2/3 capacity is made, water will drip too fast giving weak brew.

GLASS VACUUM MAKERS: Put upper bowl on after water boils. Coffee and water should be in contact 5 to 7 minutes.

PERCOLATOR: Start with cold or hot water. Percolate slowly 7 to 10 minutes after steady pumping starts.

COFFEEPOT: Bring coffee and water to boiling. Stir well. Add small amount of cold water and let stand 5 minutes to settle grounds.

STEEPING: Pour boiling water on coffee. Stir well. Stir again in 5 minutes. Steep for a total of 10 to 15 minutes.

FIND NUTRITION, ALSO ECONOMY IN SWEETBREADS

They're Rich in Vitamins, Easy to Digest.

Sweetbreads, the thymus glands from young cattle, are among the most nutritious of meats. They are excellent sources of iron, rich in vitamins, and easy to digest. What's more, they're economical when you consider that there's no waste and one pair of sweetbreads will serve two persons, as a rule.

As soon as you bring them from the market, place sweetbreads in cold water for an hour, then cover with 1 quart hot water acidulated with 1 tablespoon vinegar. Simmer for 20 minutes, then remove the membrane from the sweetbreads and prepare them this way.

CREAMED SWEETBREADS AND BACON.

[Three servings.]

1 pair sweetbreads, pre-cooked as described
6 strips bacon, cooked until crisp
2 cups milk
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
3 slices whole wheat toast

Break the sweetbreads into pieces. Make a medium white sauce by blending butter and flour with seasonings and cooking until smooth with milk. Add sweetbreads and additional seasoning if needed. Serve over toast and top each serving with 2 strips crisp bacon.

Dish for Bridge Club.

Looking for an interesting main dish to serve when the bridge club comes to lunch? Creamed sweetbreads with chipped beef and mushrooms will end your search. The chipped beef and mushrooms make the sweetbreads go farther, thus cutting down the cost of the dish.

CREAMED SWEETBREADS WITH CHIPPED BEEF AND MUSHROOMS.

[Serves eight to ten.]

1 pound cooked sweetbreads [about 2 cups cooked]
¼ cup butter
1 quart fresh mushrooms
¼ cup flour
1½ cups water
½ pound chopped beef
1¾ cups evaporated milk
Toast points

Cut cooked sweetbreads into dice. Melt butter in heavy saucepan. Add mushrooms that have been washed and sliced. Cover and cook slowly for 5 minutes. Sprinkle flour over mushrooms. Stir with fork, to blend thoroughly. Add water and bring to a boil. Add chipped beef, pulled into shreds, and sweetbreads. Stir in milk and continue cooking slowly, until sauce is thickened, stirring occasionally. Pour sweetbreads onto platter that has been bordered with toast points.

Try Fried Sweetbreads.

Fried sweetbreads are good, too. Cut the pre-cooked sweetbreads in half or into slices, spread with tartar sauce, and coat with fine crumbs. French fry in deep fat, or panfry in part butter and part lard until golden brown.

If sweetbreads must be kept for several hours or overnight before preparing them for serving, store them, after pre-cooking, in cold water. They are quite perishable, and are best served soon after purchase.

WHIPPED CREAM CHEESE MAKES A TASTY GARNISH

Garnishes usually are planned to dress up ordinary dishes, but they can be nutritious as well as attractive. Whipped cream cheese is one of the decidedly wholesome garnishes that may be used to give eye-appeal to everyday foods.

Soften a package of cream cheese and mix with 3½ tablespoons of top milk or thin cream. Beat with a fork until light and fluffy. Spread over fruit pies or use as gingerbread filling. Tint with a speak of food coloring or add chopped fruits and nutmeats if desired. Or season with celery salt or anchovy paste and force through a pastry tube when making fancy sandwiches.

It's good, too, when combined with an equal amount of mayonnaise to make a delicately flavored dressing for fruit salads.

Spiced Tomato Juice Is Good Beginning of Meal

Spiced tomato juice, served in the living room, is an excellent beginning for any meal. The hostess who is her own cook appreciates the extra time gained in serving such a simple first course before the guests sit down at the table. The spiced juice can be prepared ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator to chill until it is ready to be used.

SPICED TOMATO JUICE.

3 cups tomato juice
⅔ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon chopped onion
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon granulated sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Mix all ingredients, except lemon juice. Pour into a jar, cover and chill for several hours. Strain and add lemon juice. Serve immediately.

HUNTERS' MOON NEARS WITH NEW WORK FOR COOK

It's Made Easy with This Booklet.

With the hunting season just around the corner in several nearby states and not far off in Illinois, it's time to be prepared for handling whatever wild game may come your way.

There really isn't a great deal of difference in preparing wild game and the meats you buy from the butcher. All the long soaking, the addition of vinegar and strong camouflaging spices are now taboo. But there are a few special tricks that will help the cook to bring out the best in any duck, pheasant or rabbit.

It's just as well for a housewife to know about these special methods—one never knows when a gamey gift may turn up on the kitchen table in the fall. And all the tricks are there in Mary Meade's "How to Cook Wild Game." There are directions for preparing duck, pheasant, grouse, partridges, quail, and other wild birds in several ways as well as methods for rabbit, squirrel, venison and other game.

Mushrooms, like tomatoes, play such an important part as a flavoring ingredient in other dishes that one seldom thinks of their possibilities as a dish in themselves.

4 tablespoons cream
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

She Didn't Mean to Listen

TRADEMARK REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. • PROCTER & GAMBLE

Mrs. Lucas was mad clean through when she overheard... "She must be older. Her rough hands look as if they've washed dishes for years."

Today she's glad she overheard. Because she learned that it's not hard to have nice smooth hands. She changed her dishwashing soap—stopped using strong washday soap and tried gentle Ivory instead. 2 weeks later her hands looked so much smoother. Try Ivory for your dishes. It costs less than granulated package soaps—only about 1¢ a day for all your dishwashing. Ask for "Large-Size" Ivory at your store today.

Attractive Shoulders and Back Vital to Dress Charm

pyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

How important your shoulders and ck are to your evening gown you not realize until you see some her girl or woman ruining a perctly stunning frock with a bad back nd shoulder line.

What we should strive for with houlders is a well-balanced poise. When shoulders are not held in proper balance the muscles stand out prominently, the bones spread apart, and excess fat is added into what's known as the dowager's hump, or a general thickness of the upper back results. Or, if the individual is skinny and flat-chested, the faults are even more apparent of their own peculiar kind.

Aim to keep the shoulders well balanced with neither a backward nor forward pull. Should there be a feeling of stiffness, shake it out by shrugging the shoulders, letting them drop into position naturally.

To give flexibility to shoulder muscles, try the simple exercise of circling the shoulder joints without raising the arms. Just let the movement come from the muscles around the shoulders, rather than from moving arms. Circle them forward ten times and back ten times.

Jews Worship at Yom Kippur Rites Tonight

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

World-wide Judaism will devote tomorrow to fasting and prayer in observance of the Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur rites, which begin tonight at sundown. Orthodox, conservative, and liberal synagogues will be crowded tonight and tomorrow with worshipers. The singing of the plaintive prayer hymn, Kol Nidre, is distinctive of Yom Kippur services. The sound of the ram's horn at sundown Saturday, following memorial services, will close the rites.

According to rabbis, Yom Kippur and two other high holidays developed out of the primitive harvest festival. These holidays are Rosh Hashanah, or New Year's day; Yom Kippur, ten days after the New Year's feast, and the Feast of Tabernacles, or Thanksgiving day. The Feast of Tabernacles, or Succoth, will be observed Sept. 28 and 29.

Services will be held at 6 o'clock tonight in the Loop Orthodox synagogue, 16 South Clark street, under the spiritual direction of Rabbi Elias Gamze. Congregation Rodfe Zedek, 1022 East 54th place, announced that its spiritual leader, Rabbi Benjamin A. Daskal, will be the only native born Chicago rabbi to officiate at Yom Kippur services in local synagogues this year. He was ordained 20 years ago and has served Rodfe Zedek since that time. Rabbi Daskal will preach his 21st Yom Kippur sermon tonight.

Emanuel congregation, 701 Buckingham place, is celebrating its 60th anniversary and the 30th year of Rabbi Lelix A. Levy's leadership. Dr. Levy will preach tonight at Uptown temple, 941 Lawrence avenue, on "But We Have Sinned!" Services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow and the annual memorial service at 4 p. m.

Rabbi S. Felix Mendelsohn announces Yom Kippur services at 8 o'clock tonight and at 10 tomorrow morning. Memorial services will be at 3 o'clock. "An American Jew's Credo" will be Rabbi Louis Binstock's subject tonight at Temple Sholem, 3480 Lake Shore drive. A children's service will be held tomorrow noon.

Children, Like Adults, Have Their 'Off Days'

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

How it is with you I don't know, but I remember that at one time in my experience as a mother I used to be surprised at any childish unevenness of temper. I took for granted that other grown people, like myself, had "off days," days when for no obvious reason the sunshine didn't look so bright, people didn't seem so interesting, enthusiasm was at a low ebb and it was very hard to be cheerful and unperturbed even on the surface.

But children—well, a healthy, understood, much loved little child, it seemed to me, should be either bubbling with happiness or at least serene and agreeable every day in the year.

However, I soon realized that children, especially as they grow older, can have "off days" as well as adults—not so frequently perhaps, but they can have them. With that in mind I would, which is a rather persistent habit I have, try to discern why. The psychic reasons for "off days" sometimes eluded me. But I did discover the physical causes that were often at the root of the unevenness, if I looked hard enough.

For instance, you have a big day ahead and the children wake up in the morning pernickety—or shall we call it, just plain cranky [my grandmother's word]. You remember they were the same way yesterday and the same the day before.

You begin to wonder if they're going to lose their really sweet dispositions, and suddenly it dawns on you that for days they haven't had their full quota of sleep.

They get a little older and you see crankiness appearing, with no apparent reason. You puzzle over it; they look perfectly well and they're not tired. Well, you'll get busy in the kitchen while you think.

You go ahead and serve them a big, hot, hearty lunch. Smiles and spirits bubble back! And then you realize that they're going through a phase during which hunger has a devastating effect on their dispositions!

There are other off times or off days that you'll be able to tie up with a different physical cause. For instance, dispositions are often touchy or uneven after an upset, or a real illness. One day's fever, even, will take its toll of their vitality and they may show the effects of it for several days.

So, if the children are aimless, or disobliging, or cross, or irritable, or difficult to please, look for a physical reason for it.

SMART FROCK FOR WOMEN.

Special lines for the mature figure are those that lend a tall, slim effect. Another rule for flattery to the overweight silhouette is absence of trimming. This frock follows these fashion principles, and is one you will like for the autumn season.

The V neckline may be plain or have a buttoned collar to contrast. The bodice may be plaited or merely shirred. The skirt is paneled. Silks, cottons, and woolens all make up well.

Style No. 2924 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material, and ⅛ yard of 39 inch contrasting for dress with collar and long sleeves.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Reviewing Stand.

New York, Sept. 22 [Special].—In "Blackmail," of which the less said the better, the script introduces young Bobs Watson, juvenile weeper, to tug your heartstrings. . . . This is open warning to the studios that if they don't give the kid a chance to laugh in his next picture I'll slug 'em. . . . He has been crying ever since Hollywood signed him to a contract. . . . Movies spend millions of dollars for dramatic moments. . . . Yet no movie packs so much dramatic punch as the 20 feet of Paramount newsreel showing two little girls crushed under concrete débris after an air raid over Warsaw. . . . Incidentally, has any one pointed out that Anthony Drexel Biddle has done a man-sized job as United States ambassador to Poland. . . . He stayed in there and kept pitching.

St. Regis roof has six swell lookers dancing in the line. . . . They're billed as the Paramount Starlets and the credit for the dances is given to James Mitchell Leisen. . . . Don't tell me that he's Director Mitch Leisen of the Coast.

Page 1 will shortly have the echoes of that riotous recent evening at Sands Point. . . . Nationally famed lotion manufacturer will ask for divorce, and name an army major! . . . Rival trying to displace Ambassador Joe Kennedy at the court of St. James's has bid as high as $250,000 for the appointment. . . . Add Look Alikes: Everett Marshall, Aquacade singer, and the late Huey Long. . . . In one of Harriett Parson's entertaining movie shorts the Westmores illustrate what not to do by making up one of the Brewster twins the wrong way. . . . The audience chuckle develops because when one twin is shown made up the right way, and the other twin the wrong way, the girl with the wrong makeup looks stunning.

Heat wave, 103 degrees, has gripped Los Angeles. . . . I think I'll stay in the air cooled theaters of Broadway for a day or two extra. . . . If Cincinnati loses that pennant, the good burghers of the city will chase them right down the main street. . . . Cass Daley, hottest of hot singers, is a tall Martha Raye if you want a quick description. . . . It's a cinch that Hitler and Stalin will fly at each other's throats, because each of them lacks a sense of humor. . . . Put two men together who have no sense of humor and it spells a Pier A brawl. . . . No villain can be so slimy on the screen as Gene Lockhart. . . . Sudden thought: It's high time that Gary Cooper was given a decent picture . . . He hasn't had a socko flicker since "Mr. Deeds" and that's quite some time ago.

Marcia Niel, smooth CBS warbler, is a 20 year old Nebraskan discovered by Mrs. Grover Cleveland Alexander. . . . Lita Gray Chaplin, now Mrs. Arthur F. Bachelors and Benedicts to Elect Two New Members

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Bachelors and Benedicts are meeting one day near the end of this month to decide several weighty questions, such as who will take the places of the retiring members, Frederic McLaughlin II. and A. Watson Armour III., and who will head the committee this year and so be in charge of arrangements for the annual ball. The date will not need to be discussed, even though Thanksgiving is a week earlier than is customary, for Thanksgiving eve is the traditional date for the B's and B's gay party.

"It is absolutely necessary for there to be a legal holiday the day after the ball," said Mr. McLaughlin recently. He was chairman of last year's group and so, in a large measure, responsible for the success of the ball. It is probable that bachelors will be elected to membership this year, for several young men who were unwed last fall are now benedicts, making them far more numerous than the bachelors. The only unmarried men in the group now are Arthur M. Wood, Dustin Grannis, and Howard F. Gillette Jr. The married ones are Garfield King, Peter Fortune, William B. Cudahy, Potter Palmer III, James O. Heyworth, Hugh McBirney Johnston, Gaylord Donnelley, Wyndham Hasler, George A. Poole Jr., George A. Ranney Jr., and Jay Borland II.

Assembly Ball Governors to Meet in Mid-October.

The governors of the Assembly ball will not hold their first meeting until around the middle of October. William McCormick Blair is chairman of the governors. The others are John Alden Carpenter, Edward L. Ryerson Jr., Arthur G. Cable, John A. Stevenson, Robert A. Gardner, Lester Armour, William R. Odell Jr., William H. Mitchell, James H. Douglas Jr., Dexter Cummings, Solomon B. Smith, Edison Dick and A. Watson Armour III. A fifteenth governor undoubtedly will be elected at the meeting to fill the place left vacant when Wayne Chatfield Taylor resigned last winter because he lives in Washington.

The architects, who will hold another ball this year to swell their fund to establish an atelier for training architectural draughtsmen, expect to have a date set and other plans well under way before October dawns. Christmas week is their choice for such a gay, colorful carnival sort of party as theirs is certain to be. They are determined that this year's party shall be as successful from the standpoint of the guests as the other two, and much more successful from a financial point of view than the last one. John W. Root again heads the committee.

Miss Marion Munson to Make Debut Today.

The hub of excitement in Lake Forest this afternoon will be a tea Mrs. David Mark Cummings and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Burton Munson are giving for Mr. Munson's younger daughter, Miss Marion McKee Munson, as her introduction to Chicago society. Mrs. Cummings, her daughter and son-in-law, and the debutante will receive from 5 until 7 o'clock at the same sort of a jolly party that the three gave two years ago for the bud's elder sister, Miss Frances Munson.

After the tea guests have gone there will be dinner and dancing for about fifty, including the debutante's assistants, their beaux, and some of the contemporaries of Mr. and Mrs. Munson and of her brother, Dexter Cummings, and his wife. The evening party also will be given at Mrs. Mark Cummings' home, Ioka.

Assisting Miss Munson this afternoon will be those Lake Forest debutantes who have not gone back to school or college: Miss Barbara Blossom, Miss Helen Dick, Miss Barbara Buchanan, Miss Anne Stuart, Miss Edith Porter, Miss Helen Mary Bryan, Miss Mardo Pattou, Miss Caryl Harrison, and Miss Mary Faith Wilson. Miss Marion and Miss Frances Munson will not leave for their home in Providence, R. I. until after next week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Munson will return to Edmonton, Alta., next week.

Mrs. Herbert Stratford and Josephine Carpenter, the Kenneth Carpenters' subdeb daughter, are women's doubles tennis champions at the Saddle and Cycle club. Earl Kribben and Henry Gross will oppose Roland K. Smith and Wells Farnum in the finals of the men's doubles.

Flight to New York to Be Prize at Show.

Some young woman between 18 and 28 who wears a size 12, 14, or 16 gown will win a round trip to New York by air at the fashion show in Winnetka next Thursday afternoon. How the lucky person is to be chosen is being kept a secret, but Mrs. John L. Irving is to help in the selection, Mrs. John Hooker, program chairman, disclosed yesterday. The show is

Silk Whispers Its Siren Song in Fall Styles

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Silk speaks most seductively this year of elegance in fashions! It doesn't take the fanfare of national silk week to emphasize the luscious swish of silk, to stress handsome brocades stiff enough to stand alone, metallic brocades with a jewel-like glow, or to spotlight the splendor of heavy silks with brocaded patterns of velvet or the self patterns revived from the designs of court gowns.

Some of the most exciting are the stunning blacks . . . gros de londres with 3 inch velvet discs, widely spaced, the spectacular stuff with alternating stripes of dull silk and velvet, or the luxurious brocades with giant size lilies in dull and shiny contrast. Even the waistcoat brocades are back, thick heavy stuff with delicate designs of leaves and buds and blossoms in shiny silk thread against the dull silk backgrounds.

The larger patterned brocades in color are magnificent. One pattern comes in a sullen garnet red background with the floral design in dull black. The same thing in aqua blue is another winner and this silk is just as good looking on the back as the front sides.

See the bengaline, the suave, smooth failles, lovely lengths of marocain silk, the moires, and the newest thick silk jerseys that are like black cream when draped into a sophisticated dinner dress.

Beautiful brocades for the younger set come in delicate pinks, nattier blues, and glinting lengths of jade green shot with either silver or blue. Old fashioned small designed silks are smart for cocktail dresses worn under silk velvet jackets or long dress parade coats.

◆

Taffeta swishes along forever. It appears for dresses [the pure white taffetas and silk moires used with thin black lace are hauntingly romantic], in costume accessories for turbans, muffs, blouses, petticoats, slips, separate skirts, and for linings of coats, jackets, and combined with thin wool.

Cardinals' Anniversary Celebrated at High Mass

The 30th anniversary of Cardinal Mundelein's elevation to the episcopate was celebrated at Holy Name cathedral yesterday morning in a solemn high mass of thanksgiving. Seven years after his consecration, Cardinal Mundelein was made archbishop of Chicago, and in 1924 he was created a cardinal. The service was marked by the cardinal's bestowal of mission crosses for new priests in the Archdiocesan Mission band. Those receiving the crosses were the Revs. James A. Bolan, Thomas J. Hosty and Kenneth Hoffmann. The anniversary sermon was delivered by the Rev. Thomas Barry Horne, and the celebrant at the mass was the Rev. Eugene Mulcahey. These officiants were ordained just 10 years ago yesterday by Cardinal Mundelein at St. Mary of the Lake seminary, Mundelein.

College Graduate's Will.

A college graduate of 1939, Marjorie Stilling of Winnetka, who is in search of a job, sent the following document to the head of a Michigan avenue advertising agency:

> I, Marjorie Stilling, college graduate of 1939, being sound of body and fairly sane of mind, acting only under the undue influence of business conditions and two sore feet (blistered from job hunting), but considering the uncertainty of my financial condition and desiring to dispose of all my earthly affairs while in health and strength, do hereby make, publish, and declare the following to be my last will and testament:
>
> I bequeath to the college graduates of 1940 the arrogance and cocksure attitude which were mine at the time of college graduation and directly thereafter, on condition that they, in turn, shall pass them on to the next class and make no attempt to keep them for themselves.
>
> I bequeath to any chiropodist in the city of Chicago or the environs thereof two of the sorest feet in the city of Chicago or the environs thereof, because the aforementioned feet have lost most of their useful properties through overexertion while job hunting.
>
> I bequeath to my professors at college the fine letters of recommendation they gave me in the hope that they may be able to use the other side of the paper for the preparation of new lecture jokes.
>
> I bequeath to any one who will give them a good home my major in English, my minor in psychology, my courses in advertising, and my sample stacks of copy and layout.

Followed her plea for a job with the advertising agency.

Thanksgiving Dinner.

President Roosevelt's tossing about of Thanksgiving day gave an idea to some Beverly Hills residents. Two young relatives from Denmark, in the United States on a motorcycle tour, were keenly disappointed when they learned they must take passage for home earlier than they had expected, because they had wanted to experience an American Thanksgiving day celebration. They have been visiting with relatives in the south suburbs. Tonight a typical Thanksgiving dinner is being served them in the home of the Beverly Hills relatives, with all the kin in attendance.

"I was South. The bidding went as follows:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
5 clubs	Pass	6 clubs [final bid]

"West opened the diamond eight, which I won with the king. Having landed in a quite advantageous contract, I proceeded to mess up the timing of the hand and go down one trick. I cashed the spade king, then led to the club ace, cashed the spade ace [on which I discarded a diamond], then ruffed a spade. Next I led to the diamond ace and ruffed the diamond ten. At this point I thought the contract was in the bag, led a small heart to the king, and returned dummy's last spade to ruff. East chucked the heart nine and I suddenly realized that the fat must be in the fire. Of course the proper thing to do was to cash the heart ace at trick eight, the heart king at trick nine, and then cross-ruff the hand, conceding the last trick. Also there were other ways of playing the hand to fulfill the contract. I realize that my play was terrible, so there is no need to go into that. Our discussions centered around the bidding. A kibitzer, who had a rather substantial side bet on the game, had a good deal to say. He said that the slam should not have been bid; that I should not have opened the bidding and that, having done so with 'less than two and one-half honor tricks,' I should have bid three no trump over my partner's two no trump. My partner said that perhaps he should have bid three no trump over the one club. However, there were so many things said, pro and con, that we resolved to boil the issues down to the following and ask your opinion: [1] Does the South hand contain two and one-half honor tricks? [2] Should South open the bidding? [3] Is North's two no trump response correct? [4] That response having been made, should South's rebid be three hearts or three no trump? [5] After the three heart bid by South, is North justified in raising to four clubs and finally bidding six clubs? [6] Is the three heart response a slam invitation, or does it even show any values in excess of an opening bid in this sequence?

"J. B., Alabama."

My correspondent's confession concerning the play of the hand covers that point adequately, so we may confine ourselves to the specific questions asked. The answers are as follows: [1] The South hand does contain two and one-half honor tricks, including the plus values of the blank spade king and the heart jack. [2] Yes, South should open the bidding with one club. [3] No, North's two no trump response is not correct. Three no trump would be far better or, if North preferred to "approach" slowly, he could make the noncommittal waiting response of one spade. [4] Two no trump having been bid, South's three heart bid was correct. [5] This is a difficult question to answer. It always is dangerous to attempt to rectify in later bidding a mistake that has been made on the first round. North's two no trump did not express his values, hence he naturally was anxious to clarify the issue after South's three hearts and, although his four and six club bids were slightly inconsistent with each other, and with his previous two no trump, they cannot be criticized severely. [6] The three heart rebid by South is in no sense a slam invitation, nor does it show any values in excess of the opening bid. It is made in response to a strong bid from partner [two no trump], by which partner has in a sense assumed captaincy and control. The three heart bid does no more than indicate South's distribution.

Prerogative of Invitation Is Usually Man's

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"You asked recently for comments from men regarding the extending of invitations by women. So, here are a few," writes Bachelor.

"1. While there probably are situations here and there in which an invitation by the girl would do no harm to her cause, and might even help matters along, in general it seems to me that the chances are about ten to one that an invitation will be the wrong move. Very few men and boys are so timid that timidity alone can explain their not having taken the lead themselves. An invitation by the girl will leave the situation a bit awkward if the man declines it, or, eventually, even if circumstances force him to accept it.

"2. When the girl is determined to offer some kind of an invitation, it would be an advantage, if possible to find one that would fit in with the man's personality and be interesting in itself.

"3. In general, a far better way of interesting some particular man than that of putting him somewhat on the spot with an invitation, is to learn what his hobbies are and start riding one of them yourself, occasionally flattering him with a request for information or advice, and, if you find you really enjoy the hobby for its own sake, mentioning or implying that fact also, occasionally.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The woman who is past 30 and well aware that the complexion and the contour are not what they once were is often a little confused when she tries to decide just what is to be done about it. And the more she shops the more confused she may become.

Our own idea is that a sane, simple beauty routine is the best. We don't see much value in trying this and trying that and never doing any one thing consistently or giving any one good product a fair chance. Find things you like and that agree with your skin and stick to them!

We thought about this when we went shopping with a friend the other day. She ended her shopping tour by sensibly buying a box of four fine beauty essentials. Not expensive, not complicated to use, and as good as they can be. She has her program, she has her preparations, and there will be no futile little sallies into the realm of experiment.

Most important item in the box is the large jar of cleansing cream. Women have liked it for decades because it softens as it cleanses. It's one of the most popular of all cleansers on the market.

Then there is a clarifying cream. This can also be used as a powder base or, when the skin seems unduly sallow, as a night cream. It's a beautiful preparation because it keeps the skin clear.

The third cream is a rich lubricant that can be used for the massage those slipping contours need so badly. It's a cream that defeats skin dryness, too.

The fourth item is skin lotion, refreshing and mildly stimulating, that is used after cleansing to banish the cream that just doesn't come off on the tissues. Skin that's wiped off with lotion always feels cleaner.

"How's Business?"

IN ANSWER to this question of American business, which regards The Saturday Evening Post as a natural barometer, we submit the following:

UP The October 14th Post (now on the presses) will carry more columns of advertising than any issue since September 12, 1931.

UP Beginning with February, every month this year, including October, has shown a substantial gain in advertising over the corresponding month of last year.

UP Over a broad front, in important and widely divergent lines — Food, Electrical Appliances, Gasoline and Lubricants, Toilet Goods, Household Furnishings and Equipment, Wearing Apparel, and Automotive — the Post shows significant advertising gains.

REDS, CARDS WIN; STAY 2½ GAMES APART

CUBS WIN, 9 TO 3; PASSEAU YIELDS GIANTS SIX HITS

Leiber Gets Homer; Drives in Five.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, now devoting their time to strengthening their guardianship over third place, which apparently is coveted by Brooklyn's Dodgers, put the Giants to use yesterday. Bill Terry's fellows stuck out their collective chin in front of Hank Leiber's bat as early as the first inning. Hank dazed his former pals with a home run punch and they never recovered, the Cubs going on to win, 9 to 3, and thus break even on the year in their 22 engagements with the New Yorkers.

Leiber's homer, his 22d of the year and his seventh in the last 12 games, helped to make it possible for Bill Lohrman to lose without going to the trouble of working through nine innings. Leiber's smash netted three runs and a fourth registered before Lohrman could be rescued. Thereafter the Cubs did quite a bit of fancy firing against Lefty Melton, Leiber also sharing in this to the extent of two singles, giving him a total of five runs driven in.

Passeau Wins No. 15.

Claude Passeau, who even when wearing the garb of a humble Philly was a tough gentleman for the Giants to handle, acquired his 15th victory without exerting himself. The New Yorkers clicked for a pair of runs in the second inning, so, as a matter of safety, Passeau knocked off fifteen batters in succession in the next five innings. By that time the Cubs' steady sniping at the elongated Melton's tosses had developed such a lead in Passeau's behalf that he didn't mind three hits in a row before anybody was retired in the eighth. Then he clamped on the lid again, holding the Giants to a total of six hits.

Lohrman's weakness in the first inning was wildness. He started off by walking Hack and Herman, the former being forced at third when Galan attempted to sacrifice. Leiber hung around the plate long enough to get into a 2 and 2 count, whereupon he belted his home run into the left field bleacher for three runs. The firing continued with singles by Nicholson and G. Russell, but when Lohrman plunked Mattick with a pitched ball he was ousted in favor of Melton, who got Mancuso on a tap to Young, Nicholson scoring, and fanned Passeau.

Giants Get a Pair.

Seeds walked and was doubled to third by Hafey at the start of the Giants' second. It wasn't long before two runs had scored. Kampouris fanned, but Melton's grounder to Herman gave Seeds time to go home. Then Moore singled to left and Hafey dashed in.

Two hits fixed up the Cubs with a run in the third. Nicholson, who doesn't like southpaw pitching, resorted to a bunt and beat it out for a single. G. Russell singled to right, Nicholson taking third. Mattick was purposely passed and Mancuso furnished a fly on which Nicholson registered.

The bunting game worked again for the Cubs in the fourth. This time it was Hack who beat out a gentle poke. Herman fouled to Young and Galan was thrown out by Kampouris, after which Leiber was heard from for the second time. He whistled a single to left and Hack sprinted home from second base.

Hack Gets Walk.

Hack made his fourth successive appearance on base when he walked to open the sixth. He was forced by Herman but Melton was immediately surrounded by trouble. Galan singled to left. Leiber horned in with his third hit, a single to center, Herman scoring, and Galan taking third. Then he rode home on a wild pitch.

The Cubs completed their scoring in the seventh, helped by Young. Passeau doubled to left and traveled the remainder of the way when Young allowed Herman's gentle grounder to seep through his hands. The only excitement thereafter was in the Giant eighth, when McCarthy singled

IF part of the world series is held in Cincinnati, as quite a few anticipate, many out of town patrons will take hammocks. . . . The story persists that because of a convention in Cincinnati it will be hard to get beds, but there are a lot of trees in the city, ideally spaced for hammock hanging. . . . Writers who were in Detroit to smoke up the Louis-Pastor fight vied with one another thinking up nicknames for Pastor's manager, J. J. Johnston, but only one, as far as we know, went back to the "Boy Bandit" monicker so popular 10 years ago. . . . Clint Frank of Chicago, former All-American half back at Yale, is recovering from a wrenched knee incurred while playing rugby. . . . He is a member of the Chicago club that will play the Hollywood team at Soldiers' field Oct. 8. . . . It is said that Tony Galento often bawls out the missus for being too plump. . . . The Chicago chapter of baseball writers will hold their second annual dinner in December, six weeks earlier than last year's inaugural. . . . Design for Living.

Have you ever watched at midnight
When the stars are gleaming bright
The restfulness of nature
As she sleeps in shrouded night?
Have you ever watched the glow worm
Flitting gayly through the trees,
Have you ever heard the murmur
Of a gentle summer breeze?
Have you ever seen two lovers
Side by side on moon-bathed sands,
Have you ever stopped to eavesdrop
As they make their future plans?
You will learn from these that living's
Based on dreams and love and peace,
If all men would only profit,
Then the strife on earth would cease.
We'd have at last within our hearts
No thoughts but those of praise,
And "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men"
Would live throughout our days.

YANKS MAKE IT 18 FOR SEASON OVER SOX, 5-2

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 21.—The White Sox this afternoon concluded their 1939 business with the New York Yankees, much to their relief and the relief of those who have had to watch them for pay. It seems rather trite to mention that the Yankees won, 5 to 2, for the Yankees in 1939 have always won from the Sox. O, not always, but 18 times out of 22 is almost always.

Even last year's sixth place Sox, who were pretty much on the clown side, were the only team to take a season series from the Yanks in New York. They won six in eleven contests here. A 5 to 1 victory by Thornton Lee on July 30 was the only Sox 1939 success here.

Yanks Concentrate in Third.

The Yankees didn't even take exercise today, except for some concentration in the third inning. In their half of the third the Sox made both of their runs, which caused Manager Joe McCarthy to flash a get-busy sign from a mezzanine box. The Yankees spurted for a few minutes to tear off Bill Dietrich's ears with a double, two singles and homers by Bill Dickey and Joe Gordon. They then subsided against Clint Brown while the fellows played out the string so the counting room would have a legal right to whatever a crowd of 2,150 paid at the gate.

Today's swoon carried something more than another licking at the hands of the Yanks. The Sox, who won eight of their first nine games on this trip, lost seven of their last eight.

Manager Dykes, of course, is very ill over the performance of his valiants since they became second place conscious. About his only hope is that eight games with the Browns will encourage the team to show up for city series against the Cubs.

Sox Score First.

The Sox did the first scoring of the game, even as they did in yesterday's tragedy. Tresh opened the third with a single and Dietrich walked. The runners advanced on Bejma's sacrifice and Rosenthal's second single sent them home. Radcliff was hit by a pitched ball, and after Appling had flied to Keller, McNair beat out an infield single to load the bases. Walker flied to Keller.

Dietrich, who had pitched a three run homer in the first inning of each of his last two starts, not to mention homers in each of the first three innings in his last previous start against the Yankees, didn't get around to his specialty today until the third inning. Crosetti opened it with a double past Walker and scored on Rolfe's single to left. Rolfe took second on Walker's throw to the infield. Keller then singled to center, scoring Rolfe. Keller then stole second. DiMaggio never suspected Dietrich

If

The leading Reds have 12 games to play and the second place Cardinals have 10. The four game series the two leaders will start Tuesday in Cincinnati probably will decide the National league championship. The Cardinals, two and a half games behind, face the task of winning all four of the games to have a good chance at the pennant. If the Reds win two of the four games with St. Louis and five of their remaining eight with Pittsburgh, the Cardinals could not win the pennant even if they swept their six games with the Cubs. In that event, the final standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cincinnati	95	59	.617
St. Louis	94	59	.614

If Cincinnati wins three of the four games with St. Louis, the Reds would have to take only three of their eight games with Pittsburgh to clinch the pennant, though the Cardinals beat the Cubs six times. In that event, the final standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cincinnati	94	60	.610
St. Louis	93	60	.608

With New Coach and System, Iowa's Football Hopes Soar

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 21.—Fifty years ago this month the first University of Iowa football team, draped in the remnants of the flimsy canvas suits fashioned by an Iowa City dressmaker, trudged off the field at Grinnell college beaten, 24 to 0, in its first game. Iowa this year celebrates that occasion by making a fresh start in football with a new coaching staff and a new system and by playing a golden anniversary schedule which includes six conference teams, plus Notre Dame.

Football fortunes have varied sharply at Iowa since that first Grinnell game, ranging from mediocre to championship heights until suspension by the Western conference in 1929 brought on a depression which endures to this day. Long agitation among Iowa alumni for a Notre Dame coach reached a successful climax last winter when athletic authorities decided on the third coaching change since 1932. They heeded the plea of the alumni by hiring Dr. Eddie Anderson, a native Iowan from Mason City, who had been an All-American end at Notre Dame as a team mate of George Gipp.

Hires Notre Dame Men.

Anderson brought with him as associates three other former Notre Dame stars, Frank Cariedo, Jim Harriss, and Willard Hofer. Interest in the Hawkeyes quickened immediately. The alumni began talking football again. Ticket sales to date have left the business office aghast. Forty-one thousand already have been distributed for the Notre Dame game and a sellout of 53,000 is assured for Nov. 11 when the Irish face Iowa for the first time since Howard Jones' unbeaten, untied Big Ten champions snapped Notre Dame's 20 game winning streak in 1921 with a 10 to 7 defeat.

What kind of a football team will Iowa have? Anderson can make no comparison with last year's eleven. He has not seen an Iowa team in action in years. But he is frank in his appraisal of the 45 men whom he took over last spring. They will make up a pretty fair football eleven with good ends and a back field that would be a credit to any school. The team's weaknesses will be between the tackles and among the reserves.

Faces Tough Schedule.

Amplifying Anderson's description, it can be said that Iowa will be improved over last year, but because of its schedule it cannot be expected to be any more successful. Its opponents, in the order of their appearance, are South Dakota, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame, Minnesota, and Northwestern. Considering Iowa's material and other circumstances, this is the most strenuous schedule in college football.

To date the squad has not scrimmaged. Anderson does not believe in a great deal of contact work, preferring to let the boys save their football for Saturday afternoons. Limited personnel also makes scrimmage extremely hazardous, and it is quite likely that the Hawkeyes will open their season against South Dakota a week from Saturday with no more rough work than one or two line scrimmages in which secondary defenders are not permitted to tackle. This system proved successful at Holy Cross, where Anderson coached for six years before coming west last spring.

Anderson is devoting a large portion of the pre-season practice to developing the squad physically in the hopes of building what outstanding men he has into a 60 minute machine. Lack of capable relief will make it necessary for leading players to remain at their posts.

Kinnick to Lead Attack.

Nile Kinnick, a triple threat half back who began as a quarter back two years ago, will be the spearhead of Iowa's attack. Kinnick was hampered by an injured ankle throughout last season, when the Hawkeyes played Purdue to a scoreless tie and beat only Chicago in eight starts. Kinnick is an excellent passer, has averaged 42 and 43 yards on punts in his two years of competition, and is one of the really dangerous open field runners in the Big Ten. To his other accomplishments he has added drop kicking.

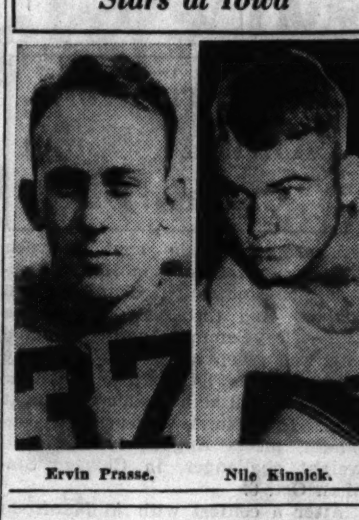
Stars at Iowa



Ervin Prasse. Nile Kinnick.

Green Has Speed.

Green has the makings of one of the conference's finest backs. Six feet one and 182 pounds, he already has tied the conference record of :05.4 for the 50 yard dash and has been timed several times at :09.8 in the 100 yard event. In addition to football, he plays basketball and baseball and was the Iowa state high school broad jump champion.

Walker, Diehl Look Good.

Walker and Diehl, two sophomores, have given indications of exceptional ability. Walker is a 200 pound Negro from South Bend, Ind., and Diehl is a product of Cedar Rapids. He weighs 187 pounds, but is the rangy type ideally suited for defense. He stands six feet two inches.

This alignment does not concern Anderson unduly, although he is anxious to see Diehl and Walker in action. Luebcke eliminated one worry when he reduced from 330 pounds to 268 and began to show signs of surprising speed. Relief for this line resolves itself to a question mark. There are a number of men Anderson can use, but until they have acquired experience or revealed hidden talents, each substitution will be accompanied by a prayer.

LOUIS, $118,000 RICHER, AWAITS NEXT BONANZA

Ballyhoo Opens as Pastor Counts His Wounds.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 21. — With scarcely a nod to the beaten Bob Pastor, who was knocked out in eleven rounds last night by Joe Louis, the ballyhoo for the champion's next title defense got under way today. Pastor, of course, doesn't need sympathy. He was told many times he would be knocked out, and for his punishment he will receive $51,800—17½ per cent of the net receipts of $296,000.

Louis attended the luncheon Mike Jacobs put on today as the finale to his Detroit production. Joe didn't have a mark to show for Pastor's futile attack, if you except a slight redness alongside his right eye. The champion grinned amiably while answering all questions, and he had reason to be jovial. He now has defended his championship successfully eight times, and last night he earned $118,400 plus his share of the $17,500 paid for exclusive radio rights. There also will be a settlement later on the moving pictures.

Gross receipts were $347,870, and 32,199 of the 33,868 in Briggs stadium paid.

Bob Didn't Feel Like It.

All of Louis' managers and trainers attended the luncheon. Pastor, although invited, did not attend, presumably because he was not entirely presentable after his licking. Jimmy Johnston, Bob's manager, and Freddy Brown, trainer, paid a courtesy call.

Johnston's explanation for Pastor being knocked down four times in the first round and again in the second was that Bob rushed in to Louis, thinking he had him ready for a right hand. The delayed excuse is correct in that when Pastor rushed in he was floored, since he was a better target than when he danced back and to Louis' left. Only in the eighth round was Pastor able to come to the champion and not suffer for his rashness.

Joe's Margin Is Decisive.

This round was Pastor's best, but he only could be credited with one other, a slight advantage in the fifth. Pastor's attack, however, as he forced Louis to the ropes, had no effect and in his dressing room later the champion said only one of the blows in the flurry really stung him.

Pastor crumbled thereafter and Louis' right hand ended the battle after 38 seconds of the 11th round. Pastor was counted out on his knees by Referee Sam Hennessy. He was badly beaten, completely exhausted. Louis' ripping rights had opened cuts above both eyes, and his bruised lips no longer could hold his rubber mouthpiece.

Louis said today he used his right hand almost exclusively, leading with it on occasion, because that seemed to be Pastor's greatest defensive weakness. All five knockdowns were direct results of this plan. While some criticized the champion's indifferent showing in the eighth round, he defended himself on the ground he had nothing to fear from Pastor and the fight was going as he wanted it.

Champion Is Confident.

"I knew that Pastor couldn't stay away from me for 20 rounds and, after I had knocked him down, I also knew I would knock him out when he quit running or I caught up with him."

Louis will stay in Detroit until Saturday, returning then to Chicago to celebrate his fourth wedding anniversary. On Sept. 24, 1935, Louis married Marva Trotter in New York only a few hours before he knocked out Max Baer in Yankee stadium. Later the champion may go to Stevensville, Mich., for a few days, but he expects to attend the world series.

Louis' next opponent will be Tony Galento, although, Promoter Mike Jacobs was a party at today's luncheon to some by-play which was intended to convince Joe Jacobs, manager of Galento, that Tony was to meet Pastor. Despite the ribbing Joe Jacobs didn't quite go for the story that while celebrating last night he had signed the contract.

DERRINGER AND CINCINNATI BEAT PHILLIES, 8 TO 3

St. Louis Triumphs in Ninth, 6-5.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 21 (AP).—Paul Derringer delivered again today to give the Reds an 8 to 3 triumph over Philadelphia and gain his twenty-third pitching victory of the year.

Just as Bucky Walters turned the trick yesterday, Derringer breezed in today for his eighth straight. He aided his own cause by singling in one run.

Showing much the same form as in July when they took a twelve game lead, Bill McKechnie's crew exploded a three run, four hit attack in the fifth to come from behind; added two more in the sixth on Lonnie Frey's eleventh homer—his second in two days, and another trio in the seventh on three singles, a walk, and a wild pitch by Relief Pitcher Kerksieck.

Hughes Stars for Phils.

The bat work of Roy Hughes, Philadelphia second sacker and Cincinnati boy, continued as a thorn in the side of the league leaders. He made three safeties in five times at the plate and drove in his mates' final tally in the seventh.

The sixth inning, in which Hughes doubled, saw Morrie Arnovich ejected from the game for vigorously protesting a second strike called by Umpire Beans Reardon.

In the fifth, with two out, May, Scharein, and Warren got to Derringer for successive singles, Warren scoring. Scharein singled again in the seventh to score as Hughes singled.

Reds Win 19 from Phils.

Successive doubles by Marty and Suhr produced the final tally in the eighth. In the same inning the Reds, who hit safely in seven frames, put together a walk and a stolen base by Goodman, Warren's wild throw, and McCormick's sacrifice fly to run up another. It was Cincinnati's 19th victory of the year over the Phillies, a record unequaled by any other club.

For Derringer, it was his sixth straight undefeated start against the Phils this year and his eleventh, dating from midsummer of 1938. Together, Derringer and Walters have accounted for 49 of the Reds' 88 victories.

CARDINALS WIN, 6 TO 5.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21 [Special].—Rallying in the ninth inning with two men out and no one on base, the Cardinals scored two runs today to nose out the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 5, and to keep within two and a half games of the leading Reds.

Jimmy Brown singled and went to third on Don Gutteridge's single to center. Brown scored the tying run when Enos Slaughter beat out a grounder along the first base line. Joe Medwick then lined a double down the left field foul line, scoring Gutteridge with the winning run.

Curt Davis received credit for the victory, his twenty-second. Luke Hamlin pitched the entire game for the Dodgers, yielding 14 hits, including a home run by Slaughter. Hamlin made the first home run of his major league career in the third, and Gene Moore made his first of the season in the seventh.

EVANS WINS LOW GROSS PRIZE IN AUCHTERMUCHTY

Herb Vogel Sets Pace in Class B.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chick Evans, Herb Vogel and Charles Pritchard, yesterday hewed closest to the course of the winding stream in winning low gross honors in their respective classes as the 25th annual Auchtermuchty tournament of the Oak Park country club reached its conclusion.

Evans, the Edgewater veteran who has held the national open and amateur championships, followed up his 111 for Wednesday's first 27 holes with a 114, to take the class A prize with a 54 hole aggregate of 225. Vogel, whose resonant baritone has entertained Chicago night life fans these many years, was the victor in class B with a 135—133—268. Pritchard came up from Tulsa, Okla., to play with the same foursome with which he has been engaged in seven consecutive Auchtermuchties and went home with the class C prize on the basis of his 139—132—271.

R. E. Hall Wins Low Net.

R. E. Hall of the home club led the low net scorers for the two day journey with a 221. He had 124—15—109 for Wednesday and 127—15—112 yesterday.

The Auchtermuchty, named after the vagrant brook that flows through Oak Park's course, wound up one of the most successful anniversary years a Chicago district club ever has celebrated.

Record Oak Park Season.

Wildcats Put Up Battle for Starting Jobs

Drills disclose that the battles for first string positions in Northwestern's back field are becoming more intense as the date for the season's opener with Oklahoma on Oct. 7 approaches. Whether the first string unit consisting of Red Hahnenstein and Iggy Mesec, half backs; Dick Richards, quarter back, and George McGurn, full back, will remain intact is uncertain.

Wednesday's full game scrimmage was followed by more contact work yesterday and revealed that the No. 2 back field combination merits strong consideration. The work of Paul Soper, hard running junior, and Ike Kepford, sophomore, indicates that both will see considerable action at half back this fall. The same can be said for Nick Conteas, senior quarter back, and Don Clawson, sophomore full back, who complete this unit.

ILLINI SWITCH ELDERS.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special]—Gerald Elders, sophomore from Christopher, was back at quarter back today as the Illinois football squad concentrated on passing and punting. Elders, a quarter back at the start of the season, has been playing guard. He will alternate positions for the present. In the passing drill, Jimmie Smith, sophomore half back, and Chuck Purvis, senior from Glennville, Ga., handled the throwing. Smith, Cliff Peterson, and George Rettinger did the punting, with Bob Falkenstein returning.

Michigan Has Trouble with Pass Defense

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 21 (AP).—A forward pass defense—one of Michigan's weaknesses last season—was emphasized in the Wolverine football drill today, but the results weren't entirely satisfactory. Dave Strong, former Illinois quarter back, tossed passes for the reserves and the varsity had trouble in breaking them up.

In a 10 minute formal scrimmage the varsity scored three touchdowns and the reserves none. Harry G. Kipke, Michigan's former head coach, was an interested spectator.

"The team looks good," was his comment. "The first team ought to be red hot. No other Big Ten school can surpass Michigan's first string back field, but the Wolverines need capable substitutes."

HOOSIERS STRESS DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 21 [Special].—Indiana's squad today turned to defensive tactics designed to stop the double and single wing back plays and flanker attack of Nebraska's Cornhuskers who invade the Indiana stadium Sept. 30. The Hoosiers also sharpened up their tackling, worked on covering punts and blocking for the passer. Coach McMillin appeared to be pleased with the showing of the forward wall, led by Capt. Bill Logan, but composed chiefly of juniors. Two sophomores, Jim [Tiny] Trimble, tackle, and Gene White, guard, are battling for regular berths.

THREATENS BADGER SHAKEUP.

Coach Stuhldreher announced tonight that Raymond Kreick, sophomore end from Milwaukee, passed his examination in a correspondence course and is eligible for competition.

IRISH TRY PASSES.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 21 [Special].—Coach Elmer Layden restored the first and second string Notre Dame back fields to their proper forward walls today, after reversing them for yesterday's scrimmage. A forward passing scrimmage was held today. Coach Layden said a light workout will be held tomorrow prior to Saturday's freshman-varsity game.

MAROONS STRESS DEFENSE.

Emphasis will be laid on defense today in the second day of scrimmage on the Midway, with reserve Maroon linemen receiving a thorough going over in the arts of blocking and tackling. Although passing, punting, and other offensive fundamentals have been pursued daily since the start of practice, Coach Clark Shaughnessy is certain both backs and linemen still need grooming in defensive play. Yesterday first string backs had little trouble plowing through and around the reserves. Co-Capt. John Davenport, who had developed greater shiftiness than he exhibited last year, was the outstanding ground gainer, several times breaking loose for long runs.

Milton Weiss, transfer center from Notre Dame, has been moved to second string tackle, backing up minor letterman Don Wilson. The switch was made possible by the development of Morrie Grinbarg, 215 pound center, who has been moved up from the third string.

BROCK IN PURDUE LINEUP.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 21 [Special].—The return to action of Lou Brock, veteran triple-threat half back, provided the highlight of this afternoon's forward passing scrimmage as Purdue continued preparation for the season's opener with Notre Dame in South Bend on Sept. 30. Brock, who suffered an injured ankle in a softball game a few days before practice started and has been a sideline spectator for ten days, took part in the scrimmage for only a few moments, but the brief appearance was enough to raise the hope that he will be able to start against the Irish.

Brock appeared in a veteran back field that had Jack Brown at left half back, Leon De Witte at full back, and Ted Hennis at quarter back. He was relieved by midget Mike Byelene, the third of the "Three Bees," whose passing was particularly effective.

SPARTAN INJURIES MOUNT.

East Lansing, Mich., Sept. 21 [Special].—Further scrimmage was ordered today although the injury toll continued to mount on the Michigan State squad. Today's drills were devoted to improving the aerial attack.

Will Davis, sophomore quarter back, joined the injured list today when he suffered a twisted knee. Ed Pogor, veteran guard, suffered a pulled muscle that will keep him on the bench for several days. A shortage of ends has resulted from injuries to Mike Kinek, Bruce Blackburn, and Bob Fiedlund. Ralph Bennett is the only veteran end who is ready for action.

Henry Armstrong, Ambers Spurn Chicago Offers

A proposed title bout between Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong or Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers and the survivor of the Davey Day-Sammy Angott elimination was given a setback yesterday when it was learned that neither champion will be available until next year. Day, No. 1 welterweight contender, meets Angott, No. 1 lightweight challenger, in Chicago Stadium Oct. 6.

After a contest with Al Manfredo of Fresno, Cal., in Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 9, Armstrong will not fight again until Dec. 1 when he defends his championship in a rematch against Ambers in New York Dec. 1, agents of Eddie Mead, manager of Henry, said. It is understood that Ambers will not perform before that time either.

Mead did not attend the Joe Louis-Bob Pastor fight in Detroit Wednesday because of illness.

Bill Rand, stadium matchmaker, and Irving Schoenwald, Chicago promoter, went to Detroit in an attempt to sign Armstrong to defend his title. Schoenwald wanted Henry to fight Milt Aron in International amphitheater. Aron faces Midget Mexico in Marigold Gardens on Monday.

Sullivan High Eleven Scores 40-0 Victory

Sullivan High, north section eleven of the Public School league, yesterday routed McKinley of the west division, 40 to 0, in a practice game in Winnemac park. Jack MacKenzie, star left half back, led Sullivan's attack against the west siders, scoring four touchdowns, one in each quarter. Other touchdowns were made by Harris Cohen and Ward Dobbin.

Lindblom of the central section, which played a scoreless tie with St. Rita in its opener last week, will travel to Toledo, O., to meet Waite High tonight. Marshall, which lost to Fenger, league champion, in its first game last Saturday night, will meet Waukegan tonight on the latter's field.

All members of the Big Seven conference will be in action tonignt for the first time this season with two Chicago schools among their opponents. Rockford opens its schedule against Schurz and East Aurora entertains Austin. Undefeated last year, East Aurora lost its 1939 opener to Libby High of Toledo, 14 to 7, last Friday night.

Emerson of Gary, Ind., will meet Hammond on the latter's field tonight in the feature game of the western division of the Northern Indiana High School conference. Emerson won the western title last year and defeated Elkhart in the playoff for the conference championship.

South Bend Central will meet South Bend Washington in School Field stadium in the opening game in the eastern section of the Hoosier conference. Central and Washington are undefeated, each having two victories in pre-conference games. Washington defeated Central last season, 7 to 0.

Loyola academy's eleven will seek its second victory of the season tomorrow afternoon against Mount Carmel in Loyola stadium. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

JACK TORRANCE, DOWN TO 278, IS SIGNED BY BEARS

Jack Torrance has earned his contract with the Chicago Bears. Coach George Halas announced yesterday that the former giant of Louisiana State was down to 278 pounds, four pounds better than the agreed shrinkage. Torrance made an agreement with Halas that he would take off 32 pounds to make good his contract. He will appear against the Packers Sunday at Green Bay, Halas said, "and I'm sure he will deliver the goods."

Sid Luckman is constantly improving and is being used as a half back and quarter back. The Bears consider him one of the prizes of the draft. Johnny Siegal, a Columbia teammate of Luckman's, reported this week and is making a good impression at end.

The squad of 30 will leave Chicago tomorrow afternoon at 1:05 for Green Bay. The Laurie Walquist special train will leave Sunday morning at 8:05, central standard time.

Recommend 7 Lake Michigan Refuge Ports

A hearing to determine the necessity for harbors of refuge along the Lake Michigan shoreline in Illinois and Indiana will be held Oct. 3 in the new postoffice building. The proposed harbors would be large enough to accommodate pleasure craft and small fishing vessels in the event of sudden squalls.

The hearing has been called by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, Washington, D. C. Arguments for and against the preliminary report submitted by a committee comprising district army engineers from Chicago, Buffalo, Detroit, Milwaukee, and Duluth will be heard. A hearing for the Duluth area will be held Oct. 2 and for the Buffalo, N. Y., area Oct. 4.

Recommend 33 Harbors.

The committee, authorized by the river and harbor act of 1937, made a survey of harbor facilities for light draft vessels along the Great Lakes' shoreline. It recommended establishment of 12 harbors of refuge on Lake Superior, seven each on Lake Michigan and Lake Huron, three on Lake Erie, and two on Lake Ontario.

Yachting groups and others interested had sought 12 such harbors between the Wisconsin-Illinois and Michigan-Indiana lines, according to Robert C. Kingery of the Chicago Regional Planning association. They included enlarging, rebuilding, or new harbors at the following spots:

Points Are Selected.

Zion City, Great Lakes, Highland Park, Wilmette, Belmont and Montrose avenues, Chicago river mouth, Jackson park, Whiting, Ind., Gary, Ind., Indiana Dunes State park, Michigan City, Ind., and New Buffalo, Mich.

The district engineers' report recommends seven on Lake Michigan, but all are along the Michigan side. They are at Naubinway, Epoufette, Pointe Detour, Cedar River, Leland, Sturgeon Bay, and St. James, Beaver Island. Maj. S. N. Karrick, district army engineer here, said several others in the Chicago area were being reviewed.

Pirates Win Both Games from Bees

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 21 (AP).—The Pirates displayed two promising rookie hurlers today as they virtually clinched sixth place in the National league by defeating the seventh place Boston Bees, 6 to 4 and 7 to 0.

Johnny Gee, $70,000 southpaw obtained from Syracuse, yielded a dozen hits, five by Johnny Cooney, but fanned 11. Oadis Swigart, obtained from Knoxville, allowed but one man to reach third base in the nightcap.

KING LEVINSKY SNEAKS AWAY TO QUIET WEDDING

Always a fellow to be different, in or out of a boxing or wrestling ring, King Levinsky tucked away an Illinois marriage license for a keepsake yesterday and dashed to Indiana for a quiet wedding.

The former Maxwell street fish peddler, who gave up heavyweight boxing for more secure employment as a wrestler, was married early last night in Valparaiso, Ind., to Miss Frieda Berg, 25 years old, of 1253 South Karlov avenue.

The ceremony originally was planned to take place yesterday in the county building, Levinsky having visited the Chicago license bureau earlier in the week, giving his name as Harry Krakow and his age as 28. This procedure apparently was a ruse, in the opinion of Bruce Bornholt, Valparaiso justice of the peace, who reported the details of the wedding.

was warming up his home run ball and flied to Walker. Dickey then knocked his 23d homer, scoring behind Keller. After Selkirk had been thrown out, Gordon smashed a 400 footer to left, his 26th homer of the year. Dahlgren flied to Rosenthal.

With two out in the Sox fourth, Johnny Gerlach batted for Dietrich and singled to center. Bejma also singled, but Rosenthal bounced to Gordon. Brown made his 58th replacement appearance at the start of the fourth.

Though slightly punchy as a result of the foldup of his boys during the last week, Manager Dykes was lucid enough before today's New York farewell to reveal his plans for the eighth place Browns. Rigney and Smith will pitch Saturday's double-header in Comiskey park. Lee and Knott will go against the Brownies in Sunday's double-header.

FIRST IN ENJOYMENT
Smokers know Phillies as an unusually mild and mellow cigar, from end to end. One proof of Phillies quality is the fact that so many former 10¢ cigar smokers have switched to Phillies and are more than satisfied.
FIRST IN VALUE
Phillies is the only cigar in history to become the biggest-selling brand at 10¢—and then be given to smokers for just 5¢. GUARANTEED the same fine imported wrapper, same ripe Domestic and exactly the same quantity and quality of choice Havana tobacco.
FIRST CHOICE WITH SMOKERS
Every day, from coast to coast, men walk up to cigar counters and put down more money for Phillies than for any other cigar at any price. There must be a reason.

SPICATE WAKES UP; PAYS $149 AT HAWTHORNE

BY HOWARD BARRY.

A sleeper of the Rip Van Winkle class was put over at odds of nearly 75 to 1 in the seventh race at Hawthorne race track yesterday. This was Spicate, a 7 year old gelding which hadn't started since last September. After racing with the trailers through the early stages of the mile and a sixteenth gallop, Spicate came up in the stretch, Zor moving with him. Both of them caught Geologist in the last sixteenth and Spicate beat Zor by a head.

The winner returned $149.60, $68.40 and $21. He is owned by Mrs. A. T. Wooster and was ridden by Harold Kees.

Ebony Boy Scores.

The Highland purse, a gallop of a mile and seventy yards, developed into a two horse race between Ebony Boy and Naughty. The former won by a neck after taking the lead on the first turn, relinquishing it in the course of a furious stretch drive and regaining it in the final strides. They finished seven lengths ahead of Myponne, the show horse.

Ebony Boy, which has moved up considerably in class during the last few weeks, repaid his backers with $19.80, $6.40 and $3.60.

Weisenheimer, racing at odds of 4 to 5, hustled home half a length ahead of Broken Pieces in the Juniper purse. Lazarus was third in this six furlong allowance event. Though he took the lead soon after the start and stayed there all the way, he had to work for his victory.

He was weakening badly when Broken Pieces came alongside in the last 40 yards. Jockey Jack Richard's task was complicated by the fact that Weisenheimer was drifting out.

Weisenheimer was one of the few odds-on choices of the meeting, returning $3.60, $2.80, and $2.60.

Lose Without a Run.

Those who bet on Mr. Miles in the first race lost their bets without a run for their money. This bad actor was excused by the stewards after being injured while wrestling with an assistant starter in the six and a half furlong chute. Under one of the more peculiar rules adopted by many racing commissions, including that of Illinois, no refund is made after a horse goes on the track even though he is dead by the time the field gets the bell.

Blossom Queen, a 10 to 1 shot, won this race, starting a daily double which was completed by Rembrandt in the second. It was worth $92.60.

Light Lark Fails Again.

John Marsch's Light Lark went to the post as the favorite for the second consecutive time and she failed again, quitting so fast that she dropped from third to eighth in the last furlong of the Dorchester purse. Meanwhile Winlette, drifting out all the way down the stretch, lasted just long enough to beat Cantata by a neck in this six furlong dash for maiden 2 year olds. Comely Maid, saving ground by racing beside the rail from the start, hung on well enough to withstand Lady Arlington's rush for third place.

29 WILL START FROM SCRATCH IN ELGIN RACE

Though the field in the Elgin to Chicago 50 mile bicycle race Sunday afternoon numbers nearly 500, there will be only 29 riders facing the starter from scratch. This was announced last night by Secretary John A. Pelka of the George F. Barrett A. C. In this group of 29 are Ed Carfagnini of Chicago, crowned national road champion at Buffalo, N. Y., last week.

Blocking Is Stressed in Marquette Workout

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 21 [Special].—Blocking was stressed at Marquette today as the backs, ends, and tackles engaged in a brisk skeleton scrimmage. Offense has been featured in this week's heavy workouts and it will be next Tuesday before the varsity gets a test against Wisconsin plays in anticipation of the season's opener with the Badgers at Madison Sept. 30. A regulation game with the freshmen is scheduled for tomorrow.

WORSTED GOODS PRICE BOOSTED 15 CENTS A YARD

Up 40 Cents in Week; Wool Soars.

The American Woolen company, a leading concern in the domestic woolen textile industry, yesterday advanced worsted goods 15 cents a yard. The increase followed advances running to 25 cents a yard earlier in the week. Other woolen goods were also marked up a total of 40 cents a yard. The advances resulted from the soaring prices of raw wool, which were lifted another cent to $1.26 a pound in the New York market.

[Worsted goods is made of longer, harder twisted fiber. It is rated better quality goods.]

Helping to boost woolen goods prices were doubts expressed in the trade as to whether the United States army and navy would be able to satisfy their immediate requirements. Some bids called for by the army quartermaster base at Philadelphia were reported as high as $2.874 a yard, whereas the last price paid was $1 a yard under that figure.

Wool Stocks Are Low.

Stocks of wool in the hands of dealers are unusually low, it was said. In Canada 750,000 pounds of impounded Australian wool were reported released for Canadian use, apparently indicating that Britain's allocation of the entire Australian supply was intended to benefit the dominions as well as Great Britain.

In Worth street, the New York textile market center, a broad demand for cotton goods appeared after a few days of quiet trading. Some mills advanced their asking prices ⅛ cent a yard, but dry goods were said to be available at the prices prevailing recently.

Meanwhile it was reported that prospects of a large demand for du Pont's new synthetic fiber, "nylon," has led the company to increase the capacity of the plant being built at Seaford, Del., by 25 per cent, and to begin plans for another plant. The fiber will probably be used extensively in the manufacture of synthetic silk, particularly for women's hosiery.

Canned Salmon Advance.

Canned salmon were on yesterday's list of increased prices. Pinks were selling at $1.50 a dozen, and supplies were limited. Reds were quoted at $2.35 a dozen. It was reported that total supplies, including both the carryover and the 1939 pack, are 1,600,000 cases short of actual sales in the year ended June 30.

Dealers in foodstuffs said that the expected rush to buy on the part of foreign nations has begun in earnest. Few details of sales were available, but heavy demand was reported by dealers in the United States, Canada, and Argentina.

The bureau of labor statistics index of wholesale commodity prices rose to 79.3 per cent of the 1926 average at the end of last week. This was the highest point reached since the spring of 1938. A month ago it stood at 74.6 per cent.

FUTURES PRICES OF COMMODITIES MOSTLY HIGHER

The general trend in commodity futures at New York yesterday was upward, although some items finished lower. Hides continued to work higher, gaining .45 to .55 cent a pound on top of Wednesday's advance of as much as ¼ cent. Tin futures showed firmness for the first time this week, rising 1½ to 4.35 cents a pound. Cash tin was again unquoted. Copper and lead moved slightly higher. Zinc closed irregular.

Silk futures climbed as much as 7 cents a pound and wool tops rose 1.2 to 2.9 cents a pound. The July delivery was an exception to the general trend in the latter market, closing .6 cent lower.

Business Men Oppose War, Profiteering

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—Leaders of some industries which may be expected to profit most under war conditions today praised the National Association of Manufacturers' plea to avoid war, eschew profiteering, and keep prices from rising too rapidly. The association's statement of policy was made public Wednesday.

Lammot du Pont.

"Your statement on the subject of American industry's attitude toward war and the principles which will govern American industry in wartimes has been carefully reviewed. We agree with the statements contained therein and pledge ourselves to be governed by the policies and principles outlined therein. We will take reasonable and proper steps to induce other manufacturers to coöperate."

Sloan Indorses Policy.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, whose subsidiaries may be expected to enjoy increased wartime profits, telegraphed:

Alfred P. Sloan Jr.

"I am heartily in accord and indorse without reservation the position of your association in relation to the price policy of American industry under the existing emergency.

"I am very definitly of the belief that this should be industry's position, and right now. The capitalization of war business, irrespective of its source, through an inflation of profits means a like inflation of all the factors that constitute costs through the whole economy.

"The result is certain to lead to an inflationary spiral with an ultimate accounting, the consequences of which are bound to be disastrous. This to me is the most important economic problem that faces industry in the present situation."

People Expect Real Leadership.

Donaldson Brown, vice chairman of the board of General Motors and a director of E. I. du Pont de Nemours wired:

"The United States is entering the most critical period in its history. The people of the United States are looking to its leaders to preserve our form of government, our institutions, and the freedom for which our forefathers fought.

"The managers of American industry must not fail to do their part in giving the people this kind of leadership. We must, by example, demonstrate our right to exercise leadership. There is no surer way to lose this right than to use this emergency for profiteering or any other selfish motive not consistent with the objective of protecting the interests of the American people."

W. T. Holliday, president, Standard Oil of Ohio, Cleveland, O., said:

"The National Association of Manufacturers' statement that we can and must keep out of war is a timely challenge to the philosophy of despair which is being promulgated by all too many people who are saying that we will inevitably be drawn into the war."

Telegrams of similar approval were received from many others including:

Walter J. Kohler, chairman, Kohler company; W. W. Holloway, president, Wheeling Steel company; Edgar M. Queeny, president, Monsanto Chemical company; S. Bayard Colgate, chairman, Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company; F. B. Davis Jr., president, United States Rubber company; H. W. Prentis Jr., president, Armstrong Cork company.

MOUNTING WAR FEVER LIFTS CIRCULATION OF EUROPEAN CURRENCIES

GENEVA, Sept. 21 (AP).—The league of nations' statistical office today reported that during August, the month of Europe's mounting war fever, the majority of European nations increased their paper money in circulation 4 to 30 per cent over July.

Bulgaria's printing presses turned fastest with a 30 per cent increase. Germany was next with 21 per cent.

Other increases were: Hungary, 18 per cent; Switzerland, 16; Latvia and Sweden, 10 each; the Netherlands, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania, 9; Denmark, 6; France and Turkey, 5; and Britain and Finland, 4.

Note circulation of the Bank of England decreased £6,977,000 [about $27,900,000 on the basis of $4 for the pound] to £5436,498,000 [about $2,185,992,000] on Sept. 20, according to the bank's weekly statement.

The Bank of France reported note circulation declined 1,141,000,000 francs [about $25,443,000] to 145,008,000,000 francs [about $3,333,670,000].

VALUE OF 'FREE' STERLING GAINS AGAINST DOLLAR

The value of "free" sterling in New York gained against the dollar yesterday. It closed at $3.99½, up 7¼ cents. The final price was 2½ cents below the "official" rate fixed for the pound by the Bank of England. French currency gained .05 cent at 2.27½ cents. The Canadian dollar was unchanged at 91 cents. Belgian and Italian currencies dropped fractionally. The Swiss franc and Dutch guilder held steady.

The weekly statement of the federal reserve banks showed the nation's gold stock at $16,902,000,000 on Sept. 20, an increase of $94,000,000.

Increased activity and firm prices marked securities dealing on the London stock exchange yesterday. Other principal European markets continued along narrow lines because of strict government control regulations. Quiet trading prevailed at Amsterdam, the only major continental exchange not hampered by regulatory measures.

Gold was quoted steady at 168 shillings in the London market. This was equivalent to $33.85 an ounce on the basis of $4.03 for sterling.

Freight Trafic Heaviest Since Fall of 1937

Responding to increased industrial activity throughout the United States, loadings of revenue freight in the week ended last Saturday exceeded the highest 1938 and 1939 marks to reach the best level since the week of Oct. 15, 1937, the weekly report of the Association of American Railroads showed yesterday.

Loadings of 805,733 cars were barely below the 806,000 in the week ended Oct. 15, 1937. The gain of 145,570 cars, or 22.1 per cent, over the corresponding 1938 week, was the largest percentage increase over 1938 recorded this year. As compared with the preceding holiday week, the increase was 138,324 cars, or 20.7 per cent.

Trafic Near 1937 Levels.

The decline from the comparable 1937 week was 17,062 cars, or 2.1 per cent, the smallest of this year. Also, the loadings total surpassed the corresponding 1936 week for the first time in nearly two years.

The more than seasonal gain carried the Dow-Jones index to 91.5, against 84.9 in the preceding week, its highest point since the week ended July 10, 1937.

Roads Report Sharp Gains.

One of the best reports submitted by individual carriers was that of the Chesapeake and Ohio. The 41,269 cars loaded by the road were the largest in more than 10 years.

The Norfolk and Western reported that mines in the road's coal fields loaded 20,485 cars with an estimated 1,024,250 tons of coal. The loadings were only 48 cars short of the all-time record established during the week of March 27, 1937.

The C. & O., Norfolk and Western, and the Virginian railway, three main roads serving the southern West Virginia coal fields, have ordered mines to hold no more than one day's rating of cars not billed for shipments.

AMERICANS UNDERBID BRITISH GOVERNMENT ON MARINE INSURANCE

New York, Sept. 21 [Special].—American marine underwriters offering risk insurance today underbid the British government in offering cargo insurance on westbound American vessels at $1.50 per $100 of valuation. A charge of $2 per $100 is asked by the British war risks insurance office. The American rate formerly was $2.50.

Premiums on cargoes bound for United Kingdom ports from the United States were held at the $2.50 rate established more than a week ago by the insurance companies.

Announcement Wednesday that the British government was ready to issue insurance on all cargoes traveling to or from the United Kingdom in any vessels, except German, at a rate of $2 per $100, brought a rush of inquiries from shippers here anxious to cover at those rates. Today reports that France was offering similar coverage circulated widely in foreign trade and shipping quarters.

AIR TRAVEL SETS ANOTHER PEAK DURING AUGUST

For the fourth consecutive month air travel in the United States last month set a new all-time peak. This was announced yesterday by Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America.

Revenue passenger miles flown in August by sixteen major air lines which are members of the association increased 2.97 per cent over the total for July, the previous peak month. August trafic also rose 47.54 per cent over the total for August, 1938. The lines flew a total of 67,977,118 revenue passenger miles, compared with 66,018,295 in July and 46,073,161 in August last year.

SAN FRANCISCO STOCKS EXTEND NEW YORK RISE

Caused by Roosevelt Arms Plea.

Stock prices advanced briskly in trading on the San Francisco exchange yesterday after the close of the market in New York. The upturn came as a result of Roosevelt's plea for removal of the arms embargo.

United States Steel was boosted to 81⅛ and closed at 80½, or nearly two points above the final price at New York. These late gains in the western market followed substantial advances recorded earlier at New York.

Caterpillar Tractor	62	61	+1⅜
Crown-Zellerbach	15⅝	15¼+	¼
Curtiss-Wright	7⅞	7⅝+	⅜
General Motors	54⅝	54¼+	¼
N. A. Aviation	22½	21⅝+	⅝
Pacific Lighting	45¼	45	...
Standard Oil Cal	32	31⅜+	⅞
Southern Pacific	17¼	16⅝+	⅜
Transamerica	7⅜	7⅛+	⅜
U. S. Steel	80½	78⅝+	1¼

Gain Up to 3 Points.

At San Francisco many shares rose substantial fractions to about 3 points over the preceding close there.

Advances averaging about a point were made by California Packing, Waialua Agricultural, Hawaiian Pineapple and similar industrials. Oils were mostly fractionally higher and utilities were firm. Sales totaled 51,162 shares.

At New York careful but persistent buying lifted many stocks 1 to 4 points. General issues and war stocks shared in the advance.

With many operators disposed to keep to the sidelines pending the outcome of the neutrality session of congress, trading was relatively quiet. Only 1,731,300 shares moved, against 2,142,690 shares yesterday. Observers said that Washington replaced the western war front as the center of interest today.

Large Buying Appears.

Around midday a surge of buying—attributed to short covering and fresh demand—swept over the list and prices bounded forward. Sustained buying throughout the third and fourth hours brought prices to their best levels. The gains generally were maintained till the close. Regarded as significant was the fact that volume tended to expand on the advances and contract on the dips.

Railroad equipment shares were among the leaders. Steels featured the war issues. Both United States Steel and Bethlehem added 1¼ points.

Aviation issues also pointed higher under the lead of Douglas, which added 2¼ points. Glenn Martin,

Soaring Scrap Prices Worry Steel Makers

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

With the nation's steel mills moving into high speed to meet the demands of industry generally, the soaring prices of steel and iron scrap are becoming a matter of concern for many companies, steel company officials said yesterday. Prices of scrap have advanced $4 to $5 a ton in the Chicago and Pittsburgh consuming areas in the last 90 days.

Scrap is one of the raw materials from which steel is made. It is mixed in the furnace either with pig iron or the molten iron that comes directly from the blast furnace.

Some steel companies use as high as 50 per cent or more of scrap in making steel. Some of the larger companies use smaller proportions—as little as 20 per cent. The amount of scrap used in making special type steels depends on technical requirements.

Expect Higher Steel Prices.

Steel company executives and dealers in scrap are taking divergent positions with respect to the sharp upturn in scrap prices. But both groups agree that the increases ultimately must be reflected in the price of steel.

Officials of the steel companies assert that two factors are responsible: 1. The shipment of vast tonnages of scrap to foreign nations. 2. Profiteering by scrap dealers, and particularly by the smaller dealers.

One steel man said that three-fourths of the increase in the price of scrap must inevitably be reflected in the price of the steel. Thus, $3 of a $4 a ton boost in the price of scrap would be passed on to the purchaser of steel. Most of the steel companies have inventories of scrap sufficient to carry them three or four months, even at the present high operating rate.

Must Replenish Stocks.

But when the present stocks are exhausted they will have to go into the market and pay the high prices or use a higher percentage of pig iron.

A. J. Clonick of the Clonick Steel company, a large Chicago scrap dealer, said that although the sharp rise in the price of scrap may be attributed in part to the "war state of mind" which has sent prices of other commodities soaring, a larger part of the increase is due to the law of supply and demand.

Clonick said that only about 10 per cent of this country's scrap is exported and of this none originates in the middle west because freight rates to the seaports would make the price that would have to be charged prohibitive.

Best Grades Scarce.

Clonick said there is a scarcity of heavy melting scrap—the top grade—which consists of railroad scrap, beams from buildings, and other items.

He cited the fact that the market is improving for items such as old automobiles—rated as secondary scrap because of the alloys in the automobile steels—to be indicative of the broadening demand for scrap.

No. 1 heavy melting scrap has been bringing from $17 to $17.50 a ton in Chicago, and in the Pittsburgh area it has been quoted as high as $21.50 to $22 a ton.

RESERVE BANKS END SUPPORT OF FEDERAL BONDS

Prices Dip with Six Issues Under Par.

The federal reserve board yesterday withdrew its direct support from the government bond market after three weeks of aggressive buying. The step brought an abrupt decline in prices of government securities, several of which fell below par for the first time in nearly 18 months.

After the close of the market in New York government securities continued their decline in dealings in the over the counter market in Chicago and other trading centers.

The reserve board made no explanation of its action in withdrawing support from the market. Government bond dealers in Chicago and other cities that have been handling the purchases were notified that no buying orders would be placed.

Cut Bond Borrowing Rate.

At the same time in Washington officials of the reserve board disclosed that the central banks in six cities outside of New York had reduced from 1½ to 1 per cent the rate at which member banks of the system may borrow on government bonds. The action was taken to discourage further liquidation of government securities by smaller banks which has contributed to the selling that has depressed prices for the last three weeks. Banks are now able to borrow up to the face value of the bonds at the reserve banks at 1 per cent.

Bond dealers reported that the selling of government issues yesterday came chiefly from corporations, individuals, and smaller banks. Neither corporations nor individuals are affected by the lowering in the rate at which banks may discount their bonds at the central reserve banks.

Six Close Below Par.

A half dozen government issues closed below par on the New York exchange. It was the first time that many of these issues have fallen to this level since April, 1938 although some of the shorter term securities have been selling under par for several days.

The following table shows yesterday's closing quotations on six government issues selling under par, compared with the prices quoted Aug. 21, before the current slump began, and with the high prices for 1939, which were reached early in June:

Reduces Bond Purchases.

Owners of these securities now have the opportunity, as part of the City's plan for unification, to offer their securities to the City of New York and if their offer is accepted they will obtain cash on October 4, 1939. Quick action is necessary.

Only $10,000,000 is now available to the City for the cash purchase of these securities. Unless offerings are made at prices which the City regards as advantageous to it, they will not be accepted.

Making Estate Plans Effective

MEN, who during a successful lifetime have provided comfort and happiness for their families, often fail to make wills. Yet a will is the one means by which men may extend their thought and consideration beyond their own time. The First National Bank of Chicago does not write wills, but, as a result of its years of experience in the actual administration of estates, can be helpful to lawyers and their clients in the preparation of estate plans. This broad experience as executor and trustee also enables the Trust Department efficiently to carry out the provisions of a will, into which the desires of the maker have been carefully written by his lawyer. Officers are glad to discuss estate plans and the facilities that this bank, established more than seventy-five years, has developed to make such plans effective.

COTTON

Cotton markets weakened in the late trading yesterday after showing moderate strength early. Closing trades were .01 to .08 cent a pound lower. Mills were fair buyers early in the day. Liverpool showed relative strength on scattered buying and light offerings.

Reports from the English market said imports were restricted by lack of available ocean freight room. A belief prevailed there that the difference between the free and the controled rate of sterling exchange would gradually narrow facilitating the purchase of foreign cotton.

Farmers in Texas are said to be withholding their new crop cotton from the market on the belief that higher prices will prevail ultimately. Weather conditions were generally favorable for picking and ginning.

Spot cotton closed .05 to .06 cent lower with New York, 9.12 cents; New Orleans, 9.07 cents; Galveston, 8.90 cents and Houston at 8.87 cents a pound. Prices follow:

WHEAT CLIMBS; CLOSING TRADES AT TOP FOR DAY

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .86⅝	$ .85¼	$ .64⅛
Corn	.55⅝	.54⅞	.49⅝
Oats	.34⅞	.34¼	.25¼
Rye	.54⅝	.52½	.43⅜
Soybeans	.82⅝	.81½	.75¼

Strength in securities, predictions of inflation, and lack of selling pressure were largely responsible for an advance of about 1½ cents a bushel in prices of wheat futures yesterday. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at the top.

Outside speculative interest in the wheat market was small, and it required only limited buying or selling orders to cause sharp price changes. An undertone of uncertainty regarding the immediate trend of the market was noted in commission house comment. Winnipeg wheat futures closed unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel lower.

Expect Little Export Business.

Little hope of export business in American cash wheat is held out by leading interests because of the high prices asked as compared with offerings from Argentina. Sales of grain from the latter country were made at Antwerp during the last week at about the same prices asked for American hard winter wheat at Atlantic ports.

Sales of 200,000 to 300,000 barrels of domestic flour have been made recently to the Dutch government, it is reported, through the aid of the export subsidy. A good business also has been done with the West Indies, Central America, and the Philippine Islands.

Corn Futures Higher.

Corn futures closed ¾ to ⅞ cent higher. The upturn was assisted by reports indicating that Europe was seeking supplies of American grain. There were unconfirmed reports that 300,000 bushels of corn had been sold for export earlier in the week, but business is said to be restricted by lack of available ocean freight room.

New corn has started to move unusually early. A car of new sample grade white corn was received at Chicago yesterday and sold at 50 cents a bushel.

BENTON HARBOR FRUIT PRICES.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Sept 21 [Special].—Today's Benton Harbor fruit market prices were: Grapes, Concords, four quarts, 11 to 12 cents; 12 quarts, No. 1, 19 to 20 cents; No. 2, best, 17 to 17½ cents; poorer, 15 to 16 cents. Pears, bushels Kieffers, 2-inch, 50 to 60 cents. Apples, bushels, McIntosh, 2½-inch, 45 to 50 cents; Delicious, 2½-inch, 75 to 90 cents; Jonathans, 2¼-inch, 55 to 65 cents. Plums, Monarchs, half bushels, 65 to 70 cents. Lima beans 12 quarts, 50 to 55 cents.

UTILITY DEFERS PLAN TO REORGANIZE; MUCH OF STOCK HELD ABROAD

Because large blocks of securities are held by European investors, reorganization plans of the Central and South West Utilities company are being held in abeyance pending the war, it was said yesterday. P. L. Smith, president of the Middle West corporation, the parent company, said the directors have decided not to file any reorganization plan with the securities and exchange commission for at least two months.

In addition to Central and South West, Europeans also hold securities of the American Public Service company, which is controled by the former company, Smith said.

Directors of Middle West have decided definitly against returning headquarters to Chicago because of what they term excessive liability for personal property taxes, Smith asserted. It was thought originally that amendments to the law passed at the last session of the Illinois legislature would pave the way for the company's return. However, the directors believe that the company's tax liability would be greater now than before the amendments, Smith said.

BANK CLEARINGS AGAIN EXCEED THOSE OF 1938

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—Bank clearings in 22 leading cities for the week ended Sept. 20 topped the figures of a year ago for the ninth consecutive week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Totaling $6,075,097,000, they were 1.5 per cent ahead of the $5,987,279,000 reported for the like week of 1938, but were $44,465,000 under the preceding 1939 week's volume.

New York clearings at $3,637,586,000 fell 7.3 per cent from the preceding week and were 4 per cent under last year. The total of $2,437,511,000 in the other 21 cities was 11 per cent above the preceding week and 11 per cent ahead of last year. Chicago clearings were $333,200,000 against $295,400,000 last year.

BANK OF ENGLAND TO PAY ITS USUAL DIVIDEND OF 6%

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP).—"The Little Old Lady of Threadneedle Street"—the Bank of England—serenely conducting business as usual, declared today the same dividend of 6 per cent, less tax, which has been paid twice every year since 1923.

The bank's profits for the half year ended Aug. 31 were reported at £633,923 [about $2,494,487 at today's rate of exchange], "after making provision for all contingencies." The profit for the same half year in 1938 was £633,727.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

A Colorless Autumn.

September 21, 1939.

CITY dwellers who look forward to autumn and its annual colorful display of red, golden, yellow, and orange leaves may be disappointed this season. Due to the drouth there may be little color in the wood lots and hedgerows in Chicagoland.

Not even Jack Frost, who is credited with the magic power of painting the leaves with gaudy colors, will help matters, according to Dr. George Fuller, professor emeritus of ecology of the department of botany, University of Chicago, who accompanied us on a hike over the Du Page county farm the other day.

Dr. Fuller says that the dry, hot weather of August and September has dried the leaves and pumped the life-giving protoplasm from them. Instead of dying gradually as the leaves usually do during August, September, and October, they have shriveled and dried quickly this year. Many leaves already have fallen to the ground, and many more have dried on the limbs, eliminating them from any consideration as colorful autumn attractions.

Leaves Cover Sod.

As we walked through one section of the farm this week we noticed that the sod under a huge river maple already was covered with dead leaves and that the leaves of a nearby poplar tree were drying. A Norway maple, which last year at this time was a brilliant golden color, now is turning brown at the top. Sumacs, which add a bright scarlet to the autumn landscape, have some red leaves now, but a majority of their leaves are dried up. Elm and horse chestnut trees are following the same trend.

Very large trees have a better chance of showing good autumn coloration than medium sized and small trees. A giant oak, hickory, elm, or other tree has roots which go very deep and therefore has a greater area of soil from which to draw moisture. But medium sized and small trees have exhausted their supply of moisture from the soil near the surface which now is cracked and dust dry as a result of the drouth.

The popular belief that the trees show bright colors after a frost is a fallacy, according to Dr. Fuller. A sudden frost at this time would further kill the leaves instead of giving them additional color.

Other Plants Affected.

The dry weather not only has affected the trees and their leaves, but also the shrubs, vines, and autumn wildflowers. Virginia creeper, which often is planted for its bright red leaves during the autumn months, is a disappointment this fall. We noticed one of these plants growing over a dead oak tree this week, and it too was turning brown instead of coloring.

It did have some red leaves, but they were not abundant as in other years. The New England asters are another example of the effects of dry, warm weather. Last fall and every fall there have been thousands of these beautiful autumn flowers around the farm ponds and in other areas. This season they can be counted in the hundreds, not thousands.

RESERVE BANKS END SUPPORT OF FEDERAL BONDS

Wednesday less than 3 millions of bonds was added to the holdings of the central reserve banks, for whose account the board's purchases are made. During the two preceding weeks the purchases totaled 397 million dollars. These purchases represented the first substantial buying of government loans that the board had made in more than a year.

The liquidation of government securities and other high grade bonds has been caused by widespread belief that the European war will result in an advance in interest rates. Some hardening of rates on commercial loans has already occurred, but the reserve board's statement showed that the unemployed reserve funds of banks rose to another peak figure last week.

5 Billion 280 Million Idle.

These reserves aggregate 5 billion 280 million more than the banks are legally required to maintain. Last week's increase amounted to 10 millions.

Commercial banks in New York and Chicago again increased their business loans. Loans to commercial borrowers in Chicago rose 4 millions over the preceding week. In New York an increase of 25 millions was reported. Loans of New York banks to brokers and dealers or stock market collateral fell 25 millions from a week earlier.

PRIME BONDS DECLINE

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—Bonds of prime rating felt the weight of further liquidation today, but many speculative issues improved fractions to around 3 points.

Weakness of United States government loans, which showed losses running to around 1½ points, was the cue for a fairly general selling movement in corporate low yield issues. The Associated Press average for the latter dropped to 104.0 from 110.0 at the outbreak of the European war.

New announcements by various important railroads of plans for large spending to put the properties in condition to handle a large increase in trafic continued to whet the speculative appetite for medium priced rail liens which have maintained full interest payments through the long period of depression.

Leading the rail advance were New York Central 5s at 66¼, up 1½; Nickel Plate 4½s at 58¾, up 1, and Alleghany 5s of '49 at 75¼, up 3¼, and stamped 5s of '50 at 43¼, up 2⅝.

Bonds of various European neutral nations near the trouble zone were thrown for losses ranging from 5 to around 10 points. Affected were loans of Belgium, Denmark, Finland, and Norway.

PRODUCTION OF FLOUR IN LAST WEEK SETS A RECORD FOR 10 YEARS

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 21 (AP).—Flour production of mills throughout the country reached last week the highest level in ten years, reports to the Northwestern Miller, trade paper, announced today.

Mills reporting to the publication represented about 64 per cent of the nation's total production. They manufactured 1,832,714 barrels of flour last week, the most since the record week of Sept. 21, 1929, when 1,840,678 barrels were produced. The mills operated at an average of 83 per cent of capacity in the week ending last Saturday.

Mills in the southwest reached an all-time high, producing 655,926 barrels and operating at 96 per cent capacity. Buffalo mills, operating at 90 per cent of capacity, also set a weekly record, 267,885 barrels. Northwest mills, operating at 66 per cent of capacity, turned out 442,282 barrels, the most since July 8, 1933.

TULLY COMPANY LOW BIDDER ON SUBWAY SECTION

The John C. Tully company yesterday submitted the lowest bid, $803,220, for subway section S-4-B, running under State street from the north side of the Chicago river to Illinois street. Four bids were opened by Philip Harrington, commissioner of subways and traction.

The section, on which bids were rejected twice previously by the city as being too high, is the only tunnel job of the subway for which the contract has not been awarded. Tully's bid was $40,000 less than the low bid submitted April 6 and $30,000 less than the low price of June 1. The bid will be studied by Harrington and his staff before any action is recommended.

More than $30,400,000 in tunnel contracts covering in excess of seven miles have been awarded by the city since the subway was started. Contracts remain to be awarded, however, for 25 mezzanine stations and three portals, where the subway tube comes above ground to connect with the elevated structure.

BANKERS LEAVE FOR CONVENTION ON WEST COAST

GREYHOUND CORP. ORDERS BUSES TO COST 6½ MILLION

Several Railways to Buy or Rebuild Equipment.

Industrial activity yesterday was featured by an order for 350 buses costing about $6,500,000, which was placed by the Greyhound corporation with the Yellow Truck and Manufacturing company. The railroads continued to announce programs for new equipment and repair of old.

W. M. Jeffers tells Union Pacific's program.

The new Greyhound buses, while resembling to a considerable extent the 151 buses which were delivered last year, will have a number of improvements, officials of the company said. Streamlining will be more pronounced, interior designs will be more attractive, and there will be numerous refinements in construction. All will be airconditioned.

Will Use Diesel Engines.

The buses will be powered by Diesel engines and will accommodate 36 passengers each. They will be used on the company's main lines all over the country. Delivery will take place next spring. Greyhound now has about 2,500 buses in service.

W. M. Jeffers, president of the Union Pacific, disclosed yesterday that the road's repair and improvement program contemplates the laying of 100,000 tons of rail—equal to about 400 miles of track. The road laid about 500 miles of track this year.

New Haven to Buy Cars.

The New Haven railroad plans to issue an inquiry for 250 freight cars shortly. The Youngstown and Northern is inquiring for 100 mill type gondola cars, and the Union Pacific is inquiring for 100 dump cars.

The Lima Locomotive works has received an order from the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railway for two locomotives of the 2-8-4 type.

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway has recalled 300 men to work to recondition locomotive equipment, Mathew S. Sloan, president, announced. The men have been furloughed since 1937.

Work is being given an additional 800 men at the Vought-Sikorsky Manufacturing company's plant at Hartford, Conn., as a result of a recent order from the navy department. This will raise the total at the plant to 1,100.

Steel Works to Resume.

The Shenango works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation will resume operations at Youngstown, O., with its full complement of forty hot tin plate mills and all available coating and finishing facilities. About 2,500 workmen were recalled.

Substantial increases in business were reported by heads of the Continental Motors corporation and the Perfect Circle company. C. J. Reese, president of Continental, which is moving its plant from Detroit to Muskegon, said unfilled orders on Sept. 16 amounted to $3,568,535, compared with $2,275,329 on July 31, an increase of 56 per cent. He said the orders represented a wide diversity of business.

Lothair Teetor, president of Perfect Circle, Hagerstown, Ind., said August piston ring sales were the largest for any August in the company's history.

WEAKENED POSITION.

I would appreciate any information you may have on Asbestos Manufacturing company. Why does the stock sell at such a low price?—V. S.

Answer: For the first year in more than a decade Asbestos Manufacturing company was unable to operate profitably in 1938. A net loss of $136,534 was reported. This followed upon substantially reduced earnings in 1936 and 1937. No earnings reports have been made public so far this year.

In addition, the company's financial position ha~ deteriorated rapidly. Preferred stockholders earlier this year gave their approval to a plan to borrow not more than $350,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation or any bank or group of banks. Information upon whether the company has effected this loan has not been forthcoming.

Asbestos Manufacturing had $228,000 in first mortgage notes outstanding at Dec. 31, 1938, of which $29,000 were due this year and were listed among current liabilities. The indenture of these notes provides that the company maintain a minimum of $200,000 of current assets in excess of current liabilities, not including any portion of the current mortgage debt in current liabilities in this compilation.

At Dec. 31, 1938, current assets were $310,922 and current liabilities, including the $29,000 in notes due within the year, $191,102. This left working capital of $119,820. Excluding the $29,000 in notes currently due, it left only an excess of $148,821 of current assets over current liabilities as defined in terms of the mortgage note indenture.

This placed the entire mortgage balance in default and subject to call by the holder.

Net income in 1937 was $19,131, in 1936 $35,975 and 1935 $132,684. Major source of income is the manufacture and sale of brake lining. Original equipment sales have normally accounted for more than half of sales, although replacement sales, on a comparative basis, have grown in recent years.

The common is preceded in the capitalization by 15,700 outstanding shares of $1.40 cumulative convertible preferred, par $1. Only 35 cents a share was paid on this stock last year. Nothing has been declared this year. Arrears now amount to $2.10 a share. No dividends have been paid on the common since 1934.

Both the preferred and common are speculative at present. The low market price undoubtedly reflects declining earnings and uncertainty over the financial position.

NEW BUILDING IN ILLINOIS FAR ABOVE YEAR AGO

Construction of Homes Makes Largest Gain.

Building of all types in Illinois last month increased $2,576,542 over August of last year, the department of labor reported yesterday. It was slightly less than in July of this year.

A total of 3,704 permits was issued in 166 Illinois cities during August for buildings valued at $8,123,162. During the same month last year there were 2,619 permits for structures costing $5,546,620. During July of this year 2,863 permits for buildings valued at $8,278,332 were issued.

Biggest Gain in Homes.

The largest gain in August building figures over 1938 was in residential construction. Last month 782 permits were issued for new homes costing $4,029,088. During the same month last year 611 permits were for $2,665,598. The gain was $1,363,490 over 1938.

Home building made a slight decline in value during August compared with July. During the latter month permits were issued for 761 residential units, costing $4,254,128. Permits for 21 more homes were issued in August than in July.

Downstate Cities Gain.

Forty-one of the 96 downstate reporting cities recorded higher permit valuations for August than for July. Fifty-one reported higher permit valuations for August, 1939, than for August, 1938.

Sixty-five of the cities reported higher permit valuations for the first eight months of 1939 than for the same period of 1938.

PRICES OF HOGS DECLINE AFTER STEADY OPENING

The market for hogs weakened after a mostly steady opening yesterday, closing 10 to 20 cents under the average of the preceding session, with all classes sharing in the late slump. Spots at the close were as much as 25 cents under the high point of the preceding day. Spring pigs again comprised the bulk of the day's supply.

Pork was plentiful and prices were steady in wholesale channels. The range for loins in Chicago yesterday was $14.50 to $20.00 a hundred pounds.

Bankruptcy Bill Filed on Nordic Country Club

An involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed in United States District court yesterday against the Nordic Country club of Itasca, Ill., on behalf of five supply houses with claims totaling $2,000. The petition was filed by the law firm of Blum & Jacobson. The club was reorganized under federal bankruptcy laws two years ago.

COURT ORDERS BRIEFS IN LIVE STOCK FRAUD SUIT

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday gave the government until Sept. 28 to file briefs in its petition asking that witnesses be required to testify before an unfair trade practices hearing being conducted in the new postoffice by an examiner for Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Roberts & Oakes Packing company are asking $720,000 reparations from the Union Stockyards and Transit company, alleging that they have been cheated by independent stock traders, who bribed weighmasters to overweigh hogs and to aid in the substitution of inferior hogs for those already purchased.

Judge Barnes gave attorneys representing the witnesses until Oct. 9 to answer the government briefs. A trial date will be set by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Auto Loans but if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan On Your Signature Only without mortgages or endorsers. You may borrow $25 to $300—

On Your Signature Only

You make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months] and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money.

When you deal with LOCAL LOAN you borrow without the knowledge of your employer, friends and relatives.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.

Commonwealth's rate is less on all loans than the maximum rate permitted by law. You do not have to be an "executive" or have a "special" credit standing to qualify for OUR reduced rate. Commonwealth's monthly rate of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES AND CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course, persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

LOANS One Price to All

Examine the table below. It shows that $9.77 a month repays everything on a $100 loan in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for 20 months repays $100. The faster you pay the less the total cost.

CASH LOAN YOU GET	Amount you pay back each month including all charges: 6 Mos. Loan.	12 Mos. Loan.	16 Mos. Loan.	20 Mos. Loan.
50	9.09	4.88
70	12.73	6.84	$ 5.38	$ 4.51
100	18.17	9.77	7.68	6.43
125	22.70	12.19	9.58	8.03
150	27.19	14.59	11.46	9.59
200	36.17	19.37	15.19	12.69

These payments are calculated at Household's rate of 2½% on balances of $100 or less; 2% on balances of $100 to $300. These rates are less than the lawful maximum on all loans and are the same to every one. No endorsers. Loans made on furniture, car, or note. No wage assignments. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. To apply: Phone or visit office nearest you.

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

Can You Set Aside $1.34 to $1.52 Per Week FOR A $100 LOAN?

That's actually all you need to pay off in full a $100 cash loan, including all charges on a 20 month loan at Personal Finance Company. And we take no wage assignment.

$1.34 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $100 borrowed on Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1⅛% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income, Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $1.52 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $100 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less, and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note, or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.

This map of Wisconsin is the third of a series being printed by The Tribune in response to widespread demand from readers desiring to know in which congressional district they reside and the name of their congressman, so they may write to him in regard to questions of neutrality being debated at the special session of congress now in session. This map shows the boundaries of all the congressional districts in Wisconsin except the 4th and 5th, which lie wholly within Milwaukee county. Maps of Indiana, Iowa, and Michigan will follow. They are being presented as a service to Tribune readers without regard to Tribune policy. A ballot for use of readers in expressing their sentiments to congressmen and senators will be found on page 3. The ballot, if used, should be mailed to Washington, not to The Tribune.

Below are the names of the nine congressmen from Wisconsin and the names of the two United States senators from the state. There is a vacancy in the third district. Letters and telegrams may be addressed to them at Senate and House Office buildings, Washington, D. C.

Cocktail drinkers at "Uncle Sam's bar." This is a scene in the Glass Hat, bar at the Congress hotel, which is now run by the United States government. Uncle Sam got into the liquor business when, through a company formed for the purpose, he bid in the hotel to satisfy RFC loan.
